Big 4 Meeting Up To Russia

House Defeats Bill Granting Statehood To Alaska, Hawaii

Votes To Send Measure Back To Committee

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The House tonight again jolted the statehood hopes of Hawaii and Asaska.

A 218-170 vote sent back to committee a bill to admit both territories as states.

There was still a possibility the Insular Affairs Committee would act on separate measures for each territory, but Chairman Engle (D-Calif) said the magnitude of the negative vote "raises a serious question" whether such moves would be successful.

Engle told newsmen supporters of the combined measure received no help from the House Democratic leadership and met active hostility from Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts and Asst. Leader Halleck of Indiana.

Party Lines Broken

That active opposition plus "passive opposition" from Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) probably "will apply with equal force against separate bills," Engle said.

On the rollcall, 105 Democrats and 113 Republicans voted in effect to kill the combined bill, while votingfor it were 107 Democrats and 63 Republicansm

Democrats had sponsored he measure linking the territories together after President Eisenhower urged statehood for Hawaii but said the time hadn't yet arrived to admit Alaska.

As a rule, Alaska votes Democratic and Hawaii goes Republican.

Senate Action Awaited

Engle would not predict what action will be taken on legislation pending in the Senate. Chairman Jackson (D-Wash) of the Senate Territories subcommittee said last month a good deal depended upon House action.

Last year the Senate passed a bill to make Hawaii and Alaska the 49th and 50th states, but the joint measure died in the House Rules Committee. The House had approved Hawaii alone, as it had on two prior occasions. In 1950 the House also approved a separate Alaska measure.

Two Women And Two Moods

Russia And West Still Deadlocked On Austrian Pact

VIENNA, Austria, May 10 (AP)—Russia and the Big Three Western powers were deadlocked again today on a treaty of independence for Austria.

Russian delegates to the five-power conference refused once more to change the position they had taken yesterday on the treaty's most important article, informed sources said.

Concerns Ex-Nazi Assets

The article deals with the future of former Nazi assets held by the Soviets in Austria.

Western sources said the ambassadors' conference cleared up some minor points in the treaty but could not reach agreement on disputed Article 35.

Conference Nears Windup

Austrian quarters said they still hoped agreement may be reached. The ambassadors' conference, it was reported, will definitely end tomorrow and it will be up to the Western foreign ministers to decide whether to come to Vienna if there is still no agreement then.

Observers noted that two of the top Russian negotiators, Sergei M. Koudriavzev and A. M. Timochtchenko, were missing from today's meeting. There was speculation they may have flown to Warsaw to get new instructions from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

SAPPORO, Japan, Wednesday, May 11 (AP)—A report by a panel of Japanese scientists yesterday indicated Russia set off a hydrogen bomb in Siberia last month.

35 Dead, 16 Missing As Jap Ferry Sinks

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 11 (AP)—A railroad ferry carrying 735 passengers and 60 crewmen hit a freighter in early morning fog today and sank 25 minutes later in Japan's inland sea.

The Japan National Railways said 687 had been saved, 35 were known dead, 57 were injured and 16 were missing.

More than 300 of the passengers were touring school children.

Rescue craft swarmed out from Uno port, 400 miles west of Tokyo, within minutes after the 1,500-ton ferry Shiun Maru collided at 7 a. m. with the 1,200-ton freighter Udaka Maru.

Small craft poked through the fog. Their crews pulled terrified survivors out of the chill waters.

The ferry was en route from Uno on Honshu Island to Takamatsu, 11 miles south of Shikoku Island.

The Shiun Maru transports train passengers between the two islands.

It was not known immediately whether any Americans or other foreigners were aboard. But the Shiun Maru as a regular rail ferry possibly was carrying tourists and military personnel.

The accident recalled Japan's greatest maritime disaster last Sept. 25 when the huge ocean-going ferry Toya Maru capsized in a typhoon in Hokkaido harbor. Nearly 1,200 persons, including 60 Americans, drowned.

Four hundred others lost their lives in ship sinkings during the same storm.

The inland sea is an island-studded sound similar to Puget Sound off Washington state. Hilly, forest-shrouded islands cut the sea into torturous, winding channels requiring skillful pilots.

The ferries link rail and road passengers on Shikoku, smallest of Japan's four main islands, with the other islands.

Hensel Says Aid Cheap Insurance

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—A high administration official today pictured spending for foreign military assistance as a "cheap insurance premium" for national security.

Such expenditures "are obviously cheaper than war," Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Hensel was one of a number of administration figures who have testified in support of President Eisenhower's foreign aid program totaling 3½ billion dollars for the year beginning July 1. He concentrated on provisions for military assistance.

The President has recommended $1,700,000,000 in direct help with planes, tanks, guns and other equipment. That aspect of the program will be supervised by the Defense Department.

Man In Rush Dumps Painters, Killing One

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—A man rushing to catch a subway train snagged the end of a scaffold today, dumping two painters 20 feet.

One painter, Walter Chaney, 54, died later of a fractured skull.

The other, Kostos Gadulus, 40, was in critical condition, also with his skull fractured.

The man in a rush, Fred Schlosser, was questioned by police and released.

Wheat Crop May Fall Under Market Needs

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—An Agriculture Department crop report indicated today the United States may produce less wheat this year than its markets will need until the 1956 crop is harvested.

But there is no cause for concern. Piled up in government bins and in commercial warehouses is a surplus supply from past big crops sufficient to meet demand for more than a full year.

This year's wheat crop was forecast at about 829 million bushels compared with 970 million last year.

Adlai To Head Home

ACCRA, Gold Coast, May 10 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson plans to wind up his African tour and leave for the United States tomorrow.

The U. S. Democratic party leader, in Africa on a private business trip, called on Gold Coast Premier Kwame Nkrumah and other government ministers yesterday. He had visited previously in East and West Africa, the Central African Federation and the Union of South Africa.

Wedding Of Joan Crawford, Pepsi-Cola Head Surprise

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 10 (AP)—Joan Crawford, the movies' most durable star, today took a business tycoon for her fourth husband in an elopement that surprised almost everyone.

The 47-year-old actress, whose 30 years in films have made her the unofficial "queen" of Hollywood, eloped with Alfred N. Steele, 54, president of the Pepsi-Cola Co. She is his third wife.

"He's the greatest man who ever lived," Miss Crawford said sleepily as a reporter's phone call awakened her in the Flamingo Hotel's bridal suite. She added:

"You know, he has to be good to get me up in an airplane."

Her trip here was the first time she had flown.

Was the wedding a surprise?

"It was a surprise to everyone but me and Al."

The decision to fly came quickly.

"We were just sitting around feeling so happy and talking about how happy we were," she said. "Suddenly, Al said 'let's fly to Vegas tonight and get married.' I said: 'All right. Let's go' It was as simple as that."

She will spend a few days in Hollywood finishing up her picture and her husband will return tomorrow to New York City. She probably will join him there about Friday. They leave for Europe shortly afterwards for a six-week honeymoon. She already has rented a villa on the Isle of Capri.

She disclosed she had indicated to her four adopted children on Sunday she might soon come home with a new papa.

"They were all very happy about it. I'm dying to get back to them."

Diem Names New Viet Nam Cabinet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, May 10 (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem grabbed the political initiative today in troubled South Viet Nam, naming a new government to set up the first general elections. Plans for land reform will get special attention.

The new 14-man Cabinet is the third government 54-year-old Diem has headed in 10 months. It is made up of men who have fought French colonialism for years. At the same time, it contains fewer pro-American elements than the previous Cabinet, although the United States has steadily backed Diem in his fight with dissident factions. The ministers held a brief inaugural session tonight.

In announcing the new Cabinet, Diem did not touch on the political future of Bao Dai, absentee chief of state whose ouster is being demanded by the Premier's supporters. The government might even leave Bao Dai his titular role for the present, provided he yields full civil and military powers to Diem and promises to turn his authority over to a National Assembly to be elected within six months.

USSR Urges Major Powers Quit Germany

Proposal Coupled With New Demand For Ban On A-Arms

MOSCOW, Wednesday, May 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union made public today a proposal calling for immediate withdrawal of the bulk of foreign forces from both East and West Germany.

The proposal called on the U.N. General Assembly to declare "a weakening of international tension can be achieved by immediate evacuation of troops of the four big powers from German territory, leaving limited contingents and police forces."

The proposal was coupled with a repeat of previous Soviet demands for prohibition of atomic weapons as part of an overall peace plan.

Two Declarations

The Soviet news agency Tass, which circulated the plan, said it had been submitted in the form of two declarations to the U.N. subcommittee on disarmament now holding closed sessions in London.

The Soviet declarations said each of the four big powers should be permitted to keep "strictly limited contingents" of troops in Germany temporarily, "pending conclusion of agreement on their full withdrawal."

The declarations said "strictly limited contingents" of local police forces should be established in both Eastern and Western Germany under joint control of the four big powers.

New Suggestions Apparent

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said the Soviet proposals seemed to contain some new suggestions and will require careful examination. He said, however, some of the proposals, such as withdrawal of troops from Germany, fall outside the scope of the disarmament committee.

Tass said the Soviet declarations were handed to the subcommittee yesterday.

The first proposal said its aim was to weaken international tension. It contained eight points, including such Soviet themes as prohibition of foreign military bases by one state on the territory of another and prohibition of any form of war propaganda.

The second declaration, which Tass said was submitted for action by the U.N. General Assembly, was a formal statement of the Soviet position in the disarmament talks which already had been released by Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik.

GOP May Back Tax Cut In 1956

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Undersecretary of Commerce Walter Williams today quoted Secretary of Treasury Humphrey as saying the administration hopes to send a balanced budget to Congress next January and also recommend tax cuts.

Humphrey made the statement at the spring meeting of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council in Hot Springs, Va. Newsmen were barred from the Hot Springs sessions, but an unofficial report leaked from the meeting Saturday.

Williams put Humphrey's statement on the record in a speech to 900 members of the National Industrial Advertising Assn. here. Calling attention to the gains in personal income and business profits resulting from the upsurge of business activity this spring, the commerce official said:

"The secretary of the Treasury indicated to the BAC that if the economy continued in the direction it is now going, it looked as if fiscal 1957 budget might be in balance, with an accompanying reduction in taxes."

Count Of Polio Victims Given Shots Now 52

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The Public Health Service today raised to 52 its count of polio victims stricken after being vaccinated. That is one more than yesterday's figure.

The new tabulation included the first confirmed case—in Pennsylvania—of a person inoculated with vaccine made by the Wyeth Laboratories, Inc., of Marietta, Pa.

The Health Service said there currently are no other suspect cases among persons given the Wyeth product. A previously suspect case in Montgomery County, Md., has been removed from the suspect list.

U.S. Jets Down Two China Red MIGs Off Korea

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 11 (AP)—U.S. Sabre Jets and Chinese Red MIGs battled off North Korea yesterday with both sides claiming victory. Peiping radio charged the United States with "a grave military provocation."

A U.S. Air Force announcement said eight Sabres were attacked by from 12 to 16 MIGs over international waters, two MIGs were shot down and one probably was shot down. It said all Sabres returned safely.

"Intrusion" Charged

A Peiping radio broadcast said the Sabres intruded over some Manchurian islands off the coast and Red Chinese fighters shot down one Sabre and hit two others. It asserted the Sabres "then fled in the direction of South Korea." It mentioned no MIG losses.

"The U.S. authorities will have to bear full responsibility for all the grave consequences arising therefrom," said Peiping.

The Air Force gave no hint as to the nationality of the attackers. Peiping made it clear the MIGs were from "the air force of the Chinese People's Liberation Army."

Third Clash In 16 Months

The Air Force and Peiping versions agreed pretty well on where the clash took place. The Air Force said it was 50 miles southwest of the Korean border city of Sinuiju.

Peiping said it occurred about three miles west of the island of Talu. Talu is 40 miles southwest of the big Manchurian air base of Antung, which is just across the Yalu River from Sinjiju. The Red planes probably came from Antung.

It was the third attack in 16 months on U.S. planes in the skies off the west coast of North Korea. The Air Force announcement said the Sabres were on a regular patrol.

No More "Corn State"

DES MOINES, May 10 (AP)—The slogan, "The Corn State," will not appear on Iowa automobile license plates next year.

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Hobby and Surgeon Gen. Leonard Scheele have declined to testify tomorrow before a House committee investigating the handling of the Salk polio vaccine.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky) reported tonight both Mrs. Hobby and Scheele insisted they "simply could not come now." He added they advised him they would have more information at a later date.

Spence heads the House Banking Committee which is conducting the inquiry. He said he was not criticising their action because he knows "they are in a difficult position."

Scheele, whose Public Health Service is part of Mrs. Hobby's Department of Health, Education and Welfare, urged over the weekend that polio vaccinations be halted while the government doublechecked methods of producing the vaccine.

Had Urged Continuance

Previously the surgeon general had advised that the inoculation program continue even though a small number of children—52 out of several million, at the latest count—had come down with polio after receiving their shots.

Spence said he told Mrs. Hobby and Scheele their testimony was needed so the committee could assess the value of several pending bills for federal control over vaccine distribution and prices. They were not subpoenaed to appear, merely invited to come.

A reliable congressional source said late today he had been advised that Health Service officials were awaiting word from a meeting of scientists in Detroit tomorrow. This source said the scientists apparently were ready to report on results of their recheck of vaccine production at the Parke-Davis Laboratories.

New Information Uncovered

A health Service announcement issued at about the same time, however, said the reappraisal of Parke-Davis production methods would not start until tomorrow. It stated Dr. William G. Workman, chief of the U. S. Laboratory of Biologic Control, will head the inspection team due in Detroit tomorrow.

The welfare secretary said today "a great deal of new information" about the vaccine has been uncovered by scientists, and that it is only prudent to pass it along to manufacturers in the interest of additional safety.

She implied that federal officials would begin distributing the information to vaccine makers in the series of plant inspection starting at Detroit tomorrow.

Milkmen To Wear Bermuda Shorts

DALLAS, Tex., May 10 (AP)—Shorts will be the uniform of the day for milkmen of a Dallas dairy beginning tomorrow and until mid-September.

The shorts are the black Bermuda type with an elasticized maroon belt. They're matched with a short sleeve khaki shirt, cotton ribbed khaki socks, low black shoes and a black cotton golfers' cap.

Retail Sales Increase

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The Commerce Department today estimated that retail sales rose about 1 per cent during April to a total of approximately 15½ billion dollars. This was 7 per cent higher than in April a year earlier.

Western Bid For Session Sent Soviets

Two-Stage Attack On Major Issues Proposed In Note

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower joined with the leaders of Britain and France today to invite Soviet Premier Bulganin to a top level Big Four meeting aimed at removing "sources of conflict" between the Western powers and Russia.

The three Western nations delivered to the Foreign Ministry in Moscow a note proposing a two stage approach to solutions of the great East-West problems. At the same time it had the effect of warning peoples all over the world against expecting too much from the long talked of meeting "at the summit."

"We recognize that the solution of these problems will take time and patience," the Western powers told Russia, in forthright language. "They will not be solved at a single meeting nor in a hasty manner."

Time, Place To Be Set

The session would bring together Eisenhower, Bulganin, British Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Premier Edward Faure. The exact time and place would be determined by the foreign ministers.

The note was released simultaneously in Washington, London, and Paris. It was obviously written in the knowledge that it would be made public and that what it said would have a great impact on world peace hopes which have long focused upon top level four power talks.

The two stages proposed to Moscow for an attack on "the great problems which confront us" were these:

First, an early meeting of the heads of government to be preceded by a brief session of the four power foreign ministers. The government chiefs would try to formulate "the issues to be worked on" and the methods to be followed in working on them.

Issues Not Mentioned

The time and place of the top level sessions are yet to be determined. The foreign ministers would meet at the same place and their session would merge into the meeting of their chiefs.

Second, detailed work on the problems along lines laid out by the head men—this work to be carried on "by such methods, organs and participants as it appears will be most fruitful according to the nature of the issues."

The note did not specify what issues the Western leaders want to take up with the Soviets.

Before the note was made public, President Eisenhower had already indicated that a top level Big Four conference was virtually certain some time this summer, if Premier Bulganin is ready for it.

Eisenhower told a Republican women's meeting here that he "would do anything — meet with anyone, anywhere" in the interest of world peace.

USW To Decide On Pay Demand

PITTSBURGH, May 10 (AP)—Policy makers of the big CIO United Steelworkers meet tomorrow to decide how much of a wage increase they want the booming steel industry to give 600,000 employes in basic steel making plants.

The 170 members of the Wage Policy Committee meet here at 2 p.m. That session will be preceded by a meeting of the 39-member Executive Board — made up of directors and international officers.

One thing is sure, the policy makers will keep in mind that the steel industry is producing at a record rate and has been operating near capacity since the first of the year.

Last week the industry turned out more steel than in any previous week in history. First quarter earnings for nearly all of the basic steel producing firms carried a rosy glow.

Union President David J. McDonald sent notices to 96 basic steel and iron ore mining companies last month saying the union wants a wage hike.

Now the powerful policy committee—which makes all final decisions on contract issues—will decide just how much of a pay boost the union will ask.

Atom Blast Set Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 10 (AP)—The 14th and final atomic blast of the 1955 series was scheduled today for 5:05 a. m. tomorrow, weather permitting.

Eisenhower Calls On GOP Women To Help 'Sell' Party

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower today called upon GOP women leaders for "real evangelical work" in making the Republican party the majority party and keeping it that way.

The President also urged the Republican women to sell the people of the United States on the idea that the administration is working toward the goal of wider opportunity at home and an enduring world peace.

Eisenhower expressed his views in an informal talk to a national conference of GOP women leaders.

After setting forth main objectives of his administration as greater prosperity at home and peace abroad, Eisenhower said he stands ready "to do anything, to meet with anyone, any where, as long as we may do so in self-respect . . . and there is any slightest idea or chance of furthering this great cause of peace."

He did not specifically mention developing plans for a Big Four conference but his remarks were a clear allusion to those plans.

Turning then to the political situation, Eisenhower said:

"I read in the paper that the Republicans are a minority party. Now I will venture one thing, that the people who believe as we do, who will follow along in the paths marked out by the two great objectives (prosperity and peace) are the vast majority of the American people.

"This means, my friends, that real evangelical work in the business of educating, of informing, will make the Republican party the majority party and keep it that way."

Was the wedding a surprise?

"It was a surprise to everyone but me and Al."

The decision to fly came quickly.

"We were just sitting around feeling so happy and talking about how happy we were," she said. "Suddenly, Al said 'let's fly to Vegas tonight and get married.' I said: 'All right. Let's go' It was as simple as that."

She will spend a few days in Hollywood finishing up her picture and her husband will return tomorrow to New York City. She probably will join him there about Friday. They leave for Europe shortly afterwards for a six-week honeymoon. She already has rented a villa on the Isle of Capri.

She disclosed she had indicated to her four adopted children on Sunday she might soon come home with a new papa.

"They were all very happy about it. I'm dying to get back to them."

Proposal Coupled With New Demand For Ban On A-Arms

MOSCOW, Wednesday, May 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union made public today a proposal calling for immediate withdrawal of the bulk of foreign forces from both East and West Germany.

The proposal called on the U.N. General Assembly to declare "a weakening of international tension can be achieved by immediate evacuation of troops of the four big powers from German territory, leaving limited contingents and police forces."

The proposal was coupled with a repeat of previous Soviet demands for prohibition of atomic weapons as part of an overall peace plan.

Two Declarations

The Soviet news agency Tass, which circulated the plan, said it had been submitted in the form of two declarations to the U.N. subcommittee on disarmament now holding closed sessions in London.

The Soviet declarations said each of the four big powers should be permitted to keep "strictly limited contingents" of troops in Germany temporarily, "pending conclusion of agreement on their full withdrawal."

The declarations said "strictly limited contingents" of local police forces should be established in both Eastern and Western Germany under joint control of the four big powers.

New Suggestions Apparent

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said the Soviet proposals seemed to contain some new suggestions and will require careful examination. He said, however, some of the proposals, such as withdrawal of troops from Germany, fall outside the scope of the disarmament committee.

Tass said the Soviet declarations were handed to the subcommittee yesterday.

The first proposal said its aim was to weaken international tension. It contained eight points, including such Soviet themes as prohibition of foreign military bases by one state on the territory of another and prohibition of any form of war propaganda.

The second declaration, which Tass said was submitted for action by the U.N. General Assembly, was a formal statement of the Soviet position in the disarmament talks which already had been released by Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik.

GOP May Back Tax Cut In 1956

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Undersecretary of Commerce Walter Williams today quoted Secretary of Treasury Humphrey as saying the administration hopes to send a balanced budget to Congress next January and also recommend tax cuts.

Humphrey made the statement at the spring meeting of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council in Hot Springs, Va. Newsmen were barred from the Hot Springs sessions, but an unofficial report leaked from the meeting Saturday.

Williams put Humphrey's statement on the record in a speech to 900 members of the National Industrial Advertising Assn. here. Calling attention to the gains in personal income and business profits resulting from the upsurge of business activity this spring, the commerce official said:

"The secretary of the Treasury indicated to the BAC that if the economy continued in the direction it is now going, it looked as if fiscal 1957 budget might be in balance, with an accompanying reduction in taxes."

Count Of Polio Victims Given Shots Now 52

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The Public Health Service today raised to 52 its count of polio victims stricken after being vaccinated. That is one more than yesterday's figure.

The new tabulation included the first confirmed case—in Pennsylvania—of a person inoculated with vaccine made by the Wyeth Laboratories, Inc., of Marietta, Pa.

The Health Service said there currently are no other suspect cases among persons given the Wyeth product. A previously suspect case in Montgomery County, Md., has been removed from the suspect list.

Mrs. Hobby, Scheele Decline Invitations To Vaccine Inquiry

Welfare Secretary Says New Information About Serum Found

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Hobby and Surgeon Gen. Leonard Scheele have declined to testify tomorrow before a House committee investigating the handling of the Salk polio vaccine.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky) reported tonight both Mrs. Hobby and Scheele insisted they "simply could not come now." He added they advised him they would have more information at a later date.

Spence heads the House Banking Committee which is conducting the inquiry. He said he was not criticising their action because he knows "they are in a difficult position."

Scheele, whose Public Health Service is part of Mrs. Hobby's Department of Health, Education and Welfare, urged over the weekend that polio vaccinations be halted while the government doublechecked methods of producing the vaccine.

Had Urged Continuance

Previously the surgeon general had advised that the inoculation program continue even though a small number of children—52 out of several million, at the latest count—had come down with polio after receiving their shots.

Spence said he told Mrs. Hobby and Scheele their testimony was needed so the committee could assess the value of several pending bills for federal control over vaccine distribution and prices. They were not subpoenaed to appear, merely invited to come.

A reliable congressional source said late today he had been advised that Health Service officials were awaiting word from a meeting of scientists in Detroit tomorrow. This source said the scientists apparently were ready to report on results of their recheck of vaccine production at the Parke-Davis Laboratories.

New Information Uncovered

A health Service announcement issued at about the same time, however, said the reappraisal of Parke-Davis production methods would not start until tomorrow. It stated Dr. William G. Workman, chief of the U. S. Laboratory of Biologic Control, will head the inspection team due in Detroit tomorrow.

The welfare secretary said today "a great deal of new information" about the vaccine has been uncovered by scientists, and that it is only prudent to pass it along to manufacturers in the interest of additional safety.

She implied that federal officials would begin distributing the information to vaccine makers in the series of plant inspection starting at Detroit tomorrow.

U.S. Jets Down Two China Red MIGs Off Korea

TOKYO, Wednesday, May 11 (AP)—U.S. Sabre Jets and Chinese Red MIGs battled off North Korea yesterday with both sides claiming victory. Peiping radio charged the United States with "a grave military provocation."

A U.S. Air Force announcement said eight Sabres were attacked by from 12 to 16 MIGs over international waters, two MIGs were shot down and one probably was shot down. It said all Sabres returned safely.

"Intrusion" Charged

A Peiping radio broadcast said the Sabres intruded over some Manchurian islands off the coast and Red Chinese fighters shot down one Sabre and hit two others. It asserted the Sabres "then fled in the direction of South Korea." It mentioned no MIG losses.

"The U.S. authorities will have to bear full responsibility for all the grave consequences arising therefrom," said Peiping.

The Air Force gave no hint as to the nationality of the attackers. Peiping made it clear the MIGs were from "the air force of the Chinese People's Liberation Army."

Third Clash In 16 Months

The Air Force and Peiping versions agreed pretty well on where the clash took place. The Air Force said it was 50 miles southwest of the Korean border city of Sinuiju.

Peiping said it occurred about three miles west of the island of Talu. Talu is 40 miles southwest of the big Manchurian air base of Antung, which is just across the Yalu River from Sinjiju. The Red planes probably came from Antung.

It was the third attack in 16 months on U.S. planes in the skies off the west coast of North Korea. The Air Force announcement said the Sabres were on a regular patrol.

DES MOINES, May 10 (AP)—The slogan, "The Corn State," will not appear on Iowa automobile license plates next year.

Milkmen To Wear Bermuda Shorts

DALLAS, Tex., May 10 (AP)—Shorts will be the uniform of the day for milkmen of a Dallas dairy beginning tomorrow and until mid-September.

The shorts are the black Bermuda type with an elasticized maroon belt. They're matched with a short sleeve khaki shirt, cotton ribbed khaki socks, low black shoes and a black cotton golfers' cap.

Retail Sales Increase

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The Commerce Department today estimated that retail sales rose about 1 per cent during April to a total of approximately 15½ billion dollars. This was 7 per cent higher than in April a year earlier.

Eisenhower Calls On GOP Women To Help 'Sell' Party

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower today called upon GOP women leaders for "real evangelical work" in making the Republican party the majority party and keeping it that way.

The President also urged the Republican women to sell the people of the United States on the idea that the administration is working toward the goal of wider opportunity at home and an enduring world peace.

Eisenhower expressed his views in an informal talk to a national conference of GOP women leaders.

After setting forth main objectives of his administration as greater prosperity at home and peace abroad, Eisenhower said he stands ready "to do anything, to meet with anyone, any where, as long as we may do so in self-respect . . . and there is any slightest idea or chance of furthering this great cause of peace."

He did not specifically mention developing plans for a Big Four conference but his remarks were a clear allusion to those plans.

Turning then to the political situation, Eisenhower said:

"I read in the paper that the Republicans are a minority party. Now I will venture one thing, that the people who believe as we do, who will follow along in the paths marked out by the two great objectives (prosperity and peace) are the vast majority of the American people.

"This means, my friends, that real evangelical work in the business of educating, of informing, will make the Republican party the majority party and keep it that way."

Western Bid For Session Sent Soviets

Two-Stage Attack On Major Issues Proposed In Note

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower joined with the leaders of Britain and France today to invite Soviet Premier Bulganin to a top level Big Four meeting aimed at removing "sources of conflict" between the Western powers and Russia.

The three Western nations delivered to the Foreign Ministry in Moscow a note proposing a two stage approach to solutions of the great East-West problems. At the same time it had the effect of warning peoples all over the world against expecting too much from the long talked of meeting "at the summit."

"We recognize that the solution of these problems will take time and patience," the Western powers told Russia, in forthright language. "They will not be solved at a single meeting nor in a hasty manner."

Time, Place To Be Set

The session would bring together Eisenhower, Bulganin, British Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Premier Edward Faure. The exact time and place would be determined by the foreign ministers.

The note was released simultaneously in Washington, London, and Paris. It was obviously written in the knowledge that it would be made public and that what it said would have a great impact on world peace hopes which have long focused upon top level four power talks.

The two stages proposed to Moscow for an attack on "the great problems which confront us" were these:

First, an early meeting of the heads of government to be preceded by a brief session of the four power foreign ministers. The government chiefs would try to formulate "the issues to be worked on" and the methods to be followed in working on them.

Issues Not Mentioned

The time and place of the top level sessions are yet to be determined. The foreign ministers would meet at the same place and their session would merge into the meeting of their chiefs.

Second, detailed work on the problems along lines laid out by the head men—this work to be carried on "by such methods, organs and participants as it appears will be most fruitful according to the nature of the issues."

The note did not specify what issues the Western leaders want to take up with the Soviets.

Before the note was made public, President Eisenhower had already indicated that a top level Big Four conference was virtually certain some time this summer, if Premier Bulganin is ready for it.

Eisenhower told a Republican women's meeting here that he "would do anything — meet with anyone, anywhere" in the interest of world peace.

USW To Decide On Pay Demand

PITTSBURGH, May 10 (AP)—Policy makers of the big CIO United Steelworkers meet tomorrow to decide how much of a wage increase they want the booming steel industry to give 600,000 employes in basic steel making plants.

The 170 members of the Wage Policy Committee meet here at 2 p.m. That session will be preceded by a meeting of the 39-member Executive Board — made up of directors and international officers.

One thing is sure, the policy makers will keep in mind that the steel industry is producing at a record rate and has been operating near capacity since the first of the year.

Last week the industry turned out more steel than in any previous week in history. First quarter earnings for nearly all of the basic steel producing firms carried a rosy glow.

Union President David J. McDonald sent notices to 96 basic steel and iron ore mining companies last month saying the union wants a wage hike.

Now the powerful policy committee—which makes all final decisions on contract issues—will decide just how much of a pay boost the union will ask.

Soviet Premier Says New Steps Required To Bolster Security

LONDON, May 10 (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin sounded in Warsaw today the keynote for a conference of eight Communist nations to establish a unified NATO-type military alliance under a Russian commander.

"The situation in certain areas of the world has still been causing anxiety of late," Bulganin told welcomers at the Warsaw airport.

"The peace-loving states of Europe cannot be indifferent to such a state of affairs. In the situation that has developed, the united efforts of our states are required and . . . new measures for the strengthening of their security."

Moscow radio broadcasts made it clear the conference opening in Poland's capital tomorrow is the Eastern bloc's reply to the rearming of West Germany and her admission Monday as NATO's 15th member.

The conference, to be held in the Radziwill Palace, is expected to bring the armies of Russia and its seven European satellites into a joint command under Soviet Marshal Ivan Konev.

The Moscow radio predicted the eight countries will "evolve measures which will enable them to meet any emergency and provocation and to forestall the possibility of sudden aggression from any quarter."

"The coming into force of the Paris agreements seriously complicates and worsens conditions in Europe," the broadcast said, adding:

"Peace-loving countries cannot fail to take into account the serious danger created by the revival of a revanchist West German army."

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal G. K. Zhukov, who has been in Berlin attending May Day and V-E day celebrations, took off for Warsaw this afternoon.

Konev, now deputy defense minister, was among the delegates, as was one of Molotov's deputies, Valerian Zorin.

Western observers regard the move for a joint command—threatened at the Communists' security conference in Moscow last fall if the Paris treaties were ratified—as a step to provide the legal basis for retaining Soviet troops in Hungary and Romania after the end of the four-power occupation of Austria.

Search For Missing Girl Ends At Farm

JACOBSVILLE, Md., May 10 (AP) —A Lake Shores girl was back at home today after being the object of a 6-hour search last night that ended at a farmhouse near here.

Six-year-old Marjie Carter emerged from the farmhouse shortly after midnight, scratched and dazed, after her mother called to her from a loudspeaker mounted on a police car.

She had been reported missing about 6 p.m. by playmates who said they lost her in a wooded area near her home.

The occupants of the farmhouse where she was found were out for the evening and returned about the time the girl was found. She was taken to South Baltimore General Hospital for a checkup but returned home with her parents—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carter.

Dr. Salk Presented Highest Pa. Award

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 10 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader today presented Pennsylvania's highest award, with "humble thanks," to Dr. Jonas E. Salk, the University of Pittsburgh scientist who developed the anti-polio vaccine bearing his name.

The 40-year-old physician and research worker accepted the Pennsylvania meritorious medal at a special joint session of the House and Senate called to honor his achievement.

A spokesman for the governor said plans to set up a chair of preventative medicine at the University of Pittsburgh "depends entirely upon Dr. Salk."

Dickenson Asks Court To Throw Out Conviction

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The U.S. Court of Military Appeals was urged today to throw out the conviction of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, first American soldier ever adjudged guilty of holding "unlawful communication" with the enemy while a prisoner of war.

Counsel for the 24-year-old Cracker's Neck, Va. soldier argued that the evidence under which Dickenson was convicted by a courtmartial last year was insufficient to prove guilt and that no criminal action was proved.

The government has 30 days in which to answer the brief filed by Dickenson's civilian lawyer, Guy Emery, a retired Army officer. A hearing date then will be fixed for oral argument before the serviceman's supreme court.

Dickenson was granted an appeal on six charges of prejudicial error in the handling of the courtmartial, which was held last April and May. The soldier was convicted of holding unlawful communication with the enemy and of informing on fellow prisoners. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

One of 23 POWs held by the Chinese Communists in Korea to refuse repatriation at the end of the war, Dickenson later changed his mind and came home. The criminal charges against him were followed by similar court-martial proceedings against half a dozen other former POWs.

Negro On School Board

ANNAPOLIS, May 10 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today appointed Dr. Aris T. Allen of Annapolis as the first Negro member of the Anne Arundel County Board of Education.

Also appointed to the board was Mrs. D. Ellwood Williams Jr. of nearby Winchester.

Pentagon Rules Out Promotion For MacArthur

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—A Pentagon turndown apparently has ended any immediate chance that Congress will consider promoting Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the rank of general of the armies.

Five bills and resolutions have been introduced to give MacArthur that title, heretofore conferred only upon the late Gen. John J. Pershing.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga) said the Department of Defense had written him that singling out MacArthur for the honor would be "misleading" and cause both "misunderstanding and controversies."

Vinson, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said in an interview that in view of this Pentagon stand, "the committee has no intention to taking up the question at present."

The committee has jurisdiction over the bills calling for MacArthur's promotion to the rank created for Pershing after he commanded allied armies in World War I. Sponsors of the legislation, including House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts, had suggested the rank be made effective last Jan. 26, MacArthur's 75th birthday.

Queen Given Smallest British-Made Watch

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II today was given the smallest watch ever made in Britain. It measures ½ by ¾ inches and replaces one she lost last Christmas.

A leading watchmaking firm gave her the first production model of the new watch when she visited the British industries fair.

The queen lost her tiny, Swiss-made wrist watch in the snow-covered grounds of her Sandringham estate. A gift from former French President Albert Lebrun, the watch was one of the smallest in the world, with a face three-sixteenths of an inch wide.

The man who was born into slavery in Virginia and says he remembers the assassination of Lincoln says wood-chopping is a morning ritual. Late in the day he takes a brisk walk up and down Tacoma's hills, finishing with games and footraces with the neighbor children.

Step Toward Cancer Vaccine Described

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—A first step toward a vaccine against cancer was described today to the Society of American Bacteriologists.

Cancer cells, pooled from 56 human patients, were injected repeatedly under the skins of horses. The horses developed antibodies in their blood against the cancer cells.

The antibodies proved able to destroy human cancer cells in testtubes without harming healthy cells, said Dr. Bertil Bjorklund, state Laboratory of Bacteriology, Stockholm, Sweden, and Drs. John and Ruth Graham, husband and wife, from Vincent Memorial Hospital, Boston.

Ike's New Foreign Aid Chief To Measure Worth Of Projects With 'Mutual Security' Yardstick

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower's new foreign aid chief indicated recently that the yardstick of "mutual security" will determine whether or not he will give his support to specific foreign aid projects.

John B. Hollister, 64, of Cincinnati, said in an interview:

"I will be sympathetic to those projects that fit into our program of mutual security. If any project doesn't fit into the program on that basis, I won't be sympathetic."

However, Hollister said he wasn't precisely a free agent in saying what should and what shouldn't be included in Eisenhower's foreign spending program.

"If Congress appropriates money to do a certain job," he said, "then I can't say I will or won't do it. I'm not entirely a free agent in this position.

"I want it understood, too, that I will be working under Secretary of State Dulles. Naturally, I expect to follow his general instructions. I expect to be a part of the team with Dulles."

Hollister was a boyhood friend and former law partner of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. His appointment to the foreign aid post gave rise to speculation in some quarters here that he wouldn't be sympathetic to the foreign aid spending proposed by the President. Eisenhower has asked Congress to approve a new 3½ billion dollar program of which 172 million has been earmarked for technical assistance to underdeveloped regions of the world.

Hollister declined to say just how far he would go in approving specific projects. But he appeared to be firm in viewing "mutual security" as the yardstick by which he would measure the worth of a project.

The question arises: What is mutual security—is it weapons of war, for example, or a power plant in an underdeveloped nation?

Hollister said it would be difficult to draw the line as to where mutual security begins and ends. He added: "At the appropriate time I'll make my views known."

He went on to say:

"I won't say at this time just where I will approve a certain program or disapprove it. I want to do as good a job of it as I can.

"Now, I want it known that I believe there is a need for an aid program in the interest of mutual security. As I understand it, the basic reason for the program is one of mutual security."

Hollister is aware of the talk that he is unfriendly toward foreign aid spending. But he indicated there is a wide area in which he is sympathetic to such spending although he didn't say where his disapproval might begin.

Hollister takes over the foreign aid job from Harold Stassen who was named by the President to Cabinet rank with the duty of exploring ways of achieving peace and disarmament in the world. Since 1953 Hollister has been executive director of the Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization.

Hollister recalled he and Taft had grown up together in Cincinnati where their parents were intimate friends. They attended Yale and Harvard and in 1923 opened a law firm in Cincinnati—the firm of Taft, Stettinius & Hollister. Hollister still is senior member of the firm.

In 1931, Hollister was elected to the House of Representatives on a Republican ticket. Taft then was in the Ohio State Legislature. Through the years, they continued to share a close mutual interest in the fortunes of the Republican party. Hollister served in the House six years and from 1940 to 1952 was a GOP national committeeman. He always was a staunch Taft supporter.

Hollister said merely because he and Taft had been close friends was no reason to presume he would be antagonistic in any way to the Eisenhower administration.

Hollister referred to himself as a "member of the team."

Hollister lives in Washington with his wife, the former Ellen West Rollins whom he married in 1917. They have three children and six grandchildren.

Hollister shares two of Eisenhower's favorite pastimes, golf and bridge.

Tapping Of Md. Emergency Welfare Fund Is Opposed

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—A plan of the State welfare director to tap an emergency welfare fund during the first month of the next fiscal year today ran into what apparently is insurmountable opposition.

Two members of the three-man Board of Public Works derided the proposal, at least for the present.

Welfare Director Thomas J. S. Waxter had said earlier this week he would ask the board for permission to use one-twelfth of the $500,000 fund during July to supplement regular appropriations. The fund was set up by the recent session of the General Assembly.

The budget for the coming year, Waxter said, would allow expenditure of only $486,986 a month, about $8,000 below the department's caseload for March.

J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, and State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles said they would vote against Waxter's proposal if it comes up at the May 17 meeting of the board. Gov. McKeldin is the third member.

Tawes said that while he has no knowledge of the situation other than what he has read in the newspapers, he is "unalterably opposed" to dipping into the contingent fund now.

With the start of the fiscal year still two months away, he said, it would be "contrary to all procedures."

Miles said the Department of Employment Security had noted a significant decline in unemployment during the month of March.

When Waxter first announced his plan, it drew strong opposition from Sen. Turnbull (D-Baltimore County), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Turnbull said the fund was set up to guard against a possible emergency.

He said Waxter's plan was contrary to the intent of the General Assembly.

Youth Sentenced To Reformatory For Vandalism

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Judge Herman M. Moser today refused probation for a 16-year-old boy charged with vandalism and gave the youth a three-year reformatory term for "perfectly outrageous conduct."

In sentencing young Robert Addicks, Judge Moser repeated his stand that he would not tolerate vandalism in schools or public buildings nor would he regard such antics as childish pranks.

School Principal Mildred Fowler said a group including Addicks and three juveniles broke into the school, forced teachers' desks open, damaged a number of musical instruments and broke into a soft drink machine.

The principal said the main damage was caused by mixing paint powder and glue and hurling that compound and ink over walls and floors in the building.

Addicks reportedly had been working at a wage of $30 per week and through counsel sought probation and an opportunity to make good the damage from his own earnings.

Judge Moser noted that J. Albert Schneider, assistant probation officer, recommended against probation and said the boy had been spoiled and needed disciplinary action.

Two other 16-year-old boys appearing in court in a case separate from the one involving Addicks were given reformatory terms today.

Their cases involved burglaries in which small amounts of money had been taken, mostly from vending machines.

Kenneth T. Spencer, son of a retired policeman, was given a one year reformatory term, and William D. Harmon, got a two year suspended sentence with probation.

Death Car Driver Escapes Jail Term

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Judge Joseph R. Byrnes today wiped out a 30-day jail sentence against Thomas L. Moore, sergeant from Aberdeen Proving Ground who drove the car which killed a Baltimore advertising man Feb. 21, 1954.

The sentence had been imposed in Traffic Court by Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr on a charge of failing to render assistance after a fatal accident.

Moore, a Georgia Negro, said he stopped at the first available parking spot after the accident and walked back to identify himself to police who were already at the scene.

Edgar Kasson was killed in the accident, and a young woman who was crossing the street with him was injured. The Traffic Court decision against Moore was upset in Criminal Court.

Baltimore Forced To Tap Its Reserve Supply Of Water

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Engineers were forced by continuing dry weather to tap the reserve water supply at Prettyboy Dam today.

Engineers had been hopefully hoarding the Prettyboy supply against a possible dry summer. The Weather Bureau said the rainfall this month has totaled only .03 inches here against a normal 1.20 inches for the period.

City Wwater Engineer Bernard L. Werner said there is almost certain to be water rationing in the Towson and Randallstown area during summer months.

He said improvements on the distribution system in Baltimore County are running behind schedule.

Discrimination Law Under Fire

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Municipal Court was asked today to dismiss racial discrimination charges against a bowling alley on the ground the law involved is unconstitutional.

The law, banning racial discrimination in places of amusement, was passed by the old City Council in 1869-70. Charges were brought against the Lucky Strike Bowling Alleys that Negroes were refused admittance in March and February.

John W. Wood, vice president of the Central Amusement Co. which operates the alleys, pleaded not guilty to charges of failing to admit Negroes because of their race.

In asking for dismissal of the charges, Atty. Charles E. Ford said the laws were unconstitutional and discriminatory because they apply only to parts of the district. His brief said the law was written to include only the old city of Washington and later amended to include Georgetown. This left the boundaries as Rock Creek on the west, Florida avenue on the north and Anacostia River on the east.

Buck deer shed their antlers every year. The antlers seldom are found in the woods because small rodents rapidly eat them for their high mineral content.

State Will Mail Booklets On Tax Withholding Plan

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Maryland's Income Tax Division will mail out booklets next week explaining the State's new withholding plan to employers.

About 50,000 of the booklets are expected to go into the mail by the first of the week. It outlines two methods of withholding the State income tax from workers' pay.

The booklet also stresses that the withholding plan does not constitute a new tax, but is simply a new method of collecting an old levy.

It also contains general information about the necessary exemption certificates for each employe, the dates on which quarterly reports are due and where to send them.

Each booklet will be accompanied by a postcard on which the employer must indicate the number of exemption certificates he needs for his employes.

Inside the back cover is a list of penalties for failure to comply with the new withholding law.

Mayor Says 24 Years In Office Is Enough

OAK HILL, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—For the first time in three decades, the name of Mayor C. R. Hill will not be printed on Oak Hill's municipal ballot this year.

After 24 years in office, the mayor says he's had enough. One of the candidates for Council on the mayor's "administration" party ticket is C. R. Hill Jr.

The seven nominees of the Administration party for council, including the junior Hill, were chosen at a party convention last night.

The opposition Progressive party picked its nominees on May 5. The election is June 7.

The mayor is chosen from the council membership. That body also selects the city manager and other municipal officials.

Baltimorean Elected

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—Royden A. Blunt of Baltimore was elected president today of the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute, Inc. at the organization's 11th annual convention here.

Baltimore Police Track Down Tip In Girl's Murder

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Police today were again tracking down what they hoped was a clue in the Will-O-The-Wisp Carolyn Wasilewski murder case.

The latest tip in the six-months-old case came from Montgomery County Police. One of their detectives said a man in Rockville told of having been to Baltimore three weeks ago and of meeting a girl who knew the slain 14-year-old Carolyn.

The tipster told the Montgomery detective his date claimed to know the identity of a man Carolyn was with the night she was killed.

Carolyn's body, nearly nude, was found the morning of Nov. 9 on the railroad tracks beneath the Belvedere Avenue Bridge near Falls Road.

Since then, Police have questioned scores of persons and tracked down numerous fruitless leads in the search for the killer who beat her to death.

Marylander Chosen Negro Mother Of Year

SALISBURY, May 10 (AP)—Mrs. Louis Martin, who saw all 12 of her children go to college, has been chosen Negro mother of the year by the Afro-American, Baltimore Negro newspaper.

The wife of a retired Eastern Shore county agent, Mrs. Martin formerly taught schools in Caroline County and is a graduate of Hampton Institute.

She will be honored Friday night at a banquet in Baltimore. The newspaper makes the award annually to an outstanding mother in its circulation area.

Tapping Of Md. Emergency Welfare Fund Is Opposed

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—A plan of the State welfare director to tap an emergency welfare fund during the first month of the next fiscal year today ran into what apparently is insurmountable opposition.

Two members of the three-man Board of Public Works derided the proposal, at least for the present.

Welfare Director Thomas J. S. Waxter had said earlier this week he would ask the board for permission to use one-twelfth of the $500,000 fund during July to supplement regular appropriations. The fund was set up by the recent session of the General Assembly.

The budget for the coming year, Waxter said, would allow expenditure of only $486,986 a month, about $8,000 below the department's caseload for March.

J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, and State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles said they would vote against Waxter's proposal if it comes up at the May 17 meeting of the board. Gov. McKeldin is the third member.

Tawes said that while he has no knowledge of the situation other than what he has read in the newspapers, he is "unalterably opposed" to dipping into the contingent fund now.

With the start of the fiscal year still two months away, he said, it would be "contrary to all procedures."

Miles said the Department of Employment Security had noted a significant decline in unemployment during the month of March.

When Waxter first announced his plan, it drew strong opposition from Sen. Turnbull (D-Baltimore County), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Turnbull said the fund was set up to guard against a possible emergency.

He said Waxter's plan was contrary to the intent of the General Assembly.

Youth Sentenced To Reformatory For Vandalism

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Judge Herman M. Moser today refused probation for a 16-year-old boy charged with vandalism and gave the youth a three-year reformatory term for "perfectly outrageous conduct."

In sentencing young Robert Addicks, Judge Moser repeated his stand that he would not tolerate vandalism in schools or public buildings nor would he regard such antics as childish pranks.

School Principal Mildred Fowler said a group including Addicks and three juveniles broke into the school, forced teachers' desks open, damaged a number of musical instruments and broke into a soft drink machine.

The principal said the main damage was caused by mixing paint powder and glue and hurling that compound and ink over walls and floors in the building.

Addicks reportedly had been working at a wage of $30 per week and through counsel sought probation and an opportunity to make good the damage from his own earnings.

Judge Moser noted that J. Albert Schneider, assistant probation officer, recommended against probation and said the boy had been spoiled and needed disciplinary action.

Two other 16-year-old boys appearing in court in a case separate from the one involving Addicks were given reformatory terms today.

Their cases involved burglaries in which small amounts of money had been taken, mostly from vending machines.

Kenneth T. Spencer, son of a retired policeman, was given a one year reformatory term, and William D. Harmon, got a two year suspended sentence with probation.

Death Car Driver Escapes Jail Term

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Judge Joseph R. Byrnes today wiped out a 30-day jail sentence against Thomas L. Moore, sergeant from Aberdeen Proving Ground who drove the car which killed a Baltimore advertising man Feb. 21, 1954.

The sentence had been imposed in Traffic Court by Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr on a charge of failing to render assistance after a fatal accident.

Moore, a Georgia Negro, said he stopped at the first available parking spot after the accident and walked back to identify himself to police who were already at the scene.

Edgar Kasson was killed in the accident, and a young woman who was crossing the street with him was injured. The Traffic Court decision against Moore was upset in Criminal Court.

Baltimore Forced To Tap Its Reserve Supply Of Water

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Engineers were forced by continuing dry weather to tap the reserve water supply at Prettyboy Dam today.

Engineers had been hopefully hoarding the Prettyboy supply against a possible dry summer. The Weather Bureau said the rainfall this month has totaled only .03 inches here against a normal 1.20 inches for the period.

City Wwater Engineer Bernard L. Werner said there is almost certain to be water rationing in the Towson and Randallstown area during summer months.

He said improvements on the distribution system in Baltimore County are running behind schedule.

Discrimination Law Under Fire

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Municipal Court was asked today to dismiss racial discrimination charges against a bowling alley on the ground the law involved is unconstitutional.

The law, banning racial discrimination in places of amusement, was passed by the old City Council in 1869-70. Charges were brought against the Lucky Strike Bowling Alleys that Negroes were refused admittance in March and February.

John W. Wood, vice president of the Central Amusement Co. which operates the alleys, pleaded not guilty to charges of failing to admit Negroes because of their race.

In asking for dismissal of the charges, Atty. Charles E. Ford said the laws were unconstitutional and discriminatory because they apply only to parts of the district. His brief said the law was written to include only the old city of Washington and later amended to include Georgetown. This left the boundaries as Rock Creek on the west, Florida avenue on the north and Anacostia River on the east.

Buck deer shed their antlers every year. The antlers seldom are found in the woods because small rodents rapidly eat them for their high mineral content.

State Will Mail Booklets On Tax Withholding Plan

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Maryland's Income Tax Division will mail out booklets next week explaining the State's new withholding plan to employers.

About 50,000 of the booklets are expected to go into the mail by the first of the week. It outlines two methods of withholding the State income tax from workers' pay.

The booklet also stresses that the withholding plan does not constitute a new tax, but is simply a new method of collecting an old levy.

It also contains general information about the necessary exemption certificates for each employe, the dates on which quarterly reports are due and where to send them.

Each booklet will be accompanied by a postcard on which the employer must indicate the number of exemption certificates he needs for his employes.

Inside the back cover is a list of penalties for failure to comply with the new withholding law.

Mayor Says 24 Years In Office Is Enough

OAK HILL, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—For the first time in three decades, the name of Mayor C. R. Hill will not be printed on Oak Hill's municipal ballot this year.

After 24 years in office, the mayor says he's had enough. One of the candidates for Council on the mayor's "administration" party ticket is C. R. Hill Jr.

The seven nominees of the Administration party for council, including the junior Hill, were chosen at a party convention last night.

The opposition Progressive party picked its nominees on May 5. The election is June 7.

The mayor is chosen from the council membership. That body also selects the city manager and other municipal officials.

Baltimorean Elected

Baltimore Police Track Down Tip In Girl's Murder

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—Police today were again tracking down what they hoped was a clue in the Will-O-The-Wisp Carolyn Wasilewski murder case.

The latest tip in the six-months-old case came from Montgomery County Police. One of their detectives said a man in Rockville told of having been to Baltimore three weeks ago and of meeting a girl who knew the slain 14-year-old Carolyn.

The tipster told the Montgomery detective his date claimed to know the identity of a man Carolyn was with the night she was killed.

Carolyn's body, nearly nude, was found the morning of Nov. 9 on the railroad tracks beneath the Belvedere Avenue Bridge near Falls Road.

Since then, Police have questioned scores of persons and tracked down numerous fruitless leads in the search for the killer who beat her to death.

Marylander Chosen Negro Mother Of Year

SALISBURY, May 10 (AP)—Mrs. Louis Martin, who saw all 12 of her children go to college, has been chosen Negro mother of the year by the Afro-American, Baltimore Negro newspaper.

The wife of a retired Eastern Shore county agent, Mrs. Martin formerly taught schools in Caroline County and is a graduate of Hampton Institute.

She will be honored Friday night at a banquet in Baltimore. The newspaper makes the award annually to an outstanding mother in its circulation area.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. Md. Mental Hygiene Society Representative To Speak

Mrs. Gertrude Nielson, executive secretary of the Maryland Mental Hygiene Society Incorporated, will be in Cumberland today to meet with the citizens to acquaint them with the situations in the mental hospitals.

Letters have been sent to various organizations listed with the Chamber of Commerce, to attend this meeting. However, anyone interested is welcome.

The meeting is to be held in the recreation room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, and will convene at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Nielson will be introduced by Mrs. John A. Cupler II.

It is estimated that 44,000 citizens of Maryland will be admitted to mental institutions during the next year.

Ruby Livengood Will Represent Oldtown Here

On behalf of Cresap Chapter, Ross. Shaw has appointed Miss Ruby Livengood to represent Oldtown in the Cumberland Bicentennial celebration in August.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Livengood, Oldtown, Miss Livengood is a student at Frostburg State Teachers College and a member of the Cresap Society.

Following her visit Miss Livengood will report on the celebration at the society meeting.

LaVale Club Appoints Delegates

Mrs. Thomas Williamson and Mrs. Silas Turner were appointed delegates to the RWSC from the LaVale Homemakers Club at the meeting Monday at the fire hall. Announcement was made of the garden party for homemakers and their friends, who are interested in Short Course. It will be held June 1 at the home of Mrs. Harry Barton. Mrs. Turner spoke concerning RWSC urging as many as possible to attend. Registrations are to be made by May 27.

A committee was appointed to plan a program for the fall meeting of the RWSC. It is composed of Mrs. Fred Gates, Mrs. Douglas Smith and Mrs. John Beckman.

Plans for three tours were announced. Mrs. Florence Chandler of the Navy Mothers Club invited the group to make a tour of the Naval Armory. Tentative plans were made to go in September. The club will tour the Crystal Laundry May 24 at 1 o'clock. Members are to meet at the laundry. June 6 members are to meet at 9:30 at the fire hall, where cars will be available to take the group to the Celanese for a tour of the plant. Following the tour the club will have lunch in the cafeteria, after which the monthly business session is to be held. Mrs. Orin Maxwell told of the trip to Hershey, Pa., last month.

Mrs. Ernest Screen presided at the meeting and announced that Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent, asks that members submit suggestions for what they want in the nutrition program next year. October 10 was selected as the date for the club Achievement Day and November 15 was announced as the county date. Following the flag salute and singing of America, Mrs. Claude Rogers read the collect. A routine report was given by Mrs. Williamson. Mrs. Maxwell was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. Vernon Cost, a former member, who has returned to LaVale. It was announced that 21 books were read last month. The meeting closed with Mrs. Winona Stimmler reading a poem, "My Mom."

At the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. Bertha Simpson and her committee, Mrs. Roy George and Mrs. W. C. Barnes, gave a salad demonstration on "What's New in Nutrition," and distributed samples.

Fellowship To Furnish School Room

Cresaptown Young Adult Fellowship gave $150 to the church school to furnish a room in the new education building. A donation of $3 was also given to the church choir to purchase small hymn books. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Willison, Potomac Park, Saturday.

Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis presided. Miss Susan Smith had the devotionals and Mrs. Raymond Crowe led the group singing. It was reported that there is $50.40 in the treasury.

Officers were elected. They are Fred Willison, president; Mrs. Arley Borror, vice president; Mrs. Crowe, secretary; Mrs. Edna Lafferty, assistant; Miss Evelyn May, treasurer; Mrs. Edward Lewis, Worship chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frankenberry, Recreation chairmen; and Miss Smith, Publicity chairman.

A film, "The Sound of the Stone," was shown, after which refreshments were served. The next meeting will be June 11 at the parsonage.

WIFE PRESERVERS

A pair of vanity lamps will light both sides of the face at one time. The shades should be at face height, and white to show the skin in its true color.

Society Sponsors Recipe Book

Plans for the WSCS of Fairview Avenue Church to have recipe books printed as a money making project were outlined by Mrs. E. F. Stewart and members asked to submit their favorite recipes.

Rev. B. F. Hartman officiated at the installation of officers and as each name was called Mrs. Robert Webster played appropriate music and concluded with group singing of "Bless Be the Tie that Binds." Officers installed were Mrs. Stewart, president; Mrs. B. F. Hartman, vice president; Mrs. Webster, secretary; Mrs. James Gordon, treasurer; Mrs. Amelia Miller, secretary of Spiritual Life; Mrs. Richard Welker, Missionary Education; Mrs. Mabel Watkins, promotion; Mrs. Stewart, social relations; Mrs. Fred Rice, literature and publications; Mrs. William Clayton, supply work and Mrs. Charles Bauers, sunshine.

Devotions on "Be Ye Doers of the Word," were conducted by Mrs. Hartman with talks by Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Fred Rice and Mrs. Watkins. Mrs. Russell Ash read the Scripture.

A report on the Asbury Home spring rally was given by Mrs. Charles Bauer. It was decided to send a donation to be used for the purchase of sheets for the new Guild hall. Mrs. Webster reported on the recent zone meeting. Plans also were made for a rummage sale May 12 from 1 until 3. Mrs. Vincent Thompson, Mrs. Bauers, Mrs. William Clayton and Mrs. Miller are in charge. Closing prayer was offered by Rev. Hartman.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Vincent Thompson and Mrs. Bauers. A pink and white color scheme was used and white lilacs centered the table. Corsages of carnations were given each one present. Others present were Mrs. Mrs. Florence Brant a visitor, Mrs. Reese Arve.

If every farm family would conduct a CLEANUP CAMPAIGN at home — inside and out — it would help to eliminate fire and accident hazards, make home a safer place to live, and result in happier and more productive workdays.

Tau Phi Lambda Sorority Entertains At Rush Party

Five rushees were entertained by Tau Phi Lambda sorority at a Rush party held at the home of Mrs. Jane Frederick, Gephart Drive. The honor guests were Mrs. Mary Burkey, Mrs. Hilda VanMeter, Miss Betty Anne Carr, Mrs. Hazel Kemp and Miss Opal Borror.

Entertainment featured a "Lady's Day TV Show," with Miss Joan Nichols chairman in charge and serving as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Kay Dodds, chapter president, introduced the guests. Mrs. Margaret Hartman gave "commercials" on various phases of the sorority, between the acts.

One of the contests consisted of putting a case on a pillow, while wearing boxing gloves; Mrs. Kemp, Mrs. Burkey and Mrs. VanMeter participated, with the latter winning the prize and Mrs. Kemp the runnerup. Another contest was a relay of taking articles from a handbag while wearing huge gloves. The winning team was composed of Mrs. VanMeter, Mrs. Dorothy Mellotte, Mrs. Burkey, Mrs. Dorothy Wiegand, and Mrs. Loretta Keener, from Iota Pi chapter, Keyser, and awarded prizes. The program also included a song by Debbie Dodds and a reading, "Getting Ready for Sorority Meeting," by Miss Dorothy Niner, assisted by Miss Nancy Parker.

Mrs. Fay K. Littman, Grafton, national committeewoman and state manager of the sorority, who organized the local chapter, was named "Queen for the Day," and on behalf of the chapter, Miss Nichols presented her with a corsage. Mrs. Littman spoke briefly to the pledges. A prize was awarded to Miss Carr as the youngest member and to Mrs. VanMeter as the oldest.

A get-acquainted period followed, and refreshments were served with Mrs. Jean Holt assisting Mrs. Frederick. Miss Nichols' committee consisted of Mrs. Hartman, Miss Parker, Miss Niner and Mrs. Frederick. Mrs. Margaret Gallion also attended.

An executive meeting will be held tomorrow at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Dodd, 413 South Cedar Street. The next general meeting is to be May 27 at the home of Miss Parker, Potomac Park, with Miss Niner co-hostess.

Hartman, vice president; Mrs. Webster, secretary; Mrs. James Gordon, treasurer; Mrs. Amelia Miller, secretary of Spiritual Life; Mrs. Richard Welker, Missionary Education; Mrs. Mabel Watkins, promotion; Mrs. Stewart, social relations; Mrs. Fred Rice, literature and publications; Mrs. William Clayton, supply work and Mrs. Charles Bauers, sunshine.

Devotions on "Be Ye Doers of the Word," were conducted by Mrs. Hartman with talks by Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Fred Rice and Mrs. Watkins. Mrs. Russell Ash read the Scripture.

A report on the Asbury Home spring rally was given by Mrs. Charles Bauer. It was decided to send a donation to be used for the purchase of sheets for the new Guild hall. Mrs. Webster reported on the recent zone meeting. Plans also were made for a rummage sale May 12 from 1 until 3. Mrs. Vincent Thompson, Mrs. Bauers, Mrs. William Clayton and Mrs. Miller are in charge. Closing prayer was offered by Rev. Hartman.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Vincent Thompson and Mrs. Bauers. A pink and white color scheme was used and white lilacs centered the table. Corsages of carnations were given each one present. Others present were Mrs. Mrs. Florence Brant a visitor, Mrs. Reese Arve.

If every farm family would conduct a CLEANUP CAMPAIGN at home — inside and out — it would help to eliminate fire and accident hazards, make home a safer place to live, and result in happier and more productive workdays.

Tau Phi Lambda Sorority Entertains At Rush Party

The honor guests were Mrs. Mary Burkey, Mrs. Hilda VanMeter, Miss Betty Anne Carr, Mrs. Hazel Kemp and Miss Opal Borror.

Entertainment featured a "Lady's Day TV Show," with Miss Joan Nichols chairman in charge and serving as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Kay Dodds, chapter president, introduced the guests. Mrs. Margaret Hartman gave "commercials" on various phases of the sorority, between the acts.

One of the contests consisted of putting a case on a pillow, while wearing boxing gloves; Mrs. Kemp, Mrs. Burkey and Mrs. VanMeter participated, with the latter winning the prize and Mrs. Kemp the runnerup. Another contest was a relay of taking articles from a handbag while wearing huge gloves. The winning team was composed of Mrs. VanMeter, Mrs. Dorothy Mellotte, Mrs. Burkey, Mrs. Dorothy Wiegand, and Mrs. Loretta Keener, from Iota Pi chapter, Keyser, and awarded prizes. The program also included a song by Debbie Dodds and a reading, "Getting Ready for Sorority Meeting," by Miss Dorothy Niner, assisted by Miss Nancy Parker.

Mrs. Fay K. Littman, Grafton, national committeewoman and state manager of the sorority, who organized the local chapter, was named "Queen for the Day," and on behalf of the chapter, Miss Nichols presented her with a corsage. Mrs. Littman spoke briefly to the pledges. A prize was awarded to Miss Carr as the youngest member and to Mrs. VanMeter as the oldest.

A get-acquainted period followed, and refreshments were served with Mrs. Jean Holt assisting Mrs. Frederick. Miss Nichols' committee consisted of Mrs. Hartman, Miss Parker, Miss Niner and Mrs. Frederick. Mrs. Margaret Gallion also attended.

An executive meeting will be held tomorrow at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Dodd, 413 South Cedar Street. The next general meeting is to be May 27 at the home of Miss Parker, Potomac Park, with Miss Niner co-hostess.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 10—(INS)—Martin and Lewis go western in their next pictures in October, with their favorite director, Norman Taurog, by their side. The title is "Where Men Are Men?" The story, an original by Jerry Davis, has been turned over to Sidney Sheldon to script with Paul Jones directing.

Here's the plot, and it sounds very funny to me: Jerry will be seen as an eastern playboy who inherits a ranch. He decides to visit the ranch where Dean is foreman, hard working and intent on his job.

You'll see Dorothy Lamour on the Columbia lot rehearsing for her first screen gems TV film, "Harry, The Hustler," by Damon Runyon.

Dottie will play the wife of a conman, and it's a very amusing story, because when the con artist comes into some real money he, himself, falls prey to the Broadway sharpies who talk him into backing a show.

Lou Breslow, the producer, signed Dottie, who's right in the midst of moving into Betty Hutton's former house.

Bing Crosby was so happily surprised he almost lost his famed nonchalance when all four of his sons, including Phillip and Dennis (now in the Army) showed up at the birthday party given for the Groaner and Alice Faye by Jimmy Van Heusen and Pete Pettito Saturday night in Palm Springs.

Bing thought Dennis was still at his Army camp down South, but the boy had obtained a leave.

The only thing wrong with the soiree was the weather which blew the luau planned for outdoors right back indoors.

Among those who wished "happy birthday" to Bing and Alice were Phil Harris (of course), Frank Sinatra, Jeanmarie, the Stan Donens, William Perlbergs, Bill Morrow with pretty Mary Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Stevens and more and more.

Producer Buddy Adler is not necessarily trying to make a liar out of Kipling, but in his picture, "House Of Bamboo," the twain shall meet! Bob Stack is going to wind up married to Shirley Yamaguchi.

After watching Bob do a torrid love scene with Shirley he told me, "a new ending has been written for the picture. It was figured that since there are many happy marriages between GIs and Japanese girls, it is time for Hollywood to shelve 'Madame Butterfly' endings."

Speaking of Shirley, she may accept an offer for a Broadway musical when she goes to New York to visit her sculptor husband, Isamu Noguchi. She was in musical comedies in Japan.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

David Schine will be released from the Army August 21 and 'tis whispered that he will take charge of the Ambassador Hotel here, which his father owns. Maybe then he'll use that marriage license to wed Piper Laurie.

Fess Parker—Davy Crockett to the kids—is taking lessons from Bill Chadney, piano player in the lounge at Sportsman's Lodge. What! Davy Crockett playing the piano yet!

The dinner party Anita and Buddy Adler are giving May 21 is really in celebration of their 15th wedding anniversary.

Mervyn Le Roy just happened to have a program of "Of Thee I Sing," the Gershwin musical, in his pocket. His son, Warner Le Roy, directed it for three nights at Stanford University. Not only was Mervyn on hand, but also Mrs. Charles Vidor, Warner's proud mother.

At the Macayo having dinner, Barbara Rush and Bentley Ryan, a new twosome.

Paul Sloane Jr., son of the veteran director, suffered facial burns when he put a match to a stove with a leaky gas jet. He's a bailiff in a Los Angeles court, and is studying for a law degree.

Dorothy Dandridge will sing for one night at Conrad Hilton's new hotel in Istanbul, Turkey.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Local Lions Election Set

The board of directors of the Cumberland Lions Club has approved the report of the nominating committee on candidates for officers for the coming year.

Nominated are Dr. William R. Allen, president; A. John Weber, Jr., first vice president; Perry A. Ambrose, second vice president; Karl W. Bachman, third vice president; Ernest B. Treat, secretary; Dr. Robert K. Poling, treasurer; George C. Connor, tail twister; Walter A. Fraley, lion tamer; William M. George and Walter N. Hedrick, directors 1956, and Robert E. Moore and Henry K. Duke, directors 1957.

Officers will be elected today at noon at Central Y.M.C.A.

The board also received a report on the eye conservation program of the club. The organization provided 55 eye examinations, 38 pairs of glasses, one corrective operation, and 13 eye glass repairs for needy school children during April.

Also recommended was a donation of $300 in next year's budget for the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association to purchase penicillin for needy children.

Are you a good listener? Today Mr. Powers discusses this important aspect of charm.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You may honestly feel that you have no special talent that's worth developing. I can tell you you have at least one that I'm sure of. It's the talent for listening. And many a girl has gone far just by being a good listener.

A talent for listening is natural because we are all naturally interested in others. Whether or not this talent blooms, however, depends on you. It can be buried to the point where you are one of those persons who never seem to listen to anyone, you're so concerned with yourself. Or it can become one of your best assets and and a reason others speak of your charm.

Genuine interest not only in what someone else is saying, but also in the person himself is the secret of good listening. You can't merely sit there smiling and murmuring politely. You must remove your mind from your own single track and set it to following the train of the discourse. Perhaps you girls think you fool men when you turn us a listening face while your mind darts about everywhere else. You're right, you often do, but when we catch on to your pretense, we nurse a bruised ego.

A girl I know who had been criticized for self-interest mended her ways and began to listen intelligently. She soon made quite a discovery, she told me. "I never knew my old friends were such interesting people," she said, " and I've made new ones of people I never thought could be more than acquaintances."

The person who is sincerely and intelligently listened to always has something extra to give his listener. A fuller measure of himself, for one thing, because everyone responds to attention. A quickened interest in the person who listens, too, and a recognition of a special quality of charm.

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Tomorrow—Eight interesting answers.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

TOO CAUTIOUS AT THE SLAM-RANGE

IT IS A remarkable fact that the same experts who are extremely optimistic in bidding games "tighten up" out of all proportion when it comes to slam-bidding. Take the hand below for example. It occurred in an important team-of-four match.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable

	♠ K 5 ♥ Q J 3 ♦ Q 6 5 ♣ K Q 7 3 2
♠ 8 4 ♥ 9 6 5 ♦ A J 7 2 ♣ J 9 6 4	N W E S	♠ J 7 3 ♥ 10 8 2 ♦ K 10 9 4 3 ♣ 10 8
	♠ A Q 10 9 6 2 ♥ A K 7 4 ♦ 8 ♣ A 5

This was the very logical bidding at one table:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

There was nothing to the play. The spade suit broke according to probabilities, 3-2, and if West had not opened the ace of diamonds he would have lost it.

Now contrast South's thoroughly justified strong bidding with the behavior of his opposite number at Table 2:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♠ (!)	Pass	Pass	Pass

In view of North's responses it seems clear that South was guilty of sheer timidity when he merely invited the slam by bidding five spades. It is perfectly true that the slam might not have been ironclad, but it was certainly asking a lot of North to suggest that he should make the decision! Quite aside from South's other impressive values, his singleton diamond was a control that only he himself could know about.

All Cumberland Lions Interested In Auto Races

Locally, the Lions Club is in the midst of its biggest activity, promotion of the National Sports car races scheduled here next Sunday.

Then, just the other day, Glenn K. Davis, president of the Lions Club here, got a letter from P. R. Sanders, president of the Cumberland (Ind.) Lions Club.

Sanders reported that his Cumberland Lions will offer again this year the "finest information possible" for the 39th 500-mile automobile race to be staged Memorial Day in Indianapolis. Cumberland, just 15 miles east of Indianapolis, on U. S. Route 40, will offer information on lodging, directions to the race track and box lunches. The booth will be open on a 24-hour schedule from May 27 through May 31.

Home On Leave

MT. SAVAGE — S/Sgt. John F. Flanigan is spending a 30-day leave with his father, Michael Flanigan, Sr. Sgt. Flanigan flew home from Okinawa arriving in Pittsburgh on Monday afternoon. He spent two years in the Far East. He will be stationed at Long Island, after his furlough.

LaSalle High Graduation Exercises Are Announced

The 41 seniors of LaSalle High School will be graduated Sunday, June 4, at 7 p. m. in Carroll Hall, Brother Daniel Hilary, principal, announced yesterday.

Commencement activities begin today at 4 p. m. when the seniors go to Alverno, the Capuchin summer home, for a retreat that will end Friday evening.

Rev. Lawrence Wiest, OFM, Cap., of the St. Francis Friary, Pittsburgh, will be retreat master assisted by Rev. Guy Golden, OFM, Cap.; Rev. Louis Glantz, OFM, Cap., director of Auberle Memorial Home, McKeesport; Brother Daniel, Brother Thomas, LaSalle's athletic director, and Dr. Leo Ley.

Brother Daniel said the retreat will be three days of closed spiritual preparation for graduation.

Next Monday at 9 a. m. will be the annual alumni memorial mass in St. Patrick's Catholic Church under the auspices of the LaSalle Mother's Club.

Monday is the feast day of St. John Baptist de La Salle, founder of the Christian Brothers. St. LaSalle has been proclaimed as the patron saint of teachers.

On Saturday, May 21, at 9 a. m. a scholarship examination will be held for parochial grade schools in LaSalle. A four-year scholarship will be given to the boy with the highest average. Last year's winner was Wayne Wilhelm of Mt. Savage.

Thursday, May 26, and Friday, 27, the seniors will have their examinations.

Sunday, June 5, at 8:30 a. m. the graduates will attend the senior mass in St. Patrick's Church.

Speaker at the commencement exercises that night will be Rev. Brother Francis Azarias, member of the Christian Brothers and head of the Department of Education at LaSalle College, Philadelphia.

Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, will be presiding officer. Joseph Patrick Conroy will be valedictorian.

Monday, June 6, at 9 a. m. will be commencement services for the juniors who will form next year's senior class.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You may honestly feel that you have no special talent that's worth developing. I can tell you you have at least one that I'm sure of. It's the talent for listening. And many a girl has gone far just by being a good listener.

A talent for listening is natural because we are all naturally interested in others. Whether or not this talent blooms, however, depends on you. It can be buried to the point where you are one of those persons who never seem to listen to anyone, you're so concerned with yourself. Or it can become one of your best assets and and a reason others speak of your charm.

Genuine interest not only in what someone else is saying, but also in the person himself is the secret of good listening. You can't merely sit there smiling and murmuring politely. You must remove your mind from your own single track and set it to following the train of the discourse. Perhaps you girls think you fool men when you turn us a listening face while your mind darts about everywhere else. You're right, you often do, but when we catch on to your pretense, we nurse a bruised ego.

A girl I know who had been criticized for self-interest mended her ways and began to listen intelligently. She soon made quite a discovery, she told me. "I never knew my old friends were such interesting people," she said, " and I've made new ones of people I never thought could be more than acquaintances."

The person who is sincerely and intelligently listened to always has something extra to give his listener. A fuller measure of himself, for one thing, because everyone responds to attention. A quickened interest in the person who listens, too, and a recognition of a special quality of charm.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

TOO CAUTIOUS AT THE SLAM-RANGE

IT IS A remarkable fact that the same experts who are extremely optimistic in bidding games "tighten up" out of all proportion when it comes to slam-bidding. Take the hand below for example. It occurred in an important team-of-four match.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable

	♠ K 5 ♥ Q J 3 ♦ Q 6 5 ♣ K Q 7 3 2
♠ 8 4 ♥ 9 6 5 ♦ A J 7 2 ♣ J 9 6 4	N W E S	♠ J 7 3 ♥ 10 8 2 ♦ K 10 9 4 3 ♣ 10 8
	♠ A Q 10 9 6 2 ♥ A K 7 4 ♦ 8 ♣ A 5

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

There was nothing to the play. The spade suit broke according to probabilities, 3-2, and if West had not opened the ace of diamonds he would have lost it.

Now contrast South's thoroughly justified strong bidding with the behavior of his opposite number at Table 2:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♠ (!)	Pass	Pass	Pass

In view of North's responses it seems clear that South was guilty of sheer timidity when he merely invited the slam by bidding five spades. It is perfectly true that the slam might not have been ironclad, but it was certainly asking a lot of North to suggest that he should make the decision! Quite aside from South's other impressive values, his singleton diamond was a control that only he himself could know about.

All Cumberland Lions Interested In Auto Races

Locally, the Lions Club is in the midst of its biggest activity, promotion of the National Sports car races scheduled here next Sunday.

Then, just the other day, Glenn K. Davis, president of the Lions Club here, got a letter from P. R. Sanders, president of the Cumberland (Ind.) Lions Club.

Sanders reported that his Cumberland Lions will offer again this year the "finest information possible" for the 39th 500-mile automobile race to be staged Memorial Day in Indianapolis. Cumberland, just 15 miles east of Indianapolis, on U. S. Route 40, will offer information on lodging, directions to the race track and box lunches. The booth will be open on a 24-hour schedule from May 27 through May 31.

Home On Leave

MT. SAVAGE — S/Sgt. John F. Flanigan is spending a 30-day leave with his father, Michael Flanigan, Sr. Sgt. Flanigan flew home from Okinawa arriving in Pittsburgh on Monday afternoon. He spent two years in the Far East. He will be stationed at Long Island, after his furlough.

LaSalle High Graduation Exercises Are Announced

The 41 seniors of LaSalle High School will be graduated Sunday, June 4, at 7 p. m. in Carroll Hall, Brother Daniel Hilary, principal, announced yesterday.

Commencement activities begin today at 4 p. m. when the seniors go to Alverno, the Capuchin summer home, for a retreat that will end Friday evening.

Rev. Lawrence Wiest, OFM, Cap., of the St. Francis Friary, Pittsburgh, will be retreat master assisted by Rev. Guy Golden, OFM, Cap.; Rev. Louis Glantz, OFM, Cap., director of Auberle Memorial Home, McKeesport; Brother Daniel, Brother Thomas, LaSalle's athletic director, and Dr. Leo Ley.

Brother Daniel said the retreat will be three days of closed spiritual preparation for graduation.

Next Monday at 9 a. m. will be the annual alumni memorial mass in St. Patrick's Catholic Church under the auspices of the LaSalle Mother's Club.

Monday is the feast day of St. John Baptist de La Salle, founder of the Christian Brothers. St. La-Salle has been proclaimed as the patron saint of teachers.

On Saturday, May 21, at 9 a. m. a scholarship examination will be held for parochial grade schools in LaSalle. A four-year scholarship will be given to the boy with the highest average. Last year's winner was Wayne Wilhelm of Mt. Savage.

Thursday, May 26, and Friday, 27, the seniors will have their examinations.

Sunday, June 5, at 8:30 a. m. the graduates will attend the senior mass in St. Patrick's Church.

Speaker at the commencement exercises that night will be Rev. Brother Francis Azarias, member of the Christian Brothers and head of the Department of Education at LaSalle College, Philadelphia.

Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, will be presiding officer. Joseph Patrick Conroy will be valedictorian.

Monday, June 6, at 9 a. m. will be commencement services for the juniors who will form next year's senior class.

City Council Is Divided On Garbage Hauling Contract

One of the current city problems may be solved Friday at 4 p. m. when the Mayor and Council holds a special meeting to act on awarding the municipal garbage hauling contract.

No action on the contract was taken by the Mayor and Council at Monday's session.

It was agreed to defer the session until Friday when City Health Department officials could be present to present information concerning past garbage hauling services in Cumberland.

During the pre-council session, Monday, the Mayor and Council was divided two to two on the contract with one not declaring his intention.

May File Suit

After considerable discussion, it was agreed that Dr. Winter R. Frantz give a report on past haulers.

He will be accompanied by J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian attached to the City and County Health Departments, and Walter E. Kline, sanitarian with the City and County Health Department.

The city faces a taxpayer's suit in the event the low bidder, Emmett Dougherty, is not given the contract.

Harold E. Naughton appeared at last week's council meeting, saying he was acting as both an attorney representing Dougherty and as a city taxpayer.

He made a statement from the floor that he would seek an injunction against the city to make the Mayor and Council show cause why the contract would not be awarded the low bidder.

He contended at the session last week that Dougherty, who had the contract for several years until 1950, when J. J. Riley and Son received it, was $3,545 under Riley.

Order Prepared

An order had been prepared, but not voted upon, to award Riley the contract at a previous meeting.

The council later decided to re-advertise for bids, saying that the original specifications omitted a pickup service that Riley has been providing.

Riley had been providing this service as an extra service to the city, officials pointed out.

After the protest of Naughton in Dougherty's behalf, the council decided not to re-advertise for bids. Naughton told the council his client had given this pickup service when he previously had the contract, and was willing to have it written in the new contract if he was awarded it.

The council then last week deferred action until Monday's meeting, but in the meantime extended Riley's contract for three months, until August 1. Naughton claimed the council, under the city code, cannot grant a contract for any period less than a year.

Legion Post To Fete Wiley Ford Students

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, will present Americanism awards to outstanding students of Wiley Ford School at the final meeting of the school's Parent-Teacher Association, Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the school.

The awards will be presented at a covered dish dinner. A brief business session at which new officers will be installed will follow.

Railroad Man Hurt In Fall Is Serious

KEYSER — Elwood Theodore George, 47, of Swanton, remained in serious condition today at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where he was admitted following a railroad accident Saturday. He sustained a spinal cord injury.

George was knocked from atop a freight car when another boxcar hit it at the B&O east hump in Keyser.

YMCA To Reward Three Champions In Ping Pong

Three champions in the YMCA open ping pong tournament will receive their trophies at a general meeting in the Y Community Room Sunday, May 22, at 3 p. m., according to L. R. Dehn, program secretary.

In the 12-13 year age class, John Smith triumphed by defeating Jerry White, 21-10 and 21-13. In the 16-17 year age class Harold Counihan won out by defeating Joe Martin, 16-21, 21-18, 21-14 and 21-11. In the 18 and unlimited class Bob Hare defeated James Williams, 21-10, 21-14, 21-16.

Dehn said last night that the YMCA plans to promote further tournaments each year, one for the membership and the other an invitational event. As the standard of play improves all champions will be sent into higher competition. There were 15 contestants in the tournament just concluded.

Persons interested in developing a table tennis group for special instruction are requested to contact Dehn at the Y.

Jeffries Is Candidate For House Seat

Only one person has applied for the vacancy in the Allegany County delegation to be created by moving Del. Charles M. See into the state senator's job.

James S. Getty, chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee, said he has written Gov. McKeldin to acknowledge by May 17 the committee's recommendation of See for the state senatorship.

The vacancy in the Senate came about when Robert B. Kimble was appointed chairman of the Department of Employment Security.

The state central committee met last Wednesday to recommend that Del. See be elevated to the upper house.

Getty said the sole applicant for Del. See's position is George Jeffreys of Lonaconing, a member of the State Central Committee.

Jeffreys was also one of the 12 applicants for Del. See's position, Getty previously reported. His name was announced at last week's meeting of the state central committee as being one of the 12.

Jeffreys, incidentally, is the father of Robert Jeffreys who made a good run in the primary election on the Republican ticket for delegate, but was defeated.

Getty said at last week's meeting the state central committee will accept applications for See's position until May 17.

The committee will be called together that same week to select a successor to Del. See, Getty added.

In a driving test in a Michigan town 10 out of 40 pupils flunked. They couldn't learn to pass.

Parker Plans Fire Ramps Demonstration

Chief Virgil A. Parker of the Cumberland Fire Department told the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday that he plans to hold a demonstration in the use of fire ramps at the County Infirmary in order to familiarize the personnel in the use of the devices.

Chief Parker said that some personnel at the infirmary are familiar with using ramps but it is hoped to set up a program for use in time of emergencies.

The ramps, of lightweight aluminum, can be used to cover the stairs at the infirmary so that wheel chairs with patients can be pushed from the building. Chief Parker estimates that with the program completed the personnel should be able to evacuate the building within four minutes.

Chief Parker also asked the board to give him a letter outlining the problem of defective fire extinguishers at the infirmary. He said he is not interested who gets the contract to supply and furnish the extinguishers, but is vitally interested in seeing that the servicing is done efficiently and on schedule. He said that the Fire Department depends on the use of these extinguishers in emergencies by personnel at the infirmary so that small blazes can be controlled until the department arrives on the scene.

The commissioners cancelled an agreement with the firm which had the job because of failure to provide the required service. Commissioner William H. Lemmert said the board is pleased with the manner in which Chief Parker has arranged for the protection of county buildings against fire hazards.

Food Distribution Set In Ridgeley Today

The distribution of surplus foods for the Ridgeley-Fort Ashby area in Mineral County will be held today from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the American Legion home in Ridgeley, according to Roland Showers, commander.

Showers said that all eligible residents of the area must register on May 17 at the Legion home in order to obtain their allotment of surplus food in June.

First Communion Held At SS. Peter, Paul

Ninety-six Second Graders of SS. Peter and Paul School received their first Holy Communion at the 8:15 a. m. mass in SS. Peter and Paul Church Sunday.

Rev. Marius Elsener, pastor, was celebrant of the high mass.

The 96 children were invested in the Order of the Scapular Monday morning at the church and then given a holiday.

Schools Here Receive Freedom Awards

Representatives of Allegany and Fort Hill High Schools received Freedoms Foundation awards late Monday afternoon over Station WMAR-TV in Baltimore.

Miss Mary E. Murray, member of the faculty at Allegany, was presented a George Washington Memorial metal and $50 check for a magazine article entitled "You Can't Buy Freedom At A Bargain Counter."

Memorial awards and $100 checks went to delegates of the Alcohi Mirror of Allegany and the Sentinel of Fort Hill for "Freedom" editorials appearing in the school publications.

Recipients were Miss Rita Marker, editor, and Miss Mary Calamine, adviser, Fort Hill and Miss Murray.

Gov. McKeldin was awarded a medal and $100 check for an address given at the ninetieth anniversary dedication of the battlefield at Gettysburg. He turned the check over to the Catholic Charities of Baltimore.

Board Gets Request For Road Repairs

A petition signed by 13 property owners on Celanese Boulevard, in the Cresaptown area off Route 220, was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners which requests that the roadway be improved.

The petition states that during wet weather the roadway is very muddy and in bad condition. They ask that it be given some type of hardsurfacing.

The commissioners also received a letter of thanks yesterday from Robert S. Friedman, research assistant, Bureau of Government Research, University of Maryland, for the information sent by the board on Allegany County. The information will be used in the bureau's program, Friedman said.

Katie Kilroy Is Safety Leader

Mrs. Katie Kilroy was elected secretary of the Western Maryland Women's Traffic Safety Group at a regional meeting Monday night in Centre Street Church.

The group voted to support the "Slow Down And Live" campaign and the driver education program in Allegany County and area.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, director, said representatives also approved expansion of the driver setup. Women safety chairmen submitted various reports.

Mrs. Roeder, who presided, extended a welcome address and Lynn Walker, safety inspector for the Maryland State Accident Commission, spoke.

Native Of Barton Succumbs At 104

Services for Miss Emily Susan Jacobs, 104, a native of Allegany County, were conducted yesterday afternoon at Addison, Pa., by Rev. Mary Ritchey and Rev. H. M. Jenkins.

The oldest resident of Somerset County (Pa.), Miss Jacobs was born September 8, 1850 at Barton, where she attended the Barton Elementary School before moving to a farm in Addison Township in 1866. She died Sunday at the home of a nephew in Ursina, near Johnstown.

Miss Jacobs retained her memory and recalled incidents of her childhood during the Civil War before her family moved from Barton. She recalled carrier pigeons used to send messages during the war and of her father guarding a a bridge over the Potomac. She lived through four subsequent wars.

A daughter of the late Asa and Emily Armanda Jacobs, she had been seriously ill for several weeks. She was a member of the Addison Methodist Church for 86 years, and for 45 years served as teacher and department leader for the church's Sunday School.

LESLIE W. NAVE

Leslie Wilson Nave, 79, an employe of First National Bank for 48 years, died yesterday at his residence, 822 Gephart Drive.

He had resided in Cumberland for the past 65 years. A native of Centerville, Pa., Mr. Nave was a son of the late Elza W. and Rena (Laney) Nave.

Mr. Nave was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Louise (Webster) Nave and a brother, Claude F. Nave, city.

The body is at the Silcox Funeral Residence where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 4 p.m. with Rev. Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Church, in charge.

Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

CARDER FUNERAL

FROSTBURG—A requiem mass for Charles Carder, 56, a former resident, who died Sunday at a Nursing Home in Oakland, will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. today in St. Michael's Church.

Interment will be in the parish cemetery. Pallbearers will be John E. Harden, Peter J. Lyons, George J. Carder, Edward Carter, James Hotchkiss and Michael Reagan. The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home here.

Woman Found Dead At Home

Services for Mrs. Jeanette Millar Williams, 62, wife of William Williams, 605 Shriver Avenue, whose body was found hanging in the attic of her home Sunday, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. from the residence.

Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will officiate with interment in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Moscow.

Authorities said the tragedy was discovered at 12:15 p. m. by a son, William Williams, after the family returned home from church services. Mrs. Williams was hanging from rafters with a rope around her neck.

Her son cut the rope and applied artificial respiration. Shortly afterwards police went to the home and used a pneolator for 20 minutes without success.

Mrs. Williams, officials said, left a note for her husband. She reportedly had been in ill health.

Assisting in the investigation was Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, who declined to comment on the case, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

BERNARD L. HERPICK

A former resident of Cumberland, Mr. Herpick was a son of the late Louis and Catherine (Donnegan) Herpick. Besides his son, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Loretta (Forebeck) Herpick, and two grandchildren.

The body will arrive this evening at the Kight Funeral Home in Cumberland where friends and relatives may call after 7 p. m.

A requiem high mass will be held Friday at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church by Very Rev. Lawrence J. Kilkenny, pastor. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

MRS. JOHN T. HODLE

Mrs. Melinda C. Hodle, 81, wife of John T. Hodle, Williams Road, died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient two days.

Born July 9, 1873 in Oldtown, Mrs. Hodle was a daughter of the late John J. and Nancy (Wagner) Hodle.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

MRS. IDA FORD

Mrs. Ida Ford, 79, formerly of Cumberland, died May 2 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lelia Matthews, Detroit.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Henry Payne and Mrs. Arthur Page, city; Mrs. Thomas Peck, Altoona, and Mrs. Laura Males, Detroit, and a brother, Lawrence Males Sr., city.

Interment took place in Detroit.

BATEMAN RITES

SWANTON—Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Marie Bateman, 33, wife of John Bateman, formerly of Swanton, were conducted in the Assembly of God Church.

Mrs. Bateman died enroute to a hospital after being struck with a car while returning from shopping at Pikesville where the couple had resided the past four years.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Racey who reside in Havre de Grace. Besides her parents and husband, she is survived by five children, one brother and one sister.

PAGE SERVICES

A requiem mass for Miss Catherine Iola Page, 112 Spruce Street, who died Monday, will be celebrated Friday at 9 a. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Burial will take place in Rose Hill Cemetery.

MRS. SUSAN GRANT

PIEDMONT—Mrs. Susan Grant, 84, died yesterday morning at her home, 92 West Hampshire Street.

A native of West Virginia, Mrs. Grant resided at Beryl before coming here 14 years ago. Her parents were the late Ezekiel and Sarah (Sharpless) Abernathy. She was a member of Piedmont Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are two children, Louis R. and Miss Retha Grant, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Sallie Boseley, Piedmont, and Mrs. Rose Wildman, Westernport. Her husband, Louis G. Grant, died October 16, 1946.

The body is at the Fredlock Funeral Home.

A service will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday in the funeral home with Rev. Robert M. Campbell, pastor of Piedmont Presbyterian Church, in charge.

Interment will be in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

HARRISON F. HERSH

Native Of Barton Succumbs At 104

Services for Miss Emily Susan Jacobs, 104, a native of Allegany County, were conducted yesterday afternoon at Addison, Pa., by Rev. Mary Ritchey and Rev. H. M. Jenkins.

The oldest resident of Somerset County (Pa.), Miss Jacobs was born September 8, 1850 at Barton, where she attended the Barton Elementary School before moving to a farm in Addison Township in 1866. She died Sunday at the home of a nephew in Ursina, near Johnstown.

Miss Jacobs retained her memory and recalled incidents of her childhood during the Civil War before her family moved from Barton. She recalled carrier pigeons used to send messages during the war and of her father guarding a bridge over the Potomac. She lived through four subsequent wars.

A daughter of the late Asa and Emily Armanda Jacobs, she had been seriously ill for several weeks. She was a member of the Addison Methodist Church for 86 years, and for 45 years served as teacher and department leader for the church's Sunday School.

LESLIE W. NAVE

Leslie Wilson Nave, 79, an employe of First National Bank for 48 years, died yesterday at his residence, 822 Gephart Drive.

He had resided in Cumberland for the past 65 years. A native of Centerville, Pa., Mr. Nave was a son of the late Elza W. and Rena (Laney) Nave.

Mr. Nave was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Louise (Webster) Nave and a brother, Claude F. Nave, city.

The body is at the Silcox Funeral Residence where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 4 p.m. with Rev. Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Church, in charge.

Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

CARDER FUNERAL

FROSTBURG—A requiem mass for Charles Carder, 56, a former resident, who died Sunday at a Nursing Home in Oakland, will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. today in St. Michael's Church.

Interment will be in the parish cemetery. Pallbearers will be John E. Harden, Peter J. Lyons, George J. Carder, Edward Carter, James Hotchkiss and Michael Reagan. The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home here.

Woman Found Dead At Home

Services for Mrs. Jeanette Millar Williams, 62, wife of William Williams, 605 Shriver Avenue, whose body was found hanging in the attic of her home Sunday, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. from the residence.

Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will officiate with interment in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Moscow.

Authorities said the tragedy was discovered at 12:15 p. m. by a son, William Williams, after the family returned home from church services. Mrs. Williams was hanging from rafters with a rope around her neck.

Her son cut the rope and applied artificial respiration. Shortly afterwards police went to the home and used a pneolator for 20 minutes without success.

Mrs. Williams, officials said, left a note for her husband. She reportedly had been in ill health.

Assisting in the investigation was Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, who declined to comment on the case, and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

BERNARD L. HERPICK

Rodney Baker Elected Mayor In Piedmont City Election

Although only one member of his slate was named to the city council, Rodney Baker was elected mayor of Piedmont, W.Va., in Monday's biennial municipal election.

Three councilmen also selected by the voters of the West Virginia community were W. Garland Cheshire, the only incumbent re-elected, Kingsley Skidmore and James L. Bissett. The latter ran on the Baker slate while Cheshire and Skidmore were coupled with Eugene W. Paxton who lost the mayoralty fight to Baker by 11 votes.

Official tabulation of the final count completed about 1:45 a.m. yesterday follows:

FOR MAYOR

Rodney Baker	418
Eugene W. Paxton	407

FOR COUNCIL

W. Garland Cheshire	445
Kingsley Skidmore	362
James L. Bissett	343
Elmo Clower	331
Ivan R. Wilson	311
O. D. Collett	273
Sebastian Barbarito	221

Baker, a member of the Piedmont High School faculty for the past 17 years, has been a teacher in Mineral County for 25 years and made his first venture into politics a winning one.

Cheshire was the only incumbent re-elected. Paxton, who lost out in the mayoralty battle, had been a council member for the past 10 years. Cheshire and Skidmore will serve for four years while Bissett was named to office for a two-year term. Holdover council members are Joseph Mayburg and Melvin High.

Cheshire's 445 votes of the 841 cast in the election led the entire ticket.

When contacted last night the successful candidate for mayor said, "I am very happy at this time that the people of Piedmont had such good faith in me. It was a close race and the turnout of voters was extremely gratifying.

"I will try to do a good job as soon as I learn the ropes and will plan my program for my tenure in office at the first meeting with the council."

The new mayor and three councilmen will be sworn in and will take office on June 1. Baker said he will make his councilmanic appointments after the first meeting.

The successful candidates for council, Skidmore and Cheshire, are employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke, while Bissett is meat manager of the A&P store in Westernport.

Mayor Allan L. Hill, who is completing his second two-year term declined to be a candidate as did incumbent councilman Norman Baughman, who is ending his first term in office.

Deeds Filed Here

Deeds to two separate parcels of property valued at approximately $21,000 were filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Court.

Charles W. Viney and his wife, Mattie J. Viney, sold Lots 396, 397 and 398 on Mary Street, this city, to Gilbert H. Minnigh and Norma E. Minnigh, his wife. The property is located on the north side of the street on the plat of the Humbird Land and Improvement Company, and is valued at approximately $13,500.

In the other deed, Lizzie Mae Dicken, a widow, sold a lot on the west side of McMullen Highway in Bowling Green to Leon R. Knotts and Naomi L. Knotts, his wife. The property is valued at about $7,500.

Bond Is Approved

State Reports No Polio Cases After Shots

BALTIMORE, May 10 (AP)—The State Health Department reported today there hasn't been one case of polio among the 110,000 first and second grade youngsters undergoing inoculations with the Salk anti-polio vaccine.

"We've had sore throats and mumps and a boy who hurt his foot in a fight and didn't want to tell his mother about it," said Dr. Edward Davens today.

"But we've traced down every complaint. We have not detected a single case of polio of any kind since the vaccinations started 21 days ago," added the chief of the department's bureau of preventive disease.

"Of the more than 110,000 already vaccinated, 98,810 received their shots on or before April 29—11 days ago. If the shots were to produce any polio cases, we would expect them to show in 7 or 8 days. We haven't had as many bad reactions as we would have expected from mass diphtheria or small pox vaccinations," he said.

Maryland has recorded, as of last Saturday, only three cases of paralytic polio so far in 1955. All of them occurred before the inoculation program started three weeks ago.

Two were in Baltimore and the third was in Frederick County.

At this time last year there also were three cases.

Only a few thousand youngsters in Baltimore and Anne Arundel County did not get their first shots when the program for first and second grade vaccinations was temporarily halted at the suggestion of the Public Health Service in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Davens said there is enough Salk vaccine left to complete the first shot when the green light is given to proceed with the vaccinations again. Originally, it was planned to give the second shots next week.

Meadow Music Brings Serenity

In the midst of cities' clanging cacophony and the noisy pounding of clattering machines, there is a place where one can find peace and solace and renew the sapped strength of heart and soul. Go into a green meadow one of these sun-bright May days when the grasses are blossoming.

In the golden sunlight countless small plants close to earth's breast are completing their annual growth and fruition cycle. Sit for a while beside a slow moving brook and wait until your ears are tuned to the small noises of the open.

There is unhurried, but rich and meaningful music these days in the meadows and lowlands. Uncounted myriads of small insects, untold numbers of honeybees, and many bumblebees are searching for the nectar and pollen that mean life itself to countless species of insect life. This is the primal symphony of earth; this is the deep-chord music of which many are unaware as they tread life's trail of years.

For tens of millions of years, grasses and flowers have been completing their cycles; for tens of millions of years the small forms of insect life have played their ordained role of carrying pollen from stamen to pistil.

Can you not hear that pulsing murmur of soft melody? It is low-pitched and steady, but if one listens closely he can hear strains of sweet melody that remind one of distant organ music. Perhaps from the distant grove there come the calls of young crows testing their voices.

But above and beyond all else, if one listens intently, he can hear the insistent, purposeful theme of the background chords in the meadow music made by myriad small wings. Meadow-music has not been recorded on man-made discs; but you can go to a meadow these days and make a personal recording that will bring serenity to a heart harassed by man-made discords.

The New Labor Debate

The current discussion over the guaranteed annual wage is really a phase of the effort on the part of those who originally organized the CIO to move another step forward in the building of a labor party in the United States. Each year produces a new issue; each year there must be a victory to keep the cadres of labor activism alive. This year, it is the guaranteed wage; next year it will be the 30-hour week; in 1960 it will be the candidacy of Walter Reuther for president.

American labor unions have not been successful as political parties. The Knights of Labor, the American Federation of Labor, the IWW, the CIO, the CIO-PAC, and the American Labor party each built strength among workers, but they did not succeed, when any of them tried, as a political party. The Americans for Democratic Action have had a measure of success by infiltrating both the Democratic and Republican parties.

A bill has been introduced in the Michigan Legislature (Senate Bill No. 1401) which provides that if a union has a compulsory membership (closed shop or union shop) it may not be a political party or operate in political causes. If, on the other hand, such a union wishes to operate politically, it must give up compulsory membership. The theory is that compulsory membership in a political party is fascism and is therefore repugnant to our institutions.

Under this bill, a union could not lawfully contribute to a political party or support a candidate for public office by financial contributions out of the union treasury. The provision on this subject in the Michigan bill reads as follows:

"No candidate or political committee shall accept or spend any money or any other thing or service of value obtained from or paid for in whole or in part by any organization which any person is required, as a condition of employment, to join, remain in, or support financially or otherwise."

Obviously this bill is a response to Walter Reuther's political machinations. His power has grown tremendously in recent years and it must be admitted that he has operated with rare skill. While the amalgamation of the AFL and the CIO gives the appearance of a great victory for the American Federation of Labor and for George Meany, its president, the acceptance of Walter Reuther as director of organization gives him the capacity to build a CIO factional group within the AFL. Labor leaders everywhere are conscious of Reuther's plan and purpose and they are setting out to clip his wings. In the forthcoming convention to complete the amalgamation, Reuther's strength will be tested.

However, should Reuther win the guaranteed annual wage in the automobile and related industries, every labor leader will be forced to follow him, because to the rank and file he will be an undisputed hero. The stakes are high, but Reuther is brash, courageous and a risk-taker. He undoubtedly assumes that as the capitalist tendency is to cut its losses and move ahead, one or the other of the big automobile companies will cave in rather than face a strike.

Another factor that is behind this move is the pressure of the left wing Ford local to win participation in the management of the company's welfare and pension funds.

Here then is a complex political as well as industrial situation which cannot be considered altogether on the basis of the virtues of the guaranteed annual wage. Involved is control of an industry, control of the newly amalgamated AFL-CIO, a prospective candidacy for the presidency and all packaged in the person of the ambitious Walter Reuther.

He is currently forming, on the side, an alliance of forces with the Farmers Union, which is the more radical group in the agricultural population. Such an alliance is based on the support by Reuther's following in labor of rigid price supports and other phases of the Farmers Union program in return for the Farmers Union backing of Reuther's program and ambitions. It is an unholy and cynical alliance because the workers will pay more for their food and the farmers more for their cars and agricultural implements. But such unholy alliances have succeeded before in American politics and may succeed again.

Republican Gov. Knight Of California Woos And Wows Demo Labor Leaders

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Governor Goodwin Knight of California, Republican, once a darling of California big business, did an interesting thing while in the East for the governors' conference last week.

He spent his time not in kowtowing to the White House or to various senators or to other governors. He spent a good part of his time making friends where the Republicans badly need friends — with labor. He had a breakfast, a dinner, and a lunch with the top labor leaders in the capital, then went to Philadelphia for a meeting with labor leaders of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware.

Furthermore, he wowed 'em.

Remarked Dick Grey, head of the Building and Construction Trades Union: "Heres' a man that could well run for president."

While Grey has supported Republicans in the past — though dead against Eisenhower — other lifelong Democratic labor leaders seemed highly impressed with the Republican governor of California. Among them was Joe McComb of the Retail Clerks Local 1360 of Camden, N. J., also director of the combined AFL-CIO Political League for New Jersey.

"Why can't we have some good Republicans like this?" he remarked. And he fingered his rosary while having his picture taken with the governor, hoping, he said, that it was not just a dream.

White House Luncheon

Earlier in the week, Governor Knight lunched at the White House with glum, tight-lipped Sherman Adams, the man who really runs things in the Eisenhower administration. Adams looks down his nose at most people who don't come from New England, and Knight was no exception. Adams acted as if the governor, who is a great story teller, were a sort of Republican Al Jolson from California

"Where did you study law?" Adams asked.

"At Stanford and Cornell."

"Where did you live at Cornell?"

"At the Alpha Delta Phi house."

Gradually the governor of California appeared to be more acceptable to the ex-governor of New Hampshire who now runs the White House.

"How did you get such a big majority when you ran in California?" Adams asked.

"I got the endorsement of labor," and Knight went on to tell how the top labor leaders not only endorsed him but raised money for his campaign. He indicated that other Republicans who wanted to win might follow his example.

Governor Knight did not, however, go into detail regarding his highly significant labor conferences in Washington. If he had, Adams' friend, Vice President Richard Nixon, another Californian, might have had a fit.

Beck To Schnitzler

For Knight had dinner with Bill Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, the No. 2 man to President George Meany. He also breakfasted with Jim McDevitt, head of the AFL Labor League for Political Rights. And he drove to Philadelphia in the car of Jim Suffridge, secretary of the Retail Clerks. Finally he had an hour's conference with Dave Beck, head of the Teamsters' Union, in the latter's shiny new office in the Teamsters' gleaming marble Taj Mahal built right under the nose of Congress.

The Washington lunch with Knight was attended by about twenty of the top AFL brass, including Dick Grey, head of the Building Services (janitors, elevator operators); Vernon Housewright head of the Retail Clerks; Jim Suffridge, also of the Retail Clerks; Jim Brownlow and Bob Gridda, both of the Metal Trades; John Sweeney of the West Coast Teamsters; Bill Griffen of the miscellaneous division of Teamsters; William Deo of the Building Trades.

One question labor leaders were emphatic about was that they would not have any part of the Republican ticket if Nixon was on it, either as president or vice president. The one heart-beat separating the vice president from the President, they said, was too uncertain, especially when the President is well over sixty.

Governor Knight was surprisingly frank in his views on Nixon during the Washington luncheon. He made it clear that some top California political leaders share labor's view on Nixon and that Nixon would not control a single vote in the California delegation at the Republican convention in 1956.

Right-To-Work Bill

In Philadelphia, where about fifty labor leaders met with Knight at the Warwick Hotel, Governor Knight was noncommittal about Nixon. But he was emphatic in his opposition to the right-to-work bill in California.

"If they manage to get the bill on the ballot under that deceptive name," he promised, "I will stump the stage against it."

He referred to the fact that the so-called "right-to-work" bill is actually aimed at preventing a union shop.

The governor was also emphatic in favoring increased unemployment compensation and modification of the California Jurisdictional Act which recognizes phony unions. He was also for rigorous enforcement of the Walsh-Healy Act.

Those who met with him in Philadelphia included labor's top brass from Atlantic City, Camden, N. J., and Reading, Pa., with Al Savan, president, and Norman Blomberg, business manager of Philadelphia's Central Labor Union Council; Joe McDonough, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor; Jack Backus, chairman of the Teamsters Joint Council; Bud Lavin, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council, Ed Hartsou, also of the Teamsters; Bill Ross of the International Ladies Garment Workers; and Harry Finks of the Los Angeles Central Labor Union Council.

NOTE 1—Governor Knight also held an interesting meeting with labor leaders in Seattle and will hold another in Chicago in about a month.

NOTE 2—Few Republican candidates had labor endorsement in the last election. Knight and Patterson of Oregon did, and won. Governor Hall of Kansas was friendly to labor. The Democrats, who for the most part got sweeping labor endorsements, picked up seven new governorships last November.

Four-Power Conference Must Be Viewed Realistically

By David Lawrence

PARIS—They keep talking here about a four-power conference "at the summit." But, it may be asked, "Where is the summit, or who is the summit in Soviet Russia?"

For the conversation at the sessions of the foreign ministers has been aimed at satisfying the British and French desire to have some kind of conference with the Communists. While nobody knows exactly what can be accomplished, if anything, the pressure from public opinion seems to be that some sort of talk should be held. The latest suggestion being bandied about is that it isn't necessary to have an agenda or program or list of items to discuss, and it isn't necessary to make binding decisions, either. All this is being offered as a means of making it easier for President Eisenhower to say "yes."

Among the American officials here there is a disposition to ask questions such as, "Who is the summit in Soviet Russia?" All the information available from Moscow is that nobody has really taken Stalin's place and that a sort of committee government exists in the Kremlin. It is uncertain, therefore, what good there is in talking to someone who cannot commit anyone else to the agreements he might make or the viewpoints he might express.

Status In Doubt

President Eisenhower referred in a recent press conference to the doubt that exists in the American government concerning the status of the men high up in the Soviet regime. It is not certain, for instance, that Bulganin or Khrushchev represents the "summit." The truth is that there never has been any election in which the free choice of the people of Soviet Russia could be made known. Hence, three democratic governments duly elected in Britain, France and the United States are asked to send their chief executives to negotiate with an unknown quantity.

It is unfortunate that so many people have overlooked this basic weakness and are crying out for a conference with the Soviets "at the summit" without realizing that merely to wish for peace does not bring peace and that a four-power conference is not a magic device that can bring understanding where there has been none before. The opportunities both "at the summit" and at levels very near the summit have been numerous ever since 1945.

The pressure which is nevertheless being exerted on every side to persuade American officials to urge President Eisenhower to agree to come to a four-power conference was indescribable. It seemed to be mounting constantly, and, of course, it is exactly what the Communists want and need. The best information available here is that the Soviet regime desires something to bolster its prestige internally and to remove the worries that are growing up inside Soviet Russia about tension in the atomic world.

No Concessions Seen

At the same time, the Soviet officials are known not to be in any mood to make important concessions. They have been accumulating trump cards such as their ten-year refusal to sign a peace treaty with Austria and the imprisonment of Americans and the nationals of other countries held for many years, plus the resort to such unlawful measures as the blockade by excessive taxation of trucks going from West Germany to Berlin.

The Soviet strategists are hammering away through their stooges in foreign countries with a propaganda that holds out to Germans the hope of reunification if they will abandon the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and agree to a neutral status as between the East and the West. Inside Germany there is some sympathy with the idea, and two former Nazis high up in the diplomatic service of the West German government are busily engaged in stratagems looking toward an eventual detachment of Germany from the West.

The maneuvers behind the scenes do not augur well for a four-power conference that can mean anything but a defeat for the West. The Russians are behaving like Hitler did. They think they have the democracies on the run, and they are pressing the advantage as they see defeatism developing under the guise of a so-called "peace" conference.

Does reduction of income tax in England mean it can happen over here?

Modern income taxation started in England in 1848. It was to be repealed in a year. Gladstone forgot to mention what year.

Dick (Perfect) Butler clipped the fringe off the financial cuffs. He's chancellor of the exchequer, custodian of the Queen's shilling and master of the budget pack. He rates an egg from the royal swans and does not have to uncover in the barber chair.

The English Socialists claim the reduction is a dirty conservative political gimmick to get votes. The chancellor has mine right now if he cares to stand for Parliament from umpire riding, Flatbush.

Looks like England is on the upbeat again while we're still down looking for the leak under the kitchen sink.

The English Socialists represent the third-seater on a bicycle built for two. Every time they win an election the country goes to pieces like a glass snake.

What makes the library paste all the drier is England's on its feet again after sitting out the depression dance. We still have bellows to mend. And our income tax flourisheth as the Green Bay tree.

Zeke Ezekial's Plug

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — The phone rings and the voice says "This is the Zeke Ezekial show, on WZZZ. Zeke would like you to go on the air to talk about your new book, 'Man Drinks Water Sometimes.' It's a great break for the book, I needn't tell you. Zeke rates well up there, as you probably know if you read Zit's. You probably saw him in the audience on the Pinky Lee show."

So you say, "Fine, I'd be thrilled." You wouldn't be, really, but the publicity department of the book publisher has called just a few minutes before and said, "What a break for the book! We've talked Zeke Ezekial into having you on the air to talk about it. You know what he did with the 18th microfilm edition of 'Gone with the Wind.' Gave it one plug on the air and it sold like hotcakes to libraries in towns under 400."

In time a young man comes to see you from Zeke Ezekial's office. Fine young man, actually. He's just breaking in and is eager to make good. But more than that he wants you to know that he's no greenhorn. He whips out a pad and says, "Well?" You say, alarmed, "Well, what?" And he says impatiently, "The book — whatever its name is. What about it? Start talking about it, so I can make some notes."

So you say, lost like, that you got the idea during the war in North Africa, when you couldn't get anything to drink except malted sterno, and, well, the book just simmered through the years, but finally the man from the Internal Revenue place needed some more money, quick, and so you wrote it, and a close relative at a publishing house took a chance and printed it.

"Did your mother come from Brooklyn or some place that will get a laugh?" the young man asks. You say no, sorry, and he's good enough to accept the apology. Then he asks you so many other questions you gain the idea that when you go on the air with Zeke it is going to be one of the longest programs since the last overnight telethon.

So the great day arrives and you show up at the Zeke Ezekial show, which is broadcast from a two-table hamburger joint off Broadway. You've practiced your lines and are repeating them, as if ir front of a mirror, when you suddenly run into one of the largest crowds outside of a bad accident. You try to wade through, because there's hardly time to meet Zeke before going on the air. Then you realize that the people you've been brushing aside are also guests on Zeke's program.

They are all much more important. One is a separated Siamese twin. Another is the poet laureate of the Burma Shave Company. A third repairs divots in ponies between chukkars during a polo match. A fourth, a college man, mends split infinitives. You watch the clock after all of them have been on the air and realize it's going to be a close squeeze so far as you are concerned.

Now it's exactly your time and Zeke says "Here he is, the author of 'Women Drink Wine Occasionally,' and now Mr. Constantino welcome to WZZZ and let's hear all about it. . ."

"Well, folks, it seems. . ."

"But first a word from our sponsor," Zeke cuts in, decisively.

There follows a considerable period devoted to commerce, concluded by Zeke who says, "Before we sign off, a word from John Caradine. Go on, quick. Say something."

"Well, folks. . ."

"And thank you, Joe Cassanova, well-known author of 'Children Prefer Milk.'"

You hang around later, waiting for phone calls from adoring fans. But nothing happens for a long time. Then, as a rule, the phone rings. You buff your nails as somebody answers it, knowing that somebody wants to tell you that you were dreamy. But, without fail, it is the wife of one of the engineers who leaves the following message: "Tell that bum to bring home a quart of milk for the baby."

Zeke? He went to El Morocco, leaving word at the door not to admit any guests.

Latent Virus Cause Of Cold Sores Coming And Going

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Cold sores have a tendency to come and go because the causative virus remains latent in the system between attacks. Certain events occur to reactivate the organism and presto, the sore returns. Some people are sure to sprout a lesion when they are exposed to wind or sun.

In others, the blisters are associated with a cold or other infection or a digestive upset. Still others are affected when they eat foods to which they are allergic or during menstruation or pregnancy. In a few, nervousness is a factor. In this respect, everyone differs.

Fever blisters may attack any area of the body but the most common sites are the lips, nose, mouth, and genitals. The eruption begins as a small, painful swelling that soon becomes a water blister surrounded by a red halo. Shortly thereafter, the blister ruptures and a sticky crust forms over it, which falls off in about a week.

Time honored remedies include camphor, alum, and tincture of benzoin. Various caustics also are popular, as well as bland ointments containing a small percentage of menthol or camphor. When ulcers are located in the mouth, a mouth wash containing aureomycin or terramycin and water may give relief if secondary infection is present.

Meanwhile, the problem of recurrences calls for study, to find the precipitating factor. If food allergy is responsible, the elimination of the offenders from the diet will help. When the person is sensitive to the sun, he should use a protective cream or stay out of Old Sol's way.

For better results, many physicians advise routine smallpox vaccinations once or twice a week for 6 to 12 vaccinations. It is believed that herpes and the smallpox viruses are second cousins and that the injections reduce the severity and frequency of the attacks. X-ray therapy also has been advocated.

Herpes zoster (shingles) is a more uncomfortable and severe form of the disease. While herpes simplex is allied to smallpox, zoster is closer to chicken pox. The ancient Greeks named the disease "girdle" because the eruption occurs along the course of the intercostal nerves. Usually only half the body is encircled, which accounts for the superstition that if the rash completely girdled the body, death would result.

Shingles is resistant to treatment but older remedies were aimed at relieving pain. The list included vitamin B, procaine, codein, aspirin, ethyl chloride spray, and protamide. In an attempt to knock out the causative virus, aureomycin, chloromycetin, smallpox vaccine, or flu vaccine has been used. More recent remedies are cortisone and banthine. Injections of sodium iodide and large doses of thiamine also have been recommended.

TOMORROW: Few isolation hospitals are needed.

FOOD AND GOUT

T. C. writes: Can a gouty person maintain good health, without medication, by eating properly?

REPLY

Yes, but some gouty persons have relapses even though they remain on a diet and do not overindulge in alcohol. Sometimes recurrences follow taking liver extract, chilling or exercise.

GULLET SPASM

Mrs. T. writes: I nearly choke to death from spasms of the esophagus. Is there any cure for this condition?

REPLY

There is no need to worry about choking to death because the windpipe, rather than the esophagus controls breathing. It goes to the stomach and when spasm occurs, pain and difficulty in swallowing are the usual manifestations. Cure is possible.

DENICOTINIZED

G. J. writes: How long after giving up cigarets will it take for the lungs to clear up? This person smoked a pack a day for five years.

REPLY

Cough disappears in three days to three years, depending upon the severity of the irritation.

BE MODERN

C. M. writes: Can a girl ruin her insides by playing basketball, making it impossible for her to have children later?

REPLY

Years ago the idea prevailed that girls should not indulge in athletics. We now know that exercise in the growing years helps rather than hinders proper development.

BRUCELLOSIS INFECTION

N. L. writes: Does pasteurization make milk safe against brucellosis?

REPLY

Yes, but infected milk is not the only way in which brucellosis can be transmitted. Pasteurization, however, is one cog in the wheel of prevention.

DIET IN EPILEPSY

J. L. writes: It is better for a person with epilepsy not to eat sweets?

REPLY

Diet has little to do with epilepsy. Years ago the ketogenic diet was popular. It included foods high in fat to promote body acidity.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Several doctors made a living out of this. Up in Maine for the summer, however, she suddenly ran into one old country doctor who wasn't having any of her nonsense.

"You couldn't possibly have this disease you say is destroying you," he told her gruffly. "In the first place, if you did have it, you'd never know it. It causes absolutely no pain or suffering whatever."

"Just as I suspected," crowed the rich lady triumphantly. "Those are my symptoms precisely!"

Meadow Music Brings Serenity

In the midst of cities' clanging cacophony and the noisy pounding of clattering machines, there is a place where one can find peace and solace and renew the sapped strength of heart and soul. Go into a green meadow one of these sun-bright May days when the grasses are blossoming.

In the golden sunlight countless small plants close to earth's breast are completing their annual growth and fruition cycle. Sit for a while beside a slow moving brook and wait until your ears are tuned to the small noises of the open.

There is unhurried, but rich and meaningful music these days in the meadows and lowlands. Uncounted myriads of small insects, untold numbers of honeybees, and many bumblebees are searching for the nectar and pollen that mean life itself to countless species of insect life. This is the primal symphony of earth; this is the deep-chord music of which many are unaware as they tread life's trail of years.

For tens of millions of years, grasses and flowers have been completing their cycles; for tens of millions of years the small forms of insect life have played their ordained role of carrying pollen from stamen to pistil.

Can you not hear that pulsing murmur of soft melody? It is low-pitched and steady, but if one listens closely he can hear strains of sweet melody that remind one of distant organ music. Perhaps from the distant grove there come the calls of young crows testing their voices.

But above and beyond all else, if one listens intently, he can hear the insistent, purposeful theme of the background chords in the meadow music made by myriad small wings. Meadow-music has not been recorded on man-made discs; but you can go to a meadow these days and make a personal recording that will bring serenity to a heart harassed by man-made discords.

These Days

The New Labor Debate

The current discussion over the guaranteed annual wage is really a phase of the effort on the part of those who originally organized the CIO to move another step forward in the building of a labor party in the United States. Each year produces a new issue; each year there must be a victory to keep the cadres of labor activism alive. This year, it is the guaranteed wage; next year it will be the 30-hour week; in 1960 it will be the candidacy of Walter Reuther for president.

American labor unions have not been successful as political parties. The Knights of Labor, the American Federation of Labor, the IWW, the CIO, the CIO-PAC, and the American Labor party each built strength among workers, but they did not succeed, when any of them tried, as a political party. The Americans for Democratic Action have had a measure of success by infiltrating both the Democratic and Republican parties.

A bill has been introduced in the Michigan Legislature (Senate Bill No. 1401) which provides that if a union has a compulsory membership (closed shop or union shop) it may not be a political party or operate in political causes. If, on the other hand, such a union wishes to operate politically, it must give up compulsory membership. The theory is that compulsory membership in a political party is fascism and is therefore repugnant to our institutions.

Under this bill, a union could not lawfully contribute to a political party or support a candidate for public office by financial contributions out of the union treasury. The provision on this subject in the Michigan bill reads as follows:

"No candidate or political committee shall accept or spend any money or any other thing or service of value obtained from or paid for in whole or in part by any organization which any person is required, as a condition of employment, to join, remain in, or support financially or otherwise."

Obviously this bill is a response to Walter Reuther's political machinations. His power has grown tremendously in recent years and it must be admitted that he has operated with rare skill. While the amalgamation of the AFL and the CIO gives the appearance of a great victory for the American Federation of Labor and for George Meany, its president, the acceptance of Walter Reuther as director of organization gives him the capacity to build a CIO factional group within the AFL. Labor leaders everywhere are conscious of Reuther's plan and purpose and they are setting out to clip his wings. In the forthcoming convention to complete the amalgamation, Reuther's strength will be tested.

However, should Reuther win the guaranteed annual wage in the automobile and related industries, every labor leader will be forced to follow him, because to the rank and file he will be an undisputed hero. The stakes are high, but Reuther is brash, courageous and a risk-taker. He undoubtedly assumes that as the capitalist tendency is to cut its losses and move ahead, one or the other of the big automobile companies will cave in rather than face a strike.

Another factor that is behind this move is the pressure of the left wing Ford local to win participation in the management of the company's welfare and pension funds.

Here then is a complex political as well as industrial situation which cannot be considered altogether on the basis of the virtues of the guaranteed annual wage. Involved is control of an industry, control of the newly amalgamated AFL-CIO, a prospective candidacy for the presidency and all packaged in the person of the ambitious Walter Reuther.

The English Socialists represent the third-seater on a bicycle built for two. Every time they win an election the country goes to pieces like a glass snake.

What makes the library paste all the drier is England's on its feet again after sitting out the depression dance. We still have bellows to mend. And our income tax flourisheth as the Green Bay tree.

Republican Gov. Knight Of California Woos And Wows Demo Labor Leaders

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Governor Goodwin Knight of California, Republican, once a darling of California big business, did an interesting thing while in the East for the governors' conference last week.

He spent his time not in kowtowing to the White House or to various senators or to other governors. He spent a good part of his time making friends where the Republicans badly need friends — with labor. He had a breakfast, a dinner, and a lunch with the top labor leaders in the capital, then went to Philadelphia for a meeting with labor leaders of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware.

Furthermore, he wowed 'em.

Remarked Dick Grey, head of the Building and Construction Trades Union: "Heres' a man that could well run for president."

While Grey has supported Republicans in the past — though dead against Eisenhower — other lifelong Democratic labor leaders seemed highly impressed with the Republican governor of California. Among them was Joe McComb of the Retail Clerks Local 1360 of Camden, N. J., also director of the combined AFL-CIO Political League for New Jersey.

"Why can't we have some good Republicans like this?" he remarked. And he fingered his rosary while having his picture taken with the governor, hoping, he said, that it was not just a dream.

White House Luncheon

Earlier in the week, Governor Knight lunched at the White House with glum, tight-lipped Sherman Adams, the man who really runs things in the Eisenhower administration. Adams looks down his nose at most people who don't come from New England, and Knight was no exception. Adams acted as if the governor, who is a great story teller, were a sort of Republican Al Jolson from California

"Where did you study law?" Adams asked.

"At Stanford and Cornell."

"Where did you live at Cornell?"

"At the Alpha Delta Phi house."

Gradually the governor of California appeared to be more acceptable to the ex-governor of New Hampshire who now runs the White House.

"How did you get such a big majority when you ran in California?" Adams asked.

"I got the endorsement of labor," and Knight went on to tell how the top labor leaders not only endorsed him but raised money for his campaign. He indicated that other Republicans who wanted to win might follow his example.

Governor Knight did not, however, go into detail regarding his highly significant labor conferences in Washington. If he had, Adams' friend, Vice President Richard Nixon, another Californian, might have had a fit.

Beck To Schnitzler

For Knight had dinner with Bill Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, the No. 2 man to President George Meany. He also breakfasted with Jim McDevitt, head of the AFL Labor League for Political Rights. And he drove to Philadelphia in the car of Jim Suffridge, secretary of the Retail Clerks. Finally he had an hour's conference with Dave Beck, head of the Teamsters' Union, in the latter's shiny new office in the Teamsters' gleaming marble Taj Mahal built right under the nose of Congress.

The Washington lunch with Knight was attended by about twenty of the top AFL brass, including Dick Grey, head of the Building Services (janitors, elevator operators); Vernon Housewright head of the Retail Clerks; Jim Suffridge, also of the Retail Clerks; Jim Brownlow and Bob Gridda, both of the Metal Trades; John Sweeney of the West Coast Teamsters; Bill Griffen of the miscellaneous division of Teamsters; William Deo of the Building Trades.

One question labor leaders were emphatic about was that they would not have any part of the Republican ticket if Nixon was on it, either as president or vice president. The one heart-beat separating the vice president from the President, they said, was too uncertain, especially when the President is well over sixty.

Governor Knight was surprisingly frank in his views on Nixon during the Washington luncheon. He made it clear that some top California political leaders share labor's view on Nixon and that Nixon would not control a single vote in the California delegation at the Republican convention in 1956.

Right-To-Work Bill

In Philadelphia, where about fifty labor leaders met with Knight at the Warwick Hotel, Governor Knight was noncommittal about Nixon. But he was emphatic in his opposition to the right-to-work bill in California.

"If they manage to get the bill on the ballot under that deceptive name," he promised, "I will stump the stage against it."

He referred to the fact that the so-called "right-to-work" bill is actually aimed at preventing a union shop.

The governor was also emphatic in favoring increased unemployment compensation and modification of the California Jurisdictional Act which recognizes phony unions. He was also for rigorous enforcement of the Walsh-Healy Act.

Those who met with him in Philadelphia included labor's top brass from Atlantic City, Camden, N. J., and Reading, Pa., with Al Savan, president, and Norman Blomberg, business manager of Philadelphia's Central Labor Union Council; Joe McDonough, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor; Jack Backus, chairman of the Teamsters Joint Council; Bud Lavin, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council, Ed Hartsou, also of the Teamsters; Bill Ross of the International Ladies Garment Workers; and Harry Finks of the Los Angeles Central Labor Union Council.

NOTE 1—Governor Knight also held an interesting meeting with labor leaders in Seattle and will hold another in Chicago in about a month.

NOTE 2—Few Republican candidates had labor endorsement in the last election. Knight and Patterson of Oregon did, and won. Governor Hall of Kansas was friendly to labor. The Democrats, who for the most part got sweeping labor endorsements, picked up seven new governorships last November.

Zeke Ezekial's Plug

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — The phone rings and the voice says "This is the Zeke Ezekial show, on WZZZ. Zeke would like you to go on the air to talk about your new book, 'Man Drinks Water Sometimes.' It's a great break for the book, I needn't tell you. Zeke rates well up there, as you probably know if you read Zit's. You probably saw him in the audience on the Pinky Lee show."

So you say, "Fine, I'd be thrilled." You wouldn't be, really, but the publicity department of the book publisher has called just a few minutes before and said, "What a break for the book! We've talked Zeke Ezekial into having you on the air to talk about it. You know what he did with the 18th microfilm edition of 'Gone with the Wind.' Gave it one plug on the air and it sold like hotcakes to libraries in towns under 400."

In time a young man comes to see you from Zeke Ezekial's office. Fine young man, actually. He's just breaking in and is eager to make good. But more than that he wants you to know that he's no greenhorn. He whips out a pad and says, "Well?" You say, alarmed, "Well, what?" And he says impatiently, "The book — whatever its name is. What about it? Start talking about it, so I can make some notes."

So you say, lost like, that you got the idea during the war in North Africa, when you couldn't get anything to drink except malted sterno, and, well, the book just simmered through the years, but finally the man from the Internal Revenue place needed some more money, quick, and so you wrote it, and a close relative at a publishing house took a chance and printed it.

"Did your mother come from Brooklyn or some place that will get a laugh?" the young man asks. You say no, sorry, and he's good enough to accept the apology. Then he asks you so many other questions you gain the idea that when you go on the air with Zeke it is going to be one of the longest programs since the last overnight telethon.

So the great day arrives and you show up at the Zeke Ezekial show, which is broadcast from a two-table hamburger joint off Broadway. You've practiced your lines and are repeating them, as if in front of a mirror, when you suddenly run into one of the largest crowds outside of a bad accident. You try to wade through, because there's hardly time to meet Zeke before going on the air. Then you realize that the people you've been brushing aside are also guests on Zeke's program.

They are all much more important. One is a separated Siamese twin. Another is the poet laureate of the Burma Shave Company. A third repairs divots in ponies between chukkars during a polo match. A fourth, a college man, mends split infinitives. You watch the clock after all of them have been on the air and realize it's going to be a close squeeze so far as you are concerned.

Now it's exactly your time and Zeke says "Here he is, the author of 'Women Drink Wine Occasionally,' and now Mr. Constantino welcome to WZZZ and let's hear all about it. . ."

"Well, folks, it seems. . ."

"But first a word from our sponsor," Zeke cuts in, decisively.

There follows a considerable period devoted to commerce, concluded by Zeke who says, "Before we sign off, a word from John Caradine. Go on, quick. Say something."

"And thank you, Joe Cassanova, well-known author of 'Children Prefer Milk.'"

You hang around later, waiting for phone calls from adoring fans. But nothing happens for a long time. Then, as a rule, the phone rings. You buff your nails as somebody answers it, knowing that somebody wants to tell you that you were dreamy. But, without fail, it is the wife of one of the engineers who leaves the following message: "Tell that bum to bring home a quart of milk for the baby."

Zeke? He went to El Morocco, leaving word at the door not to admit any guests.

Latent Virus Cause Of Cold Sores Coming And Going

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Cold sores have a tendency to come and go because the causative virus remains latent in the system between attacks. Certain events occur to reactivate the organism and presto, the sore returns. Some people are sure to sprout a lesion when they are exposed to wind or sun.

In others, the blisters are associated with a cold or other infection or a digestive upset. Still others are affected when they eat foods to which they are allergic or during menstruation or pregnancy. In a few, nervousness is a factor. In this respect, everyone differs.

Fever blisters may attack any area of the body but the most common sites are the lips, nose, mouth, and genitals. The eruption begins as a small, painful swelling that soon becomes a water blister surrounded by a red halo. Shortly thereafter, the blister ruptures and a sticky crust forms over it, which falls off in about a week.

Time honored remedies include camphor, alum, and tincture of benzoin. Various caustics also are popular, as well as bland ointments containing a small percentage of menthol or camphor. When ulcers are located in the mouth, a mouth wash containing aureomycin or terramycin and water may give relief if secondary infection is present.

Meanwhile, the problem of recurrences calls for study, to find the precipitating factor. If food allergy is responsible, the elimination of the offenders from the diet will help. When the person is sensitive to the sun, he should use a protective cream or stay out of Old Sol's way.

For better results, many physicians advise routine smallpox vaccinations once or twice a week for 6 to 12 vaccinations. It is believed that herpes and the smallpox viruses are second cousins and that the injections reduce the severity and frequency of the attacks. X-ray therapy also has been advocated.

Herpes zoster (shingles) is a more uncomfortable and severe form of the disease. While herpes simplex is allied to smallpox, zoster is closer to chicken pox. The ancient Greeks named the disease "girdle" because the eruption occurs along the course of the intercostal nerves. Usually only half the body is encircled, which accounts for the superstition that if the rash completely girdled the body, death would result.

Shingles is resistant to treatment but older remedies were aimed at relieving pain. The list included vitamin B, procaine, codein, aspirin, ethyl chloride spray, and protamide. In an attempt to knock out the causative virus, aureomycin, chloromycetin, smallpox vaccine, or flu vaccine has been used. More recent remedies are cortisone and banthine. Injections of sodium iodide and large doses of thiamine also have been recommended.

TOMORROW: Few isolation hospitals are needed.

FOOD AND GOUT

T. C. writes: Can a gouty person maintain good health, without medication, by eating properly?

REPLY

Yes, but some gouty persons have relapses even though they remain on a diet and do not overindulge in alcohol. Sometimes recurrences follow taking liver extract, chilling or exercise.

GULLET SPASM

Mrs. T. writes: I nearly choke to death from spasms of the esophagus. Is there any cure for this condition?

REPLY

There is no need to worry about choking to death because the windpipe, rather than the esophagus controls breathing. It goes to the stomach and when spasm occurs, pain and difficulty in swallowing are the usual manifestations. Cure is possible.

DENICOTINIZED

G. J. writes: How long after giving up cigarets will it take for the lungs to clear up? This person smoked a pack a day for five years.

REPLY

Cough disappears in three days to three years, depending upon the severity of the irritation.

BE MODERN

C. M. writes: Can a girl ruin her insides by playing basketball, making it impossible for her to have children later?

REPLY

Years ago the idea prevailed that girls should not indulge in athletics. We now know that exercise in the growing years helps rather than hinders proper development.

BRUCELLOSIS INFECTION

N. L. writes: Does pasteurization make milk safe against brucellosis?

REPLY

Yes, but infected milk is not the only way in which brucellosis can be transmitted. Pasteurization, however, is one cog in the wheel of prevention.

DIET IN EPILEPSY

J. L. writes: It is better for a person with epilepsy not to eat sweets?

REPLY

Diet has little to do with epilepsy. Years ago the ketogenic diet was popular. It included foods high in fat to promote body acidity.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A very rich lady loved to read a certain magazine because every month it gave the details of a rare new disease, which she immediately imagined she was suffering from herself. Several doctors made a living out of this. Up in Maine for the summer, however, she suddenly ran into one old country doctor who wasn't having any of her nonsense.

"You couldn't possibly have this disease you say is destroying you," he told her gruffly. "In the first place, if you did have it, you'd never know it. It causes absolutely no pain or suffering whatever."

"Just as I suspected," crowed the rich lady triumphantly. "Those are my symptoms precisely!"

Father, 3 Sons Held For Attack On 2 Policemen

Special Grand Jury To Probe Charges

KINGWOOD, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—A father and three sons now in the Preston County jail charged with assault on two police officers will have their cases presented to a special grand jury here Thursday.

Judge Melvin C. Snyder said today he has called a Preston County grand jury to convene Thursday and will make presentments to it against John Miller Sr., and his sons, John Jr., Otis and Earl.

The four allegedly attacked State Trooper John E. Coleman and Deputy Sheriff Robert L. Collins Friday night when the officers were called to the Silver Circle tavern to break up a fight.

Officers called to the tavern, about one mile east of Kingwood, after the attack on Coleman and Collins said the four had fled to a heavily wooded section close by and after a four-hour search were rounded up and taken to the Preston County jail.

Four troopers from the Morgantown Detachment of State Police rushed to the scene after the attack was reported.

Neither Coleman nor Collins required hospital treatment, although Coleman was reported to have suffered a severe head injury when hit with a bar stool.

Judge Snyder said a petit jury has been summoned for Tuesday, May 17, and the case will be tried before it if the grand jury returns an indictment.

Scene From Beall High Play

This is a scene from the three-act play, "January Thaw," which will be presented by Beall Dramatic Club Friday at 8 p. m. in Beall High auditorium. In the photo, Mr. Gage, played by Joel Downey, is attempting to work on his new book while his two daughters, Paula and Sarah, played by Frances Brode and Barbara Montana provide some unwanted competition. Mr. Gage is being comforted by his wife, played by Janet Walters. R. Thomas Hutcheson is director.

W.Va. House Studies Two License Bills

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—House Judiciary Committee approved today a pair of bills to rewrite West Virginia's store license laws.

The bills were introduced at the outset of the special session of the Legislature yesterday by Dels. Goshorn (D-Kanawha) and Watson (D-Marion).

They are substantially the same as measures which passed the House at the regular session but died in a Senate committee.

Among other things, the bills would do away with the present assortment of multiple licenses which a single business often must obtain. They would be replaced by a single store license at $25 a year.

An amendment by the Judiciary Committee today, however, would make the license fee only $5 for stores whose gross annual business is less than $10,000 and $25 for others.

Cross 4-H Club Plans Field Day

KEYSER — The Cross Senior 4-H Club, in a meeting held recently made arrangements for the annual Field Day to be held next Saturday at Headsville. William H. Gilmore, president of the club, conducted the meeting, which was opened with the singing of "West Virginia Boys and Girls" and the 4-H Pledge was given. Peggy Ashby led in the singing. Roll call was conducted by Secretary Sheila Wilt, and each member answered by naming a tree, after which Janet Bean read the Scripture. Helen Shrout led the group in singing "West Virginia Hills."

Following the treasurer's report of money on hand, the club was informed that the sewing machine recently purchased for use of two local 4-H clubs, cost $40. The meeting was closed with prayer.

May Queen Lists Court At Barton

BARTON—The annual May Day program of Barton School will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the school with the coronation of a May Queen and presentation of the Queen's Court.

Fifty Children Receive First Communion At St. Michael's

FROSTBURG — Fifty first graders of Saint Michael's Parochial School received their first Holy Communion Sunday at the 9 o'clock Mass in Saint Michael's Catholic Church. The Rev. Patrick J. Bradley, pastor, was celebrant and administered the Holy Eucharist to the children, who entered the Sanctuary and knelt at a special Communion table for the reception of the Sacrament.

The Children's Choir sang selected hymns with Sister Maria Goretti, director and organist. The altars were adorned with large vases of pink and white flowers and lighted candles. Parents of the first Communicants also received Holy Communion.

The members of the first Communion class were: Regis Arnold, William Arnone, George Bennett, Dane Eberly, Arthur Femi, William Grimm, Clifford Henstock, Michael Kenney, Paul Kenny, Michael Kidwell, Edward Langan, Robert Layton, James Malloy, Lawrence Malloy, Richard Mastrino, Lawrence Michaels, Lawrence Minnick, Timothy O'Rourke, Robert Pressman, Ronald Robertson, William Spataro, Joseph Struntz, Boyd Wilhelm, Nancy Brady, Ellen Brode, Karen Clise, Jeanne Flanigan, Eleanor Keating, Noreen Keating, Kathryn Kirby, Phyllis Layton, Bridget McDonald, Carol McKay, Linda Michaels, Regina Minnick, Donna Morgan, Karen Moran, Darlene Rafferty, Rose Solomon, Patricia Spataro, Mary Sullivan, Patricia Souger, Elizabeth Vogel, Ann Weddle, Judith Weitzell, Margaret Wilburn, Jerryetta Wilhelm, Mary Ann Williams, Carol Winebrenner and Bonnie Youngerman.

The annual May procession of the students of the parish school was held Sunday at 3 p. m. in the church with approximately four hundred children participating. Miss Judith Fabbri, of the eighth grade, was May Queen and crowned the statue of the Blessed Mother as the children sang, "O, Mary, We Crown Thee With Blossoms Today." Miss Fabbri wore a long white gown and veil. Miss Johanna Lowery, who read the Act of Consecration, was attired in a blue gown with silver trimming. Maids of honor, wearing pastel colored gowns, were Mary T. Arnone, Dorothy Bolt, Barbara Boyle, Darlene Brenneman, Mary Broadwater, Kathleen Clise, Mary Delaney, Janet Kopper, Frances Malamphy, Martha McKenzie, Wilda McKenzie, Joan Michaels, Paula Morgan, Margaret Phillips, Georgeanna Pryor, Kathleen Rafferty, Margaret Seifarth, Virginia Snyder, Frances Stanton, Mary Stanton and Margaret Twigg. Train bearers, attired in white, were Linda Michaels and Karen Clise; crown bearer, also wearing white, Anna Weddle, and statue bearers, Richard Harvey, Edward Rafferty, Patrick Lynch and Francis Patton.

Rev. Regis F. Larkin conducted the Novena prayers and Rev. Francis E. Montgomery delivered the sermon. Solemn benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was held with the Rev. Patrick J. Brady, celebrant; Father Montgomery, deacon and Father Larkin, subdeacon.

Birth Is Announced

Father, 3 Sons Held For Attack On 2 Policemen

Special Grand Jury To Probe Charges

KINGWOOD, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—A father and three sons now in the Preston County jail charged with assault on two police officers will have their cases presented to a special grand jury here Thursday.

Judge Melvin C. Snyder said today he has called a Preston County grand jury to convene Thursday and will make presentments to it against John Miller Sr., and his sons, John Jr., Otis and Earl.

The four allegedly attacked State Trooper John E. Coleman and Deputy Sheriff Robert L. Collins Friday night when the officers were called to the Silver Circle tavern to break up a fight.

Officers called to the tavern, about one mile east of Kingwood, after the attack on Coleman and Collins said the four had fled to a heavily wooded section close by and after a four-hour search were rounded up and taken to the Preston County jail.

Four troopers from the Morgantown Detachment of State Police rushed to the scene after the attack was reported.

Neither Coleman nor Collins required hospital treatment, although Coleman was reported to have suffered a severe head injury when hit with a bar stool.

Judge Snyder said a petit jury has been summoned for Tuesday, May 17, and the case will be tried before it if the grand jury returns an indictment.

Scene From Beall High Play

This is a scene from the three-act play, "January Thaw," which will be presented by Beall Dramatic Club Friday at 8 p. m. in Beall High auditorium. In the photo, Mr. Gage, played by Joel Downey, is attempting to work on his new book while his two daughters, Paula and Sarah, played by Frances Brode and Barbara Montana provide some unwanted competition. Mr. Gage is being comforted by his wife, played by Janet Walters. R. Thomas Hutcheson is director.

Kreiling Heads Lab School PTA

FROSTBURG—Alvin G. Kreiling was elected president of the Parent-Teacher Association of Laboratory School of Frostburg State Teachers College at the final meeting of the school year.

Others elected were William Grimm, vice president; Betty Taylor, secretary, and Betty Lancaster, treasurer. A film, "Family Circle," was shown.

Seaman On Cruise

W.Va. House Studies Two License Bills

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—House Judiciary Committee approved today a pair of bills to rewrite West Virginia's store license laws.

The bills were introduced at the outset of the special session of the Legislature yesterday by Dels. Goshorn (D-Kanawha) and Watson (D-Marion).

They are substantially the same as measures which passed the House at the regular session but died in a Senate committee.

Among other things, the bills would do away with the present assortment of multiple licenses which a single business often must obtain. They would be replaced by a single store license at $25 a year.

An amendment by the Judiciary Committee today, however, would make the license fee only $5 for stores whose gross annual business is less than $10,000 and $25 for others.

Cross 4-H Club Plans Field Day

KEYSER — The Cross Senior 4-H Club, in a meeting held recently made arrangements for the annual Field Day to be held next Saturday at Headsville. William H. Gilmore, president of the club, conducted the meeting, which was opened with the singing of "West Virginia Boys and Girls" and the 4-H Pledge was given. Peggy Ashby led in the singing. Roll call was conducted by Secretary Sheila Wilt, and each member answered by naming a tree, after which Janet Bean read the Scripture. Helen Shrout led the group in singing "West Virginia Hills."

Following the treasurer's report of money on hand, the club was informed that the sewing machine recently purchased for use of two local 4-H clubs, cost $40. The meeting was closed with prayer.

Scientist Says Rainmaking Can Be Dangerous

ALBUQUERQUE, May 10 (AP) — Dr. Irving Langmuir, who pioneered man's efforts to make it rain, believes that rainmaking can be dangerous and experiments should be moved to the South Pacific.

Langmuir, a Nobel Prize winner and researcher for General Electric, said he personally believed the Kansas River floods in the Missouri Valley in July 1951, in which 41 died, were caused by an armed forces experiment in rainmaking.

Langmuir headed the scientific staff of the experiment, Project Cirrus, but said he was unable to prevail upon the military administrators of the project to stop seeding the clouds until it was too late.

A hurricane which struck Savannah, Ga., Oct. 17, 1947, doing five million dollars damage, also may have been pushed into the city by man, Langmuir said in an interview. He said the hurricane swerved 120 degrees from its course off the coast and slammed into the city after being seeded by an Air Force plane. Langmuir said the chances against the hurricane changing course naturally were 7,000 to 1.

Another possible ill effect of rainmaking, he said, is that it may create drought in one area while increasing rainfall in another.

Tests with a single silver iodide generator in New Mexico in 1949 increased rainfall in sections of the Southeast 220 per cent, while the Southwest had its driest period in 30 years, he said.

Russian People Guarded By Two "Iron Curtains"

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The trouble with trying to get any message through to the Russian people, the tall, military looking man was saying, is that they're guarded by not one, but two, Iron Curtains.

And yet, as program editor for the Russian unit of the U.S. radio in Munich, it's Kazys V. Grinius' job to try to reach them, somehow, every day.

"You see," he said, "usually the Iron Curtain is looked upon as something to cut them off from all knowledge of what we are doing. Well, that is true.

"But also there is another Iron Curtain, to cut them off from knowing what the Soviet government really is doing. We try to show the Russian people what their government has done to religious groups, such as the Jews, and what happened in Poland.

"The official line is always the same, that the Poles, and other countries, chose communism freely. We tell them the truth."

Grinius, son of a onetime prime minister of Lithuania, was a colonel in the Lithuanian army. He fled to this country in 1941, and about all he brought with him was the ability to speak five languages, none of them English.

He caught on with a group handling Lithuanian problems in this country. "Did you know that the largestLithuanian city in the world is not in Lithuania?" he asked. "No, it's Chicago."

Five years ago he went with the Voice of America in New York, and gradually worked his way up. Now he's on leave, and he and his wife expect to get their first long look at the West coast of their adopted country, plus some time visiting their son, who is working for a Ph. D degree at Oberlin College in Ohio.

"My son is in music, the piano," he said. "He's pretty good. He is studying music appreciation." The onetime pride of the Lithuanian army thought that over for a moment. "In Europe," he said, "he'd starve."

This country's propaganda attempts have been called wasteful, blundering and ineffective by some critics. And Grinius readily admits that in a business like this it's hard to tell if you're doing a good job.

So he's glad that the Russian newspapers blast his programs, and that the Soviets try to jam Munich's signal so it can't be heard.

"I don't think they would work so hard if we weren't succeeding," he said. "I think we're hitting the target area."

Here someone mentioned fishing. Instantly, Grinius came alert.

"After talking all week, I love to be alone," he said. "So I go fishing. Trout, mostly. And last year, I almost caught a huchen. It's a big one, the huchen, like a salmon. I had only a light rod and an eight-pound line, and all of a sudden, it hit. A monster! It must have weighed 40 pounds.

"The line didn't hold, of course. Ah, I remember the exact time. At 6:15 p.m. the 7th of August, 1954. I almost got my huchen.

"Well, I will get him yet."

And you got the idea that regardless of the odds, or whether it is trying to land a huchen or dropping ideas on the Russians, the colonel will remain stubbornly optimistic.

When two people are always in an argument, they are said to be at loggerheads. A loggerhead is a large marine turtle.

LaSalle Tests Fort Hill In Crucial Intra-City Contest

Sentinels Can Capture Title With Victory

Stitcher Field Scene Of Action; Markley, Roberts May Twirl

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High School Sentinels could sew up the city baseball championship if they defeat the LaSalle Explorers in the finale of their series today at 4 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

On the other hand, LaSalle could tie the Greenway Avenue tossers for first place in the city race by upsetting the Sentinels today. If this occurs the outcome of the city race will hinge on the results of the Allegany-LaSalle and Allegany-Fort Hill contests. Last year the schools finished in a triple tie with 2-2 records.

Here's how the teams now stand:

	W	L	Pct.
Fort Hill	2	0	1.000
LaSalle	1	1	.500
Allegany	0	2	.000

In addition to the city championship race, Fort Hill and LaSalle are also in the thick of the fight for the Bi-State Conference crown. Fort Hill heads the race with an 8-1 record while LaSalle occupies the runner-up spot with six wins and two losses. Both teams take six-game winning streaks into today's battle. A Fort Hill win would up the Cavanaughmen's league lead to 2½ games while a LaSalle victory would put the Explorers only a half game out of first place.

Markley vs. Roberts

Jesse Markley (5-0) and Lefty Bill Roberts (3-1) are expected to be the opposing twirlers in today's game. These twirlers hooked up on April 15 in the series opener and Markley was the winner, 4-3.

Two other Bi-State contests are slated today. Beall, occupant of third place, a game back of LaSalle, invades Flintstone to play the Aggies, who have lost six in a row, and Allegany, now in the .500 class with four wins and four losses, invades Barton to play Valley High School. These games are set for 3:30.

Romney Visits Keyser

Keyser High's unbeaten nine with eight wins to its credit plays host to the Romney High Pioneers today. If Keyser can whip Romney today and beat the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney on Thursday it will complete the Potomac Valley Conference campaign with a 10-0 record. Moorefield (9-0) also can windup its league campaign with a 10-0 mark if victorious at Franklin on Thursday. Keyser holds a 3-2 decision over Romney and Moorefield defeated Franklin 11-2.

Manager Is Sought For Mt. Savage Team

MT. SAVAGE, May 10—A manager and assistant are sought for one of the four teams in the Mt. Savage Little League and those interested are requested to attend a league meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Fire Hall.

The teams in the league are the Firemen, Lions, Vets and Town.

Fight At Chicago

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Bob Satterfield, who knocks out his man or gets knocked out, figures to have another short bout against Archie McBride of Trenton, N. J., in their 10-round heavyweight match at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The bout will be televised nationally (9 p. m. EST CBS).

Pirates' Big 8th Beats Braves, 9-6

MILWAUKEE, May 10 (AP) — Rookie Gene Freese's grand slam homer, sandwiched between four other runs in a wild eighth inning, gave the Pittsburgh Pirates their fourth straight victory over Milwaukee tonight, 9-6.

The eighth was a family affair for the Freeses. Third baseman George Freese drilled a two-run single which put the Pirates one run ahead. A moment later younger brother Gene smacked a 380-foot homer over left centerfield fence, his fourth homer of the year and his first grand slammer in the majors.

One more run came in on a wild pitch and another was walked in before the Braves could get that third out.

FROSTBURG, May 10—Manager Niles Sperry has called the first practice of Farrady Post's junior American Legion baseball team for Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Frostburg Ball Park.

All boys residing in the district comprising Frostburg, Midlothian, Eckhart, Hoffman, Clarysville, Mt. Savage and below Mt. Savage are eligible to play for the Frostburg team.

Competition is open only to boys born September 1, 1937, or thereafter.

Milavec Clouts Three Home Runs For Elk Garden

ELK GARDEN, May 10—Tommy Milavec, first baseman of Elk Garden High School hit three home runs today, each coming with a teammate on base, as Coach Paul Kalbaugh's Elks defeated the West Virginia School for the Deaf in a Potomac Valley Conference game by the score of 10-3.

The sophomore infielder hit his round trippers in the first, third and fifth inning and was credited with batting in six of the 10 runs. Paul Tasker also hit a two-run homer in the 6th frame.

Teddy Bennett Crowned LaVale Marbles Champ

Cresaptown Tourney Scheduled Thursday

Teddy Bennett won the marbles championship of LaVale School yesterday afternoon after triumphing over Jimmy Twigg who had also battled his way to the finals in preliminary and semi-finals games. The other two semi-finalists were Robert O'Baker and Danny Anglin. Wally Harshbarger, last year's LaVale champion, lost out in the quarter finals.

In a series of games directed by Miss Margaret Beck, fourth grade teacher at LaVale, a field of 50 contestants was reduced to 14 quarter finalists for yesterdays games refereed by William E. Kelly and J. William Hunt, of the Times-News which sponsors the Greater Cumberland Marbles Tournament and pays the expenses of the area champion to Asbury Park, N.J., June 19 to 25 during the National Marbles Tournament.

Preliminary ring winners were Dale Grahame, Jimmy Willetts, Charles Hatfield, Wayne DeHart, Chester Gordon, Tommy Pryor, Boyd Mason, Ray Shroyer and Ray Merrill.

Bennett defeated O'Baker and Twigg vanquished Anglin to reach the finals where Bennett won 7-4.

There are no games today. Cresaptown finals are tomorrow and SS. Peter and Paul on Friday.

Next week Gephart and Carver both play on Monday; Corrigansville and Mt. Royal Tuesday; West Side Wednesday and Fort Hill Thursday. No games are scheduled May 20 as that is Sixth Grade visiting day at Allegany and Fort Hill.

The area finals June 7, when 24 school champs "shoot it out" at Gephart Playground, Frederick Street, will decide who gets the $150 free trip to the Atlantic Ocean resort of Asbury Park to play for the gold marbles crown of the United States.

Indians Trounce Yankees, 9-6

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP) — The free-swinging Cleveland Indians batted the New York Yankees with 14 hits tonight—including a single, double and home run by Dave Pope—while Bob Lemon claimed his sixth victory 9-6 with the help of Don Mossi.

The defeat dumped the Yanks to third place, three games behind the pace-setting Tribe and a length behind the Chicago White Sox, who beat Boston 4-2.

Mrs. Frederic Eiler Cops Point Tourney

Mrs. Frederic W. Eiler won the point tournament held yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club by the Women's Golf Association.

Mrs. Eiler scored 31 points to lead a field of 36 players. A prize went to the winner.

Tied for runner-up honors were Mrs. Lynn Lashley and Mrs. Richard Kendall with 30 points each.

Mrs. G. William Bibby turned in low gross score of 81.

The women's spring handicap tourney will get under way Tuesday and all members desiring to play must register at the golf shop by Sunday. First round matches are set for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Handicaps are based on the last ten scores of 1954.

Chicago Sox Homers Beat Boston, 4-2

Carrasquel, Rivera, Kell Hit 4-Baggers

BOSTON, May 10 (AP) — Chicago turned to home runs by George Kell, Jim Rivera and Chico Carrasquel for all its runs today to hand Boston its fifth straight defeat, 4-2.

Kell's two-run homer in the eighth broke a tie and gave Harry Dorish, second of three White Sox hurlers, his first triumph of the year.

Hard-luck Tom Brewer of the Red Sox was charged with his fifth loss without victory as the victim of the long range assault. Brewer had dropped earlier decisions by 6-4, 1-0, 2-1 and 3-2 scores. He was relieved by Ellis Kinder in the ninth but the damage had been done.

Down 2-0 in the early innings, Chicago bounced back starting with Rivera's first homer of the season to lead off the seventh. The ball traveled over the 380 foot sign in right field into the bleachers.

Shepherd Tops Potomac State In Tenth, 9-7

Ray Riordon Beats Cats Second Time; Rams Get 16 Hits

KEYSER, May 10—Shepherd College pushed over two runs in the tenth inning to defeat Potomac State College's baseball team here today by the score of 9-7.

The victory was the seventh in nine outings for the Rams and gave Coach Cletus Lowe's aggregation a sweep of its season series with the Catamounts.

Ray Riordon, tall righthander of Washington, D. C., who turned back Potomac State on April 30 by the score of 18-2, turned the trick again today.

In the 7th inning Potomac State took the lead at 7-6 by scoring three runs. Bob Sirk doubled over two of the tallies and Bob Connelly's single produced the other.

The Rams tied the score in the 8th and sewed up the game in the extra inning on three hits coupled with a sacrifice and an error. Tom Palamar started the winning rally with a single and moved to second on Bob Fischer's sacrifice. After Charles "Ace" Emery fanned, Johnny Pratico singled home Palamar with what proved to be the winning marker. An error by Buckbee, centerfielder, followed by Graham Dill's single and Bob Sirk's wild pitch netted the final run.

Bob Sirk went the route for the Catamounts despite a blister on his pitching hand which developed after he was struck as he fouled off one of Riordon's offerings. The Romney lad fanned 10 but was nicked for 16 hits Palamar had four safeties and Emery and Dill connected for three blows each. Bill Sirk walloped a homer for Potomac in the first inning and accounted for three of the losers' 10 safeties. Riordon struck out five.

In dropping its tenth game of the season against four wins Potomac State was charged with nine fielding bobbles.

Potomac's Saturday games at Morris Harvey and West Virginia Tech have been cancelled. Box:

Capon Bridge Wins Eighth

Towles' Team Belts Paw Paw High, 25-0

CAPON BRIDGE, May 10—Capon Bridge teed off on three Paw Paw pitchers for 16 hits today and took advantage of five errors and seven bases on balls to swamp the Pirates today by the score of 25-0.

The victory was the eighth in ten starts for Coach Cliff Towles' tossers who racked up nine runs in the third inning and eleven markers in the fifth.

Clarence Saville notched his fourth consecutive pitching triumph, yielding five hits while his strikeout victims totaled 14. The Capon Bridge ace's record is now 7-1.

Saville sparked the attack with a triple, double and single, Ronnie Alkire garnered a double and two singles and Jack Grapes had three one-base knocks to his credit. Bill Patterson and Allen Woods shared four of the losers' five bingles. Box:

Tommy Burns, Former Ring Champ, Dies

Beat Root For Title, Lost To Jack Johnson

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 10 (AP) — Tommy Burns, world heavyweight boxing champion from 1906 to 1908, died in a hospital here Tuesday. He was 74.

The colorful oldtimer came here a few days ago from his home at Coalinga, Calif., to enter a religious order. He collapsed during the morning, apparently from a heart attack, and died a few hours later.

He is survived by his widow.

Burns won the championship from Marvin Root in a 20-round bout at Los Angeles Feb. 23, 1906. He lost it to Jack Johnson at Dydney, Australia, the police halting the fierce battle in the 14th round.

Canadian - born Burns had a stormy career. He dropped the championship after 11 fights, some lasting only one round.

Central Lunch Wins Rec Loop Tilt, 16-7

LaSalle Tests Fort Hill In Crucial Intra-City Contest

Sentinels Can Capture Title With Victory

Stitcher Field Scene Of Action; Markley, Roberts May Twirl

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High School Sentinels could sew up the city baseball championship if they defeat the LaSalle Explorers in the finale of their series today at 4 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

On the other hand, LaSalle could tie the Greenway Avenue tossers for first place in the city race by upsetting the Sentinels today. If this occurs the outcome of the city race will hinge on the results of the Allegany-LaSalle and Allegany-Fort Hill contests. Last year the schools finished in a triple tie with 2-2 records.

Here's how the teams now stand:

	W	L	Pct.
Fort Hill	2	0	1.000
LaSalle	1	1	.500
Allegany	0	2	.000

In addition to the city championship race, Fort Hill and LaSalle are also in the thick of the fight for the Bi-State Conference crown. Fort Hill heads the race with an 8-1 record while LaSalle occupies the runner-up spot with six wins and two losses. Both teams take six-game winning streaks into today's battle. A Fort Hill win would up the Cavanaughmen's league lead to 2½ games while a LaSalle victory would put the Explorers only a half game out of first place.

Markley vs. Roberts

Jesse Markley (5-0) and Lefty Bill Roberts (3-1) are expected to be the opposing twirlers in today's game. These twirlers hooked up on April 15 in the series opener and Markley was the winner, 4-3.

Two other Bi-State contests are slated today. Beall, occupant of third place, a game back of LaSalle, invades Flintstone to play the Aggies, who have lost six in a row, and Allegany, now in the .500 class with four wins and four losses, invades Barton to play Valley High School. These games are set for 3:30.

Romney Visits Keyser

Keyser High's unbeaten nine with eight wins to its credit plays host to the Romney High Pioneers today. If Keyser can whip Romney today and beat the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney on Thursday it will complete the Potomac Valley Conference campaign with a 10-0 record. Moorefield (9-0) also can windup its league campaign with a 10-0 mark if victorious at Franklin on Thursday. Keyser holds a 3-2 decision over Romney and Moorefield defeated Franklin 11-2.

Manager Is Sought For Mt. Savage Team

MT. SAVAGE, May 10—A manager and assistant are sought for one of the four teams in the Mt. Savage Little League and those interested are requested to attend a league meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Fire Hall.

The teams in the league are the Firemen, Lions, Vets and Town.

Fight At Chicago

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Bob Satterfield, who knocks out his man or gets knocked out, figures to have another short bout against Archie McBride of Trenton, N. J., in their 10-round heavyweight match at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The bout will be televised nationally (9 p. m. EST CBS).

Pirates' Big 8th Beats Braves, 9-6

MILWAUKEE, May 10 (AP) — Rookie Gene Freese's grand slam homer, sandwiched between four other runs in a wild eighth inning, gave the Pittsburgh Pirates their fourth straight victory over Milwaukee tonight, 9-6.

The eighth was a family affair for the Freeses. Third baseman George Freese drilled a two-run single which put the Pirates one run ahead. A moment later younger brother Gene smacked a 380-foot homer over left centerfield fence, his fourth homer of the year and his first grand slammer in the majors.

One more run came in on a wild pitch and another was walked in before the Braves could get that third out.

Farrady Post Team To Drill Saturday

FROSTBURG, May 10—Manager Niles Sperry has called the first practice of Farrady Post's junior American Legion baseball team for Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Frostburg Ball Park.

All boys residing in the district comprising Frostburg, Midlothian, Eckhart, Hoffman, Clarysville, Mt. Savage and below Mt. Savage are eligible to play for the Frostburg team.

Competition is open only to boys born September 1, 1937, or thereafter.

Milavec Clouts Three Home Runs For Elk Garden

ELK GARDEN, May 10—Tommy Milavec, first baseman of Elk Garden High School hit three home runs today, each coming with a teammate on base, as Coach Paul Kalbaugh's Elks defeated the West Virginia School for the Deaf in a Potomac Valley Conference game by the score of 10-3.

The sophomore infielder hit his round trippers in the first, third and fifth inning and was credited with batting in six of the 10 runs. Paul Tasker also hit a two-run homer in the 6th frame.

Teddy Bennett Crowned LaVale Marbles Champ

Cresaptown Tourney Scheduled Thursday

Teddy Bennett won the marbles championship of LaVale School yesterday afternoon after triumphing over Jimmy Twigg who had also battled his way to the finals in preliminary and semi-finals games. The other two semi-finalists were Robert O'Baker and Danny Anglin. Wally Harshbarger, last year's LaVale champion, lost out in the quarter finals.

In a series of games directed by Miss Margaret Beck, fourth grade teacher at LaVale, a field of 50 contestants was reduced to 14 quarter finalists for yesterdays games refereed by William E. Kelly and J. William Hunt, of the Times-News which sponsors the Greater Cumberland Marbles Tournament and pays the expenses of the area champion to Asbury Park, N.J., June 19 to 25 during the National Marbles Tournament.

Preliminary ring winners were Dale Grahame, Jimmy Willetts, Charles Hatfield, Wayne DeHart, Chester Gordon, Tommy Pryor, Boyd Mason, Ray Shroyer and Ray Merrill.

Bennett defeated O'Baker and Twigg vanquished Anglin to reach the finals where Bennett won 7-4.

There are no games today. Cresaptown finals are tomorrow and SS. Peter and Paul on Friday.

Next week Gephart and Carver both play on Monday; Corrigansville and Mt. Royal Tuesday; West Side Wednesday and Fort Hill Thursday. No games are scheduled May 20 as that is Sixth Grade visiting day at Allegany and Fort Hill.

The area finals June 7, when 24 school champs "shoot it out" at Gephart Playground, Frederick Street, will decide who gets the $150 free trip to the Atlantic Ocean resort of Asbury Park to play for the gold marbles crown of the United States.

Indians Trounce Yankees, 9-6

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP) — The free-swinging Cleveland Indians batted the New York Yankees with 14 hits tonight—including a single, double and home run by Dave Pope—while Bob Lemon claimed his sixth victory 9-6 with the help of Don Mossi.

The defeat dumped the Yanks to third place, three games behind the pace-setting Tribe and a length behind the Chicago White Sox, who beat Boston 4-2.

Mrs. Frederic Eiler Cops Point Tourney

Mrs. Frederic W. Eiler won the point tournament held yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club by the Women's Golf Association.

Mrs. Eiler scored 31 points to lead a field of 36 players. A prize went to the winner.

Tied for runner-up honors were Mrs. Lynn Lashley and Mrs. Richard Kendall with 30 points each.

Mrs. G. William Bibby turned in low gross score of 81.

The women's spring handicap tourney will get under way Tuesday and all members desiring to play must register at the golf shop by Sunday. First round matches are set for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Handicaps are based on the last ten scores of 1954.

Chicago Sox Homers Beat Boston, 4-2

Carrasquel, Rivera, Kell Hit 4-Baggers

BOSTON, May 10 (AP) — Chicago turned to home runs by George Kell, Jim Rivera and Chico Carrasquel for all its runs today to hand Boston its fifth straight defeat, 4-2.

Kell's two-run homer in the eighth broke a tie and gave Harry Dorish, second of three White Sox hurlers, his first triumph of the year.

Hard-luck Tom Brewer of the Red Sox was charged with his fifth loss without victory as the victim of the long range assault. Brewer had dropped earlier decisions by 6-4, 1-0, 2-1 and 3-2 scores. He was relieved by Ellis Kinder in the ninth but the damage had been done.

Down 2-0 in the early innings, Chicago bounced back starting with Rivera's first homer of the season to lead off the seventh. The ball traveled over the 380 foot sign in right field into the bleachers.

Shepherd Tops Potomac State In Tenth, 9-7

Ray Riordon Beats Cats Second Time; Rams Get 16 Hits

KEYSER, May 10—Shepherd College pushed over two runs in the tenth inning to defeat Potomac State College's baseball team here today by the score of 9-7.

The victory was the seventh in nine outings for the Rams and gave Coach Cletus Lowe's aggregation a sweep of its season series with the Catamounts.

Ray Riordon, tall righthander of Washington, D. C., who turned back Potomac State on April 30 by the score of 18-2, turned the trick again today.

In the 7th inning Potomac State took the lead at 7-6 by scoring three runs. Bob Sirk doubled over two of the tallies and Bob Connelly's single produced the other.

The Rams tied the score in the 8th and sewed up the game in the extra inning on three hits coupled with a sacrifice and an error. Tom Palamar started the winning rally with a single and moved to second on Bob Fischer's sacrifice. After Charles "Ace" Emery fanned, Johnny Pratico singled home Palamar with what proved to be the winning marker. An error by Buckbee, centerfielder, followed by Graham Dill's single and Bob Sirk's wild pitch netted the final run.

Bob Sirk went the route for the Catamounts despite a blister on his pitching hand which developed after he was struck as he fouled off one of Riordon's offerings. The Romney lad fanned 10 but was nicked for 16 hits Palamar had four safeties and Emery and Dill connected for three blows each. Bill Sirk walloped a homer for Potomac in the first inning and accounted for three of the losers' 10 safeties. Riordon struck out five.

In dropping its tenth game of the season against four wins Potomac State was charged with nine fielding bobbles.

Potomac's Saturday games at Morris Harvey and West Virginia Tech have been cancelled. Box:

Capon Bridge Wins Eighth

Towles' Team Belts Paw Paw High, 25-0

CAPON BRIDGE, May 10—Capon Bridge teed off on three Paw Paw pitchers for 16 hits today and took advantage of five errors and seven bases on balls to swamp the Pirates today by the score of 25-0.

The victory was the eighth in ten starts for Coach Cliff Towles' tossers who racked up nine runs in the third inning and eleven markers in the fifth.

Clarence Saville notched his fourth consecutive pitching triumph, yielding five hits while his strikeout victims totaled 14. The Capon Bridge ace's record is now 7-1.

Saville sparked the attack with a triple, double and single, Ronnie Alkire garnered a double and two singles and Jack Grapes had three one-base knocks to his credit. Bill Patterson and Allen Woods shared four of the losers' five bingles. Box:

Tommy Burns, Former Ring Champ, Dies

Beat Root For Title, Lost To Jack Johnson

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 10 (AP) — Tommy Burns, world heavyweight boxing champion from 1906 to 1908, died in a hospital here Tuesday. He was 74.

The colorful oldtimer came here a few days ago from his home at Coalinga, Calif., to enter a religious order. He collapsed during the morning, apparently from a heart attack, and died a few hours later.

He is survived by his widow.

Burns won the championship from Marvin Root in a 20-round bout at Los Angeles Feb. 23, 1906. He lost it to Jack Johnson at Dydney, Australia, the police halting the fierce battle in the 14th round.

Canadian-born Burns had a stormy career. He dropped the championship after 11 fights, some lasting only one round.

Central Lunch Wins Rec Loop Tilt, 16-7

Central Quick Lunch trounced the V.F.W. by the score of 16-7 yesterday as the City Rec Softball League season got under way at East Side Field.

The victors amassed 21 hits with Galen McGregor and C. Lewis pacing the attack with four each. McGregor had a triple among his collection and Lewis banged a two-bagger. Paul Laber and Dale Coleman had two hits each for the Vets. Coleman hit a two-run homer while Laber socked a triple. The score:

Wegman Gets Credit For LaSalle Victory

Tommy Wegman, who made his first appearance on the rubber for LaSalle High School against Bruce at Westernport on Monday, should have received credit for the victory instead of Frank Ritter, as first reported, according to LaSalle's official scorer.

Joe Conroy started on the rubber, was replaced by Ritter and LaSalle grabbed the lead after Wegman took over the pitching chores. Conroy returned in the final inning and pitched to one batter.

Wegman appeared in the box score as second baseman with no at bats, runs or hits when he should have been credited with one hit in two official at bats.

Tommy is a former Hot Stove League southpaw.

Fight Is Cancelled

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., May 10 (AP)—Tonight's fight between Irish Johnny O'Brien of Boston and Tony Grasso of this city, billed for the U.S. bantamweight title, was cancelled today.

State Athletic Commissioner Dennis McMahon said he acted when O'Brien, who claims the title weighed in at 124½ pounds, six and a half pounds over the limit.

Baker's Blow Robs Big Don Of No-Hitter

Defeats Chicago 11th Straight Time; Snider Belts Ninth Home Run

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Don Newcombe, chastened Brooklyn pitcher, today hurled a one-hitter for his first complete game this season as the sensational Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs, 3-0, for their 11th straight victory.

Newcombe now has beaten the Cubs 11 times without a defeat.

Duke Snider's ninth homer of the season and the 200th of his major league career started the Dodgers to their 22nd victory against only 2 defeats and a triumph which surpassed their opening record string of 10 straight.

Snider's blow came in the sixth against Warren Hacker, the Cubs' tough-luck hurler. In the seventh, Newcombe had a hand in producing an insurance run with his second single which moved Don Hoak from first to third and enabled him to score on Junior Gilliam's sacrifice fly.

Newcombe notched his fourth victory of the season without defeat in his first start since April 24. It was a notable comeback after last week's ruckus in which he was indefinitely suspended for refusing to pitch in batting practice.

Negro Colleges Join WVIC, Bobcats File Application

Committee To Study Frostburg Request

WHEELING, W. Va., May 10—The state's two Negro colleges were voted into membership of the ference here last night, for the first West Virginia intercollegiate Conference here tonight, for the first time in the history of the state.

The conference voted unanimously to admit West Virginia State at Institute and Bluefield State into the conference, increasing the membership to 16.

The action was taken on motion of Dr. Paul N. Elbin, president of West Liberty State College, who said that since segregation was abolished in the state's colleges, "it seems applicable that the admission of these two Negro colleges to the conference would follow logically."

At the same time, the conference referred to a three-man committee a similar request for admission by Frostburg State Teachers' College in Maryland.

A voice vote, show of hands and roll call showed three different splits of the members—all in favor of admitting Frostburg. President E. E. Church of Potomac State then proposed that the committee study the matter.

Earlier, Dr. Church had read from the conference rules that a college in a state bordering on West Virginia is eligible for membership. Frostburg is located 22 miles from Keyser, location of Potomac State.

Wegman Gets Credit For LaSalle Victory

Tommy Wegman, who made his first appearance on the rubber for LaSalle High School against Bruce at Westernport on Monday, should have received credit for the victory instead of Frank Ritter, as first reported, according to LaSalle's official scorer.

Joe Conroy started on the rubber, was replaced by Ritter and LaSalle grabbed the lead after Wegman took over the pitching chores. Conroy returned in the final inning and pitched to one batter.

Wegman appeared in the box score as second baseman with no at bats, runs or hits when he should have been credited with one hit in two official at bats.

Tommy is a former Hot Stove League southpaw.

Fight Is Cancelled

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., May 10 (AP)—Tonight's fight between Irish Johnny O'Brien of Boston and Tony Grasso of this city, billed for the U.S. bantamweight title, was cancelled today.

State Athletic Commissioner Dennis McMahon said he acted when O'Brien, who claims the title, weighed in at 124½ pounds, six and a half pounds over the limit.

Baker's Blow Robs Big Don Of No-Hitter

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Don Newcombe, chastened Brooklyn pitcher, today hurled a one-hitter for his first complete game this season as the sensational Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs, 3-0, for their 11th straight victory.

Newcombe now has beaten the Cubs 11 times without a defeat.

Duke Snider's ninth homer of the season and the 200th of his major league career started the Dodgers to their 22nd victory against only 2 defeats and a triumph which surpassed their opening record string of 10 straight.

Snider's blow came in the sixth against Warren Hacker, the Cubs' tough-luck hurler. In the seventh, Newcombe had a hand in producing an insurance run with his second single which moved Don Hoak from first to third and enabled him to score on Junior Gilliam's sacrifice fly.

Newcombe notched his fourth victory of the season without defeat in his first start since April 24. It was a notable comeback after last week's ruckus in which he was indefinitely suspended for refusing to pitch in batting practice.

The suspension was lifted one day later when Newcombe, who had been sent home by the Dodgers, apologized to Manager Walt Alston.

Newcombe was a superb form, facing the minimum of 27 batters. Baker was nipped trying to steal second after his single in the fourth.

Negro Colleges Join WVIC, Bobcats File Application

Committee To Study Frostburg Request

WHEELING, W. Va., May 10—The state's two Negro colleges were voted into membership of the ference here last night, for the first West Virginia intercollegiate Conference here tonight, for the first time in the history of the state.

The conference voted unanimously to admit West Virginia State at Institute and Bluefield State into the conference, increasing the membership to 16.

The action was taken on motion of Dr. Paul N. Elbin, president of West Liberty State College, who said that since segregation was abolished in the state's colleges, "it seems applicable that the admission of these two Negro colleges to the conference would follow logically."

At the same time, the conference referred to a three-man committee a similar request for admission by Frostburg State Teachers' College in Maryland.

A voice vote, show of hands and roll call showed three different splits of the members—all in favor of admitting Frostburg. President E. E. Church of Potomac State then proposed that the committee study the matter.

Earlier, Dr. Church had read from the conference rules that a college in a state bordering on West Virginia is eligible for membership. Frostburg is located 22 miles from Keyser, location of Potomac State.

Gov. Leader Suspends Boxing In Pennsylvania For 90 Days

Report Drugs Found In Body Of Fighter Harold Johnson

Barbiturate Induced Sleep And Resulted In Boxer's Collapse

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 10 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader today suspended boxing in Pennsylvania for 90 days as an aftermath of the sudden collapse of light heavyweight Harold Johnson in the ring during a nationally televised bout with Julio Mederos in Philadelphia last Friday night.

Alfred M. Klein, a member of the athletic commission, said a complete report on Johnson's condition after he was carried from the ring on a stretcher showed he "undoubtedly had drugs in his body."

Collapsed In Corner

The Philadelphia boxer, a 4-1 favorite in the scheduled 10 rounder, collapsed in his corner and was unable to answer the bell for the third round. Mederos was awarded a technical knockout victory. Johnson, who almost fell into the ring at the start and appeared to be sick throughout the two rounds of the fight, sank to his knees in the second round without being hit.

The police source, which declined to be identified, said the information on the urine analysis was obtained from Hahnemann Hospital officials. He said the finding did not mean Johnson was under the influence of the drug. A barbiturate is commonly used to induce sleep and relaxation. It is not listed as a narcotic.

The source said three members of the narcotics squad had been assigned to work on the case. Johnson has been in the hospital ever since he was carried out of the arena on a stretcher Friday night. He has been undergoing a series of extensive tests and has been questioned extensively by detectives.

Discount Orange Story

The police source said authorities are inclined to discount Johnson's post-fight tale of an orange given him the day of the fight by a swarthy stranger and which the fighter is supposed to have complained tasted bitter and made him sick in the dressing room.

Tom Zachary, University of North Carolina first baseman, is the son of the former big league pitcher of the same name.

Gov. Leader Suspends Boxing In Pennsylvania For 90 Days

Report Drugs Found In Body Of Fighter Harold Johnson

Barbiturate Induced Sleep And Resulted In Boxer's Collapse

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 10 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader today suspended boxing in Pennsylvania for 90 days as an aftermath of the sudden collapse of light heavyweight Harold Johnson in the ring during a nationally televised bout with Julio Mederos in Philadelphia last Friday night.

The governor's ban—announced after a 90-minute meeting with members of the State Athletic Commission—does not affect fights already scheduled and advertised.

Alfred M. Klein, a member of the athletic commission, said a complete report on Jonnson's condition after he was carried from the ring on a stretcher showed he "undoubtedly had drugs in his body."

Collapsed In Corner

The Philadelphia boxer, a 4-1 favorite in the scheduled 10 rounder, collapsed in his corner and was unable to answer the bell for the third round. Mederos was awarded a technical knockout victory. Johnson, who almost fell into the ring at the start and appeared to be sick throughout the two rounds of the fight, sank to his knees in the second round without being hit.

The police source, which declined to be identified, said the information on the urine analysis was obtained from Hahnemann Hospital officials. He said the finding did not mean Johnson was under the influence of the drug. A barbiturate is commonly used to induce sleep and relaxation. It is not listed as a narcotic.

The source said three members of the narcotics squad had been assigned to work on the case. Johnson has been in the hospital ever since he was carried out of the arena on a stretcher Friday night. He has been undergoing a series of extensive tests and has been questioned extensively by detectives.

Discount Orange Story

The police source said authorities are inclined to discount Johnson's post-fight tale of an orange given him the day of the fight by a swarthy stranger and which the fighter is supposed to have complained tasted bitter and made him sick in the dressing room.

Tom Zachary, University of North Carolina first baseman, is the son of the former big league pitcher of the same name.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Good Kid's Show

"Let's Take A Trip" is what we used to call the Chicago school of television. And what is Chicago television? Well, "Zoo Parade" and "Ding Dong School," for example, which are among the last remaining examples of it on the networks.

I once asked Jules Herbuveaux of WNBQ in Chicago how "Zoo Parade" came into being. "Well," he said, "every father ought to take his kids to the zoo—but about 80 per cent of them don't. So we take the kids to the zoo."

That essentially is the philosophy of "Let's Take A Trip." It's a program for kids from six to twelve and there are a couple of kids on it named Ginger and Pud. They are squired around by a very pleasant easygoing guy named Sonny Fox who did a lot of children's programs in St. Louis before CBS nabbed him. And the trio take trips just as the title says. Unlike "Zoo Parade," most of these are the kind of trips we couldn't take our kid on even if we wanted to. The first one was a trip on a helicopter, the second one on a tugboat—neither of them readily accessible to children.

"How do you build a bridge? Does the big red fire engine sound its siren or clang its bell on the way to a fire? How do tugs work? How do jet planes and helicopters fly? How do you get milk from a cow?" This, according to a press release, is what the show is aimed to demonstrate and this again is Chicago TV philosophy. Chicago was and still is loaded with "how to do it" shows. "If you want to teach carpentry," Mr. Herbuveaux told me, "you don't get Eddie Cantor—you get a carpenter."

That's precisely the philosophy here. If you want to teach the youngsters about tugboats, get a captain of one which is what they did the other day. Sonny and Pud and Ginger all boarded a tugboat and took a little ride around the harbor. The kids played with the tug's fire hose—tugs occasionally help out on harbor fire-fighting, something I never knew until now—and also with the tug's wheel.

Later, they watched, fascinated, while the tug pulled a big South American-bound freighter out from its dock and sent it on its way. Like kids anywhere Pud and Ginger are alive with questions. These are answered either by Sonny or by the captain. Sonny Fox, who looks a little like Bert Parks, is a great hand with kids, informal, unpretentious and very much at ease in front of the cameras.

Incidentally, this is all a live operation. I don't know how a camera can wheel around a tugboat quite so freely—or how you get one in a helicopter at all. But somehow they manage. This, in short, is actuality—the televising of something real that is actually happening. It is also what they call in Chicago the televising of "authentics". An authentic is some one doing what he does best—a zoo keeper tending zoo—or an editor editing.

There was a great deal of this sort of television in the early days when the TV crowd had few studios and little money. Then when the money came in and the studios were built, it all but vanished. Then suddenly with Steve Allen and Arlene Francis and Dave Garroway tripping all over the place, the idea of the remote pickup swam back into fashion again. While it seems like a new idea, actually it's a very old one and still a good one.

You'll find this is not only a fine wholesome educational show for your children but one that they'll thoroughly enjoy—if they're anything like mine. My only problem—and I expect you'll encounter it, too—is that my son and daughter want Pud's and Ginger's jobs.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Lillian Plummer Lewis wishes to thank their friends, neighbors and relatives for the many acts of kindness and sympathy expressed to them during the lengthy illness and following the death of their loved one. They especially wish to thank Rev. John Bayley Jones and Rev. Donald Vosseler for their words of comfort. Also William Plummer and Mrs. John B. Jones for their beautiful music. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

HUSBAND, CHILDREN, MOTHER, SISTERS & BROTHERS

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Lillian Plummer Lewis wishes to thank their friends, neighbors and relatives for the many acts of kindness and sympathy expressed to them during the lengthy illness and following the death of their loved one. They especially wish to thank Rev. John Bayley Jones and Rev. Donald Vosseler for their words of comfort. Also William Plummer and Mrs. John B. Jones for their beautiful music. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

HUSBAND, CHILDREN, MOTHER, SISTERS & BROTHERS

HIS WIFE—MRS. NELLIE STEVENS SISTERS & BROTHERS

Tentative Pact Negotiated For Building Trades

Two-Year Contract To Include Welfare Fund

A tentative agreement on a two-year contract covering the construction industry in this area was reached here yesterday afternoon by officials of area contractors and AFL craft unions.

The precedent breaking contract will be the first to run for more than a year and will provide, beginning next May, a health and welfare plan.

George W. Lucas, president of the Cumberland Building and Construction Trades Council, said the only thing to be worked out are wage adjustments in some classifications.

Final action on the pact, he said, is expected within a few days.

Includes Welfare Plan

Officials said the contract will run for two years, until May 1, 1957, in order to stabilize the construction industry in this area.

Lucas said that beginning next May 1, a health and welfare plan is to be set up for the construction industry.

Under the plan agreed upon, contractors will pay 7½ cents an hour into a jointly operated health and welfare fund.

Rates To Continue

The Building Trades Council includes Local 1024, Carpenters Union; Local 307, Electrical Workers; Local 453, Teamsters Union; Local 616, Laborers Union; Local 568, Iron Workers Union; Local 489, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union; Local 339, Sheet Metal Workers; Local 6, Bricklayers Union, and Local 296, Plasterers and Cement Finishers Union.

Valley Street Bridge Receives Final Inspection

Officials of the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore, made a final inspection of the Valley Street Bridge yesterday.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said the inspection was conducted by R. A. Gilmore, chief engineer, and J. W. Hughen, assistant construction engineer for the firm which designed the Bay Bridge.

C. Arthur Brotemarkle represented the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, and the City of Cumberland was represented by Commissioner Buchholtz, C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and William H. Marean, who served as project engineer for the city.

Gilmore told city officials he would forward a formal report on his inspection to the Mayor and Council in the near future.

Gilmore and Hughen came here yesterday at the request of Commissioner Buchholtz to make the final inspection of the span which the Greiner firm designed for the city in connection with the flood control project.

Buchholtz said all work on the bridge has been completed except for the installation of a transformer for the lights on the span. It is expected to be delivered about the middle of June.

The local firm built the bridge under a low bid of $280,694.50. Total costs, with engineering and rights of way, were estimated at about a third of a million dollars.

This is one of three new bridges needed on Wills Creek for the flood project. The Greiner firm has designed spans for Market and Baltimore Streets, which are to be constructed as the flood protection work progresses.

Deeds Record Two Property Transfers

Two property transfers are recorded in deeds filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mary Jean Durette Diehl and William P. Diehl Jr. have sold property on the south side of National Highway near the Camp Ground Road to Stanley H. Harman and Mary C. Harman.

Ben J. Bittner and Violet M. Bittner sold property on the north side of Kent Avenue in the Johnson Heights section to John R. Anderson and Matilda J. Anderson.

Bicentennial Poster Prizewinners

Lenore Long, Fort Hill High School student, is presented a $25 U. S. Savings Bond by Morton Peskin, chairman of the Mercantile Bureau, for her poster, "Travel Down Through The Years" which won first prize in the Bicentennial Poster Contest. Second prize of $10 went to John K. Randall (left) for his poster, "Fort Cumberland," and third award of $5 was won by Boyd Dawson of Allegany High School with "The First Train." Eleanor Murphy and Karen Lee Bramble, both of Fort Hill, won honorable mention. Posters submitted in the contest will be displayed in downtown store windows during "Old Fashioned Bargain Days" Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Co. Youths To Compete In Road-E-O

Any young driver in Allegany County who will not reach his 20th birthday until after July 29 is entitled to compete in the third annual Teen-age Road-e-o, sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, according to Fred Hill, contest chairman.

A number of teen-agers already have obtained entry blanks for the contest, designed to determine the safest and most proficient young motorist in Allegany County.

Teen-agers who hold driver's licenses or learner's permits are invited to a soft drink party at Central YMCA from 3:30 until 4:30 p. m. tomorrow where Jaycees will brief them on details for the coming road-e-o. Entry blanks will be distributed at the party by Thomas F. Conlon Jr., who has arranged the affair.

Entry blanks, signed by a parent, must be returned by each boy and girl competing before he or she can take the written examination. This test will be conducted at the Y from 3:30 until 4:30 p.m. Friday and from 10:30 a.m. until noon Saturday.

Those recording the best grades in the written test will be eligible to compete in the driving test, which will be staged on the A&P parking lot Sunday, May 22. The county winner will be eligible to compete in the State Road-e-o at the Baltimore Stadium Saturday, June 11. The national contest, in which some $3,000 in scholarships will be at stake, will be conducted in Washington in late July.

Celanese Sales Climb

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Celanese Corp. of America today reported sales for the first three months of 1955 climbed to $45,851,680 from $28,971,685 in the same 1954 period. Profits rose to $3,911,314 equal to 47 cents a common share compared with $95,973 in the first quarter of 1954.

Washington College Alumni Plan Dinner Meeting Here

The Western Maryland Chapter, Washington College Alumni Association, will hold a dinner meeting at the Clary Club Saturday, according to Harry R. Poole of Hagerstown, the chapter president.

Poole said that Dr. Lawrence Ford, longtime professor at the college, will be present from Chestertown to give a few remarks. Also there will be a showing of color slides depicting various scenes and activities about the college. These will include pictures of President Eisenhower's visit to the Eastern Shore campus last June, recent sports events, and the progress of the college's extensive building program. Bedford J. Groves, executive secretary of the general alumni association, will show the pictures and give the commentary.

Dinner will start at 6:30 p. m. Reservations should be sent to Raymond O. McCullough Jr., Braddock Road, who is in charge of arrangements. McCullough is vice president of the alumni chapter.

Other officers are Mrs. Nancy G. Nicewarner of Hagerstown, secretary, and Paul Nicewarner of Hagerstown, treasurer.

The Western Maryland Chapter includes members from Carroll, Frederick, Washington, Allegany, and Garrett counties.

Reservations Open For Girl Scout Camping

May 20 Deadline For Enrollment

Reservations for the annual established camp of the Girl Scout Council of Cumberland are now being received at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street, Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive, said yesterday.

Most of the applications for reservations thus far are from outside the Cumberland Council, and are being held until girls in the Cumberland Council have first chance to make reservations.

The camp will be held this year at Camp Potomac near Oldtown, June 19-26, with a second period from Sunday, June 26, to July 3. Miss Hurlburt emphasized that registered Girl Scouts and Brownies of the Cumberland Council will be given preference of camp periods until May 20, after which the out of town reservations will be filled if there are still vacancies.

Cumberland Council has 40 troops, and it is expected by Scout leaders that the demand for camp reservations may exceed the available accommodations.

Miss Hurlburt noted that Girl Scout camp has been held in recent years at Green Ridge State Forest, but the state cancelled the lease for this camp site, and the Girl Scouts made arrangements to use Camp Potomac, the Boy Scout Camp, this year. Equipment from the Green Ridge camp has been put in storage until a permanent campsite can be acquired.

The Girl Scout Council, Miss Hurlburt observed, is interested in locating a campsite and is now in need of an area where troop camp can be held on weekends.

The Council has received three camperships donated by civic organizations. They are given by the Women's Civic Club, the Soroptimist Club and the Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church, to be used for girls unable to pay for their own camp. Leaders may make application at the Girl Scout House for financial assistance for Brownie, Intermediate or Senior Scouts whom they believe are worthy of help to attend camp. Some girls need only a partial campership, since they earned some money selling Girl Scout cookies. However, there are known to be a number who have but a few dollars standing between them and at least a week at camp, Miss Hurlburt said.

The cost of camping to each camper this year is $15 per week including registration, board and lodging, if a member of the Cumberland Council. If a registrant from other than the Council, the cost is $17 per camper.

Registrations are being accepted for either one or two-week periods, and the camp will be set up so that the two-week campers will stay in their area for two weeks without moving about, while the other portion will be occupied by the first group of one-week campers the first week, and the second group of one-week campers the following week.

The camp committee will meet Friday at 7:15 p. m. at the home of Miss Irene Lapp, 906 East Oldtown Road.

The camp committee includes Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cioni, Thomas Elias, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Everstine, Mrs. Patrick Hogan, Miss Irene Lapp, Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Perry, Mrs. Ambrose McKenzie, Miss Hurlburt, and Mrs. Ralph C. Isiminger, council president.

Childhood Education Group Plans Annual Spring Dinner

The program is being completed for the annual spring dinner of the Allegany Branch of the Association for Childhood Education, International, which will be held Wednesday, May 18, at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Augustine Diaz, president of the organization, and teacher at Cresaptown, yesterday said finishing touches are being put on the program activities.

Guest speaker, Diaz added, will be Mrs. Charles C. Arbuthnot, associate professor emeritus of Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

She devotes her full time to lecturing and writing. Her degrees are from the University of Chicago and Columbia University with membership in two honorary fraternities—Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Lambda Theta.

Mrs. Arbuthnot's fields are nursery school and elementary education in general and children's literature in particular. She is the author of a number of publications.

Other state education officials have been invited to attend. Assisting Diaz on the program committee are Miss Ruth Hanson, Mt. Savage; Mary E. Straw, Mrs. Kay Wolford, and Mary J. Smith, LaVale School; Lillie Lashley, Sue Cunningham, East Side School; Miss Betty Hinzman, and Margaret V. Reid, John Humbird School.

About 250 persons are expected to attend. The Allegany Branch members include elementary teachers of Allegany County schools.

Hospital Board Re-Elects Officers

The Board of Directors of Miners Hospital in Frostburg will continue another year with the same officers headed by A. Charles Stewart as president.

The four board members appointed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin first re-elected the other three board members, Michael J. Byrnes, Walter J. Mackey and Dr. Harry Teter. Appointed by the governor were A. Charles Stewart, Dr. W. O. McLane, Veryl Ash of Midland and John Stewart, the only newcomer. Stewart succeeds Forrest Mowbray, who had to resign when he was appointed Barton trial magistrate.

Other re-elected officers of the hospital board are Mackey, vice president, and Byrnes, secretary.

Weather

The day was overcast and marred off and on by slight drizzles of rain yesterday as the temperatures continued to remain in the low 60s. Only .10 inch of rainfall was recorded, however, throughout the day at the Constitution Park weather bureau. Overnight low was 48 degrees and the high registered 62. At 8:30 last night the thermometer recorded 53. Humidity at 6 p.m. was 96 per cent. Forecast today is for partial clearing and warmer with some scattered showers.

District Scouts Re-Elect Lowery

Henry H. Lowery, LaVale, was re-elected chairman of Cumberland district, Boy Scouts of America, last night at a meeting of the district leaders in Kelly Springfield Tire Company conference room.

A meeting will be held within the next few days to select the explorer to represent the district at the Junior Leaders Training Camp in New Jersey in August and to attend the "Citizens Now" conference at Bucknell University in June.

Optimists To Meet

W.Va. Senate Plods Ahead On Teachers Pay

Chamber Is Ready For Passage Action

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—The Senate plodded determinedly ahead today with the business for which the special Legislature was called, while the House met for 38 minutes and adjourned.

Without argument or discussion of any kind, the Senate moved along for passage action tomorrow the integral bills of a program to pay teachers a salary boost and provide the necessary funds through an increase in the consumers' sales tax.

The House, meanwhile, was getting its version of the same program in shape, but the progress in that chamber was much slower.

Correction Of Errors

The Senate program was on amendment stage today but the only changes made were corrections in drafting errors.

The salary bill, as sponsored by Senate President Bean, would provide flat increases of $50 monthly for teachers with college degrees and $25 a month for those without degrees.

Companion measures would increase the consumers' sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent, and the use tax by the same proportion. Together, the measures are designed to raise $9,400,000.

With this business out of the way, the Senate resolved itself into a committee of the whole to hear Tax Commissioner Milton J. Ferguson discuss state school aid to the counties.

Cost Is Basic Issue

The matter of local responsibility in meeting the steadily growing costs of education has been one of the basic issues receiving more and more attention.

This was evident in the action of both House and Senate in making the sales tax plan a stop-gap measure to give the counties time to assume a bigger share of the tax load.

After hearing Ferguson and Alva Anderson, secretary of the Board of School Finance, the Senate resumed its session and moved along two more bills.

One was a bill to exempt the state and its political subdivisions from the 2-per cent privilege tax in the titling of motor vehicles, while the other was a measure aimed at getting county property assessments more in line with true and actual values.

Will Complete Survey

Ferguson informed the senators that he would be able to complete a property appraisal survey in all of the 55 counties by next January. His department was voted a $200,000 allocation by the regular Legislature to complete this work.

The assessment bill, sponsored by Bean, is similar to one introduced at the regular session by Sen. Martin (D - Berkeley) but which got lost in the shuffle.

It would require that all counties get their property assessments up to a level of 50 per cent of appraised value as determined by the Tax Department no later than fiscal 1959-60, or else be penalized in the loss of state aid to the extent of their assessment deficiency.

Judge Fraley To Preside Here

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland was here yesterday to preside at a trial in Allegany County Circuit Court but the case was settled.

He will officiate today when a jury decides an appeal from a decision of Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick. The House of Mandl, a Hagerstown firm, sued John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Frostburg, $300 for a liquor bill. Magistrate Dick awarded the plaintiff a $300 verdict last July 21 and the defendant post appealed. The VFW contends that the statute of limitations had freed it from liability.

Judge Fraley is officiating here because Chief Judge George Henderson is conducting court in Baltimore this week and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has been called to Michigan.

Free Meter Parking Is Slated Here

To Be Effective On Three Bargain Days

The parking meters of Cumberland will be temporarily "obsolete" during the "Old Fashioned Bargain Days," Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 13, 14 and 16.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan last night said the Police Department is cooperating with the Retail Merchants Association and has arranged for motorists to have free use of the meters beginning at 10:30 a. m. on the three days.

In an extra effort to see that motorists are able to get parking space, auxiliary police will be on duty to direct them to local parking lots.

However, Keegan added, free parking will not be allowed on red lines or yellow lines, the latter being used for loading and unloading purposes.

Motorists are also reminded to use discretion in the free parking privilege and also not to block the fire lanes downtown.

Paving Work Slated Today

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz announced yesterday he had been informed that concrete work on the Frederick Street improvement project will begin today if weather permits.

He said the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company plans to begin paving operations at the intersection of Frederick Street with Bedford Road.

The contractor will bring the right hand lane of the street toward town, he said.

Work on the $517,000 contract began last fall. It includes paving, curbing and sidewalks for some 7,000 feet of the street from Lowell Avenue to the city line.

Also included was the installation of a storm sewer from Linden Street to near the city limits.

Preliminary stages of the work were started last year, halted by weather, and resumed several weeks ago.

City officials said the work has caused a dust problem in recent weeks, but that the contractor is now using a sprinkler wagon to keep down the dust.

Air Reserve Meeting Set

Air Reserve Flight J, 9511 Air Reserve Squadron, will hold an informal meeting at the Herman Room of the Queen City Brewery tomorrow beginning at 8 p. m.

Capt. Ernest J. Fauss, commandant of the local flight, last night said the purpose of the meeting is to stimulate interest in the Air Reserve program here.

All veterans interested in getting more information on the local flight are invited to attend. Combat films will be shown and invited guests include members of the Air Reserve Group and Center of Baltimore as well as the Air Reserve Squadron of Hagerstown.

A flight of officers is now participating in a "train-for-pay" specialized training program and it is the aim of the local unit to get enough men to assure a specialized training program for them.

Kiwanis To Hear Sports Car Talk

William R. Carscaden, local attorney and chairman of the National Sports Car Races to be run here Sunday, will be a guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club tomorrow noon in Central YMCA. His topic will be "Sports Car Races."

County Location For Intelligence Agency Proposed

Butler Forwards Whitworth Idea

A suggestion that Allegany County be considered as a suitable new location for the headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency has been brought to the attention of Allen Dulles, CIA director, by United States Senator John Marshall Butler.

Senator Butler acted in response to a letter he received late in April from Horace P. Whitworth Jr.

The senator assured Whitworth that he would be advised of developments as soon as Butler receives a report from Dulles.

Whitworth wrote to Senator Butler after reading an Associated Press dispatch in which the senator was quoted as saying the field was still wide open in Maryland for the new location of CIA.

"As a citizen of Western Maryland and one of your supporters and being very much interested in the welfare of our national defenses I am respectfully suggesting to you that you please consider the vicinity of Cumberland and Allegany County as an excellent location for this agency," Whitworth wrote.

"I need not tell you of the advisability of decentralizing our military establishments in this atomic age because I know you have much more knowledge of this than I," Whitworth continued. "However, what better protection could an intelligence agency have than the mountains of Western Maryland in time of attack and civilian chaos in a shooting war. We have here the resources for such an agency, the facilities for homes and protected lines of communication . . ."

So. Cumberland's Annual Fun Fair Opens Tonight

The annual Fun Fair, sponsored by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, will open tonight at Penn Avenue Field for four night performances and a matinee.

There will be a midway with several shows and seven rides to amuse the children and grownups.

Col. Nelson W. Russler, general chairman, said last night the committee has worked diligently to make this Fun Fair the best yet, and several surprises are in store.

On Thursday night, Fort Hill High School band will give a concert and on Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. a kiddies matinee will be a feature. Gates will be open each evening at 7 o'clock.

Funds realized from the annual Fun Fair are used to defray the cost of Christmas lighting and other festivities in South Cumberland, sponsored by the association.

14 Men Recalled To Bolt & Forge

Fourteen men will be recalled to the Bolt and Forge Shop here Monday as a result of the recall of 300 car repairmen over the Baltimore and Ohio system.

Roy W. Eves, superintendent, said the recalls will bring the staff of the shop to the 431 mark.

Man Is Injured In Auto Mishap

Gray D. Replogle, Woodbury, Pa., was slightly injured yesterday morning when the car he was driving failed to negotiate a curve in the borough of Woodbury, 20 miles north of Bedford on Route 36, and crashed into a parked car.

Police estimated damage to Replogle's car at $150 and $350 to the parked automobile, owned by Jesse E. Lynn of Martinsburg, W.Va.

West Side Pupils Stage Program Tonight

Tentative Pact Negotiated For Building Trades

Two-Year Contract To Include Welfare Fund

A tentative agreement on a two-year contract covering the construction industry in this area was reached here yesterday afternoon by officials of area contractors and AFL craft unions.

The precedent breaking contract will be the first to run for more than a year and will provide, beginning next May, a health and welfare plan.

George W. Lucas, president of the Cumberland Building and Construction Trades Council, said the only thing to be worked out are wage adjustments in some classifications.

Final action on the pact, he said, is expected within a few days.

Includes Welfare Plan

Officials said the contract will run for two years, until May 1, 1957, in order to stabilize the construction industry in this area.

Lucas said that beginning next May 1, a health and welfare plan is to be set up for the construction industry.

Under the plan agreed upon, contractors will pay 7½ cents an hour into a jointly operated health and welfare fund.

Rates To Continue

The Building Trades Council includes Local 1024, Carpenters Union; Local 307, Electrical Workers; Local 453, Teamsters Union; Local 616, Laborers Union; Local 568, Iron Workers Union; Local 489, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union; Local 339, Sheet Metal Workers; Local 6, Bricklayers Union, and Local 296, Plasterers and Cement Finishers Union.

Bicentennial Poster Prizewinners

Lenore Long, Fort Hill High School student, is presented a $25 U. S. Savings Bond by Morton Peskin, chairman of the Mercantile Bureau, for her poster, "Travel Down Through The Years" which won first prize in the Bicentennial Poster Contest. Second prize of $10 went to John K. Randall (left) for his poster, "Fort Cumberland," and third award of $5 was won by Boyd Dawson of Allegany High School with "The First Train." Eleanor Murphy and Karen Lee Bramble, both of Fort Hill, won honorable mention. Posters submitted in the contest will be displayed in downtown store windows during "Old Fashioned Bargain Days" Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Valley Street Bridge Receives Final Inspection

Officials of the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore, made a final inspection of the Valley Street Bridge yesterday.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said the inspection was conducted by R. A. Gilmore, chief engineer, and J. W. Hughen, assistant construction engineer for the firm which designed the Bay Bridge.

C. Arthur Brotemarkle represented the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, and the City of Cumberland was represented by Commissioner Buchholtz, C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and William H. Marean, who served as project engineer for the city.

Gilmore told city officials he would forward a formal report on his inspection to the Mayor and Council in the near future.

Gilmore and Hughen came here yesterday at the request of Commissioner Buchholtz to make the final inspection of the span which the Greiner firm designed for the city in connection with the flood control project.

Buchholtz said all work on the bridge has been completed except for the installation of a transformer for the lights on the span. It is expected to be delivered about the middle of June.

The local firm built the bridge under a low bid of $280,694.50. Total costs, with engineering and rights of way, were estimated at about a third of a million dollars.

This is one of three new bridges needed on Wills Creek for the flood project. The Greiner firm has designed spans for Market and Baltimore Streets, which are to be constructed as the flood protection work progresses.

Deeds Record Two Property Transfers

Two property transfers are recorded in deeds filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mary Jean Durette Diehl and William P. Diehl Jr. have sold property on the south side of National Highway near the Camp Ground Road to Stanley H. Harman and Mary C. Harman.

Ben J. Bittner and Violet M. Bittner sold property on the north side of Kent Avenue in the Johnson Heights section to John R. Anderson and Matilda J. Anderson.

Childhood Education Group Plans Annual Spring Dinner

The program is being completed for the annual spring dinner of the Allegany Branch of the Association for Childhood Education, International, which will be held Wednesday, May 18, at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Augustine Diaz, president of the organization, and teacher at Cresaptown, yesterday said finishing touches are being put on the program activities.

Guest speaker, Diaz added, will be Mrs. Charles C. Arbuthnot, associate professor emeritus of Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

She devotes her full time to lecturing and writing. Her degrees are from the University of Chicago and Columbia University with membership in two honorary fraternities—Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Lambda Theta.

Mrs. Arbuthnot's fields are nursery school and elementary education in general and children's literature in particular. She is the author of a number of publications.

Other state education officials have been invited to attend. Assisting Diaz on the program committee are Miss Ruth Hanson, Mt. Savage; Mary E. Straw, Mrs. Kay Wolford, and Mary J. Smith, LaVale School; Lillie Lashley, Sue Cunningham, East Side School; Miss Betty Hinzman, and Margaret V. Reid, John Humbird School.

About 250 persons are expected to attend. The Allegany Branch members include elementary teachers of Allegany County schools.

Hospital Board Re-Elects Officers

The Board of Directors of Miners Hospital in Frostburg will continue another year with the same officers headed by A. Charles Stewart as president.

The four board members appointed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin first re-elected the other three board members, Michael J. Byrnes, Walter J. Mackey and Dr. Harry Teter. Appointed by the governor were A. Charles Stewart, Dr. W. O. McLane, Veryl Ash of Midland and John Stewart, the only newcomer. Stewart succeeds Forrest Mowbray, who had to resign when he was appointed Barton trial magistrate.

Other re-elected officers of the hospital board are Mackey, vice president, and Byrnes, secretary.

Weather

The day was overcast and marred off and on by slight drizzles of rain yesterday as the temperatures continued to remain in the low 60s. Only .10 inch of rainfall was recorded, however, throughout the day at the Constitution Park weather bureau. Overnight low was 48 degrees and the high registered 62. At 8:30 last night the thermometer recorded 53. Humidity at 6 p.m. was 96 per cent. Forecast today is for partial clearing and warmer with some scattered showers.

District Scouts Re-Elect Lowery

Henry H. Lowery, LaVale, was re-elected chairman of Cumberland district, Boy Scouts of America, last night at a meeting of the district leaders in Kelly Springfield Tire Company conference room.

Also renamed to their posts were Albert Tosh, vice chairman of the district, and William T. Allee, district commissioner.

Approximately 25 members of the district attended last night's meeting, at which time plans were completed for future district explorer activities.

A meeting will be held within the next few days to select the explorer to represent the district at the Junior Leaders Training Camp in New Jersey in August and to attend the "Citizens Now" conference at Bucknell University in June.

Optimists To Meet

W.Va. Senate Plods Ahead On Teachers Pay

Chamber Is Ready For Passage Action

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 10 (AP)—The Senate plodded determinedly ahead today with the business for which the special Legislature was called, while the House met for 38 minutes and adjourned.

Without argument or discussion of any kind, the Senate moved along for passage action tomorrow the integral bills of a program to pay teachers a salary boost and provide the necessary funds through an increase in the consumers' sales tax.

The House, meanwhile, was getting its version of the same program in shape, but the progress in that chamber was much slower.

Correction Of Errors

The Senate program was on amendment stage today but the only changes made were corrections in drafting errors.

The salary bill, as sponsored by Senate President Bean, would provide flat increases of $50 monthly for teachers with college degrees and $25 a month for those without degrees.

Companion measures would increase the consumers' sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent, and the use tax by the same proportion. Together, the measures are designed to raise $9,400,000.

With this business out of the way, the Senate resolved itself into a committee of the whole to hear Tax Commissioner Milton J. Ferguson discuss state school aid to the counties.

Cost Is Basic Issue

The matter of local responsibility in meeting the steadily growing costs of education has been one of the basic issues receiving more and more attention.

This was evident in the action of both House and Senate in making the sales tax plan a stop-gap measure to give the counties time to assume a bigger share of the tax load.

After hearing Ferguson and Alva Anderson, secretary of the Board of School Finance, the Senate resumed its session and moved along two more bills.

One was a bill to exempt the state and its political subdivisions from the 2-per cent privilege tax in the titling of motor vehicles, while the other was a measure aimed at getting county property assessments more in line with true and actual values.

Will Complete Survey

Ferguson informed the senators that he would be able to complete a property appraisal survey in all of the 55 counties by next January. His department was voted a $200,000 allocation by the regular Legislature to complete this work.

The assessment bill, sponsored by Bean, is similar to one introduced at the regular session by Sen. Martin (D - Berkeley) but which got lost in the shuffle.

It would require that all counties get their property assessments up to a level of 50 per cent of appraised value as determined by the Tax Department no later than fiscal 1959-60, or else be penalized in the loss of state aid to the extent of their assessment deficiency.

Judge Fraley To Preside Here

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland was here yesterday to preside at a trial in Allegany County Circuit Court but the case was settled.

He will officiate today when a jury decides an appeal from a decision of Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick. The House of Mandl, a Hagerstown firm, sued John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Frostburg, $300 for a liquor bill. Magistrate Dick awarded the plaintiff a $300 verdict last July 21 and the defendant post appealed. The VFW contends that the statute of limitations had freed it from liability.

Judge Fraley is officiating here because Chief Judge George Henderson is conducting court in Baltimore this week and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has been called to Michigan.

Free Meter Parking Is Slated Here

To Be Effective On Three Bargain Days

The parking meters of Cumberland will be temporarily "obsolete" during the "Old Fashioned Bargain Days," Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 13, 14 and 16.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan last night said the Police Department is cooperating with the Retail Merchants Association and has arranged for motorists to have free use of the meters beginning at 10:30 a. m. on the three days.

In an extra effort to see that motorists are able to get parking space, auxiliary police will be on duty to direct them to local parking lots.

However, Keegan added, free parking will not be allowed on red lines or yellow lines, the latter being used for loading and unloading purposes.

Motorists are also reminded to use discretion in the free parking privilege and also not to block the fire lanes downtown.

During the past two days city workmen have been busy painting the bottom half of the poles along Baltimore Street white in order to "dress up" the downtown section.

Paving Work Slated Today

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz announced yesterday he had been informed that concrete work on the Frederick Street improvement project will begin today if weather permits.

He said the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company plans to begin paving operations at the intersection of Frederick Street with Bedford Road.

The contractor will bring the right hand lane of the street toward town, he said.

Work on the $517,000 contract began last fall. It includes paving, curbing and sidewalks for some 7,000 feet of the street from Lowell Avenue to the city line.

Also included was the installation of a storm sewer from Linden Street to near the city limits.

Preliminary stages of the work were started last year, halted by weather, and resumed several weeks ago.

City officials said the work has caused a dust problem in recent weeks, but that the contractor is now using a sprinkler wagon to keep down the dust.

Air Reserve Meeting Set

Air Reserve Flight J, 9511 Air Reserve Squadron, will hold an informal meeting at the Herman Room of the Queen City Brewery tomorrow beginning at 8 p. m.

Capt. Ernest J. Fauss, commandant of the local flight, last night said the purpose of the meeting is to stimulate interest in the Air Reserve program here.

All veterans interested in getting more information on the local flight are invited to attend. Combat films will be shown and invited guests include members of the Air Reserve Group and Center of Baltimore as well as the Air Reserve Squadron of Hagerstown.

A flight of officers is now participating in a "train-for-pay" specialized training program and it is the aim of the local unit to get enough men to assure a specialized training program for them.

Kiwanis To Hear Sports Car Talk

William R. Carscaden, local attorney and chairman of the National Sports Car Races to be run here Sunday, will be a guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club tomorrow noon in Central YMCA. His topic will be "Sports Car Races."

County Location For Intelligence Agency Proposed

Butler Forwards Whitworth Idea

A suggestion that Allegany County be considered as a suitable new location for the headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency has been brought to the attention of Allen Dulles, CIA director, by United States Senator John Marshall Butler.

Senator Butler acted in response to a letter he received late in April from Horace P. Whitworth Jr.

The senator assured Whitworth that he would be advised of developments as soon as Butler receives a report from Dulles.

Whitworth wrote to Senator Butler after reading an Associated Press dispatch in which the senator was quoted as saying the field was still wide open in Maryland for the new location of CIA.

"As a citizen of Western Maryland and one of your supporters and being very much interested in the welfare of our national defenses I am respectfully suggesting to you that you please consider the vicinity of Cumberland and Allegany County as an excellent location for this agency," Whitworth wrote.

"I need not tell you of the advisability of decentralizing our military establishments in this atomic age because I know you have much more knowledge of this than I," Whitworth continued. "However, what better protection could an intelligence agency have than the mountains of Western Maryland in time of attack and civilian chaos in a shooting war. We have here the resources for such an agency, the facilities for homes and protected lines of communication . . ."

So. Cumberland's Annual Fun Fair Opens Tonight

The annual Fun Fair, sponsored by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, will open tonight at Penn Avenue Field for four night performances and a matinee.

Committees have been busy all this week setting up all kinds of interesting concession stands and amusements to entertain young and old.

There will be a midway with several shows and seven rides to amuse the children and grownups.

Col. Nelson W. Russler, general chairman, said last night the committee has worked diligently to make this Fun Fair the best yet, and several surprises are in store.

On Thursday night, Fort Hill High School band will give a concert and on Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. a kiddies matinee will be a feature. Gates will be open each evening at 7 o'clock.

Funds realized from the annual Fun Fair are used to defray the cost of Christmas lighting and other festivities in South Cumberland, sponsored by the association.

14 Men Recalled To Bolt & Forge

Fourteen men will be recalled to the Bolt and Forge Shop here Monday as a result of the recall of 300 car repairmen over the Baltimore and Ohio system.

Roy W. Eves, superintendent, said the recalls will bring the staff of the shop to the 431 mark.

Man Is Injured In Auto Mishap

Gray D. Replogle, Woodbury, Pa., was slightly injured yesterday morning when the car he was driving failed to negotiate a curve in the borough of Woodbury, 20 miles north of Bedford on Route 36, and crashed into a parked car.

Washington College Alumni Plan Dinner Meeting Here

The Western Maryland Chapter, Washington College Alumni Association, will hold a dinner meeting at the Clary Club Saturday, according to Harry R. Poole of Hagerstown, the chapter president.

Poole said that Dr. Lawrence Ford, longtime professor at the college, will be present from Chestertown to give a few remarks. Also there will be a showing of color slides depicting various scenes and activities about the college. These will include pictures of President Eisenhower's visit to the Eastern Shore campus last June, recent sports events, and the progress of the college's extensive building program. Bedford J. Groves, executive secretary of the general alumni association, will show the pictures and give the commentary.

Dinner will start at 6:30 p. m. Reservations should be sent to Raymond O. McCullough Jr., Braddock Road, who is in charge of arrangements. McCullough is vice president of the alumni chapter.

Other officers are Mrs. Nancy G. Nicewarner of Hagerstown, secretary, and Paul Nicewarner of Hagerstown, treasurer.

The Western Maryland Chapter includes members from Carroll, Frederick, Washington, Allegany, and Garrett counties.

West Side Pupils Stage Program Tonight

Pupils of the first, second and third grades of West Side School will present a literature program this evening in the school auditorium. Shown here are some of the principal characters in the production. They are (left to right) Janet Kisamore, Gail Sanders, Sharon Rotruck, Mary L. Propst, Mike Wagoner, Barbara Day, Allen Weatherholt, Dale Middleton, and Rickey Kemmett. Included in the presentation are "Choral Selections" by the first grade under the direction of Miss Marie Ingles; "Mother Goose Party," by first graders of Mrs. Jo Yarnall; "The Little Red Hen" directed by Mrs. Neva Snelson; "The Taggletaggle Town Singers" by Miss Helen Kreiling's second graders; "Pandora's Box" by Miss Alma Logsdon's second graders; "A Woodland Fantasy" by Mrs. Mary Brodie's third grade; and "The Emperor's New Clothes," by Miss Adele Malcolm's third graders. The children have been studying the various stories and learning to enact them for the past few weeks. The program is open to the public.
